

Politics Is Obliterated in Randolph

"Randall for Governor" Is Slogan of Home Town—Aged Parents Join Crowd at Meeting.

Howell on Railroads

By F. C. POWELL.

Staff Correspondent The Omaha Bee. Ponca, Neb., Oct. 6.—(Special Telegram)—The Howell-Randall party, decided today to visit the territory where Charles H. Randall, candidate for governor, is loved and revered by the people who know him best.

As the two cars approached Randolph, band music could be heard, and as the candidates swung on to the main street, which is paved despite the size of the town, hundreds could be seen waiting on the town square near a huge banner inscribed "Randall for Governor."

On the steps of a nearby store building sat a feeble old man and a sweet-faced, gray-haired woman, apparently unimpaired of the cold damp air of the early morning.

The old couple was the father and mother of the gubernatorial candidate, the father 83, and the mother, 78, both determined to live to see the day that their only son shall sit in the governor's chair.

"He's never tried a thing yet that he didn't succeed in," the father said. "He started with nothing in this life, and everything he has, he made himself from the fields around this town."

Party lines had been almost totally obliterated for the occasion. Rev. Joseph Andrews, democratic minister of the First Presbyterian church, introduced both speakers from an automobile.

Entire Town Attends. The entire town is out to put Randall in the governor's chair. Already the women have organized a Randall for governor club with 200 members enrolled and next week Miss Lena Stewart, a niece raised by Mr. Randall, and Mrs. Elmer Robinson of Hartington, start out to organize women republican clubs throughout the Third congressional district.

Following the speaking the school children gathered around dozens of watermelons provided for the occasion.

The party today visited Randolph, Wakefield, Emerson, Dixon and Ponca.

At Wakefield the candidates were met by H. B. Ware, A. M. Hoyer, J. D. Haskell, C. S. Eberhart, C. S. Hales and E. W. Smith, superintendent of schools. Rev. E. G. Knook introduced them.

At Emerson, F. E. Haase, former state senator, who is now county chairman; George Wilkins, candidate for state senator; J. H. Henderson, secretary county central committee; C. C. Childs, George H. Haas and J. M. Hanson, were on hand to meet them.

Business in Government. Mr. Randall declared that the present managerial system of state government was the first form devised in the state which approached in any way the system of operation used by a business concern.

Plaintive Appeal Made to Obtain G. O. P. Votes

The World-Publishing Co. Omaha, Neb. Sept. 28th, 1922.

Dear Friend: I am anxious to obtain the name of republicans in your town or territory who are saying now, or who will likely say later, that they intend to support Senator Hitchcock.

Should the matter of political wooden shoes be still as Hitchcock's trusted lieutenants slip into their well-worn gum shoes. A still hunt is on for the name of some republican who thinks he will, or who may later think he will, vote for the democratic candidate for senator.

When one such man is found his name will be multiplied and advertised so widely that it will seem that he is a hundred instead of one. If the names of a dozen are obtained the materials for a first-class comic opera stampede will be at hand.

Will Rogers, in his cowboy act at the Winter Garden, succeeds with this sort of thing, but only because the audience sees there bent on sharing the illusion.

The circular letter reproduced above was mailed broadcast over Nebraska by E. B. Gaffia, Hitchcock's press agent.

Giants Shut Out Yanks in Third Game of Series

John Scott, Bush Pitcher From North Carolina, Humbles American League Champs, 3 to 0.

By HUGH FULLERTON. Omaha Bee Local Wire. Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 6.—(Special Telegram)—The New York Yankees, shut out by a busher, out-fatted, out-fished, helpless, the New York Yankees, fell almost disgracefully today before the Giants today, losing 3 to 0, while John Scott, a busher from the back country of North Carolina, leaped into fame.

For the third day these Yankees, terrors of the American league, the slingers, the home run clumpers, failed utterly and this time failed worse than in the other two games. They did not even offer the Giants a hard chance. All their boasted slinging disappeared. They looked minor-league before the terrific speed and almost perfect control of the slinger.

Scott, tonight, is crowned King of Broadway, Duke of the Buttonhole Makers and Earl of the Bright Lights and deserves the honor. He stepped into the limelight in the most tense and decisive moment of the series, and pitched as if he had pitched the Yankees as if he had pitched world series all his life.

Only once during the battle did the Yankees have a chance. Then, as they were striving to break the neck of the raw-boned, tall hillite, with runners on second and third and one out, and with Elmer Smith at bat, he put on more of his swift and struck out the hero of another world series.

Frankly, there is something wrong. Every bit of the dope is as it should be excepting the far famed Yankee attack.

The Giants have done in each game exactly as they agreed to do. (Turn to Page Thirteen, Column One.)

U. S. Ships Covered by "Dry" Law

Daugherty Rules Sale of Liquor on American Vessels Is Prohibited Under 18th Amendment.

Foreigners Plan Suit

Washington, Oct. 6.—(By A. P.)—Transportation or sale of alcoholic liquors on American ships, whether privately or governmentally owned, and on foreign vessels within three miles of the American coast was held illegal under the prohibition law of the United States, in an opinion by Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Daugherty, in his opinion, said he had been informed that a suit was about to be filed which would carry to the supreme court the point as to whether the prohibition amendment, in so far as it relates to the sale of liquor on American ships, is to be applied to foreign vessels within the American three-mile zone as "ship stores" or otherwise sealed. He declared his department would undertake to cooperate in expediting the final decision on this point.

The term "all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof" appearing in the prohibition amendment, expresses not a limitation just to lands, Mr. Daugherty held, but rather an extension wherever the jurisdiction of the United States may reach.

Subject to Amendment. "Certainly," the opinion said, "abstinent board vessels operated and owned by our very government itself are subject to the jurisdiction thereof. Because of their ownership by the government, they would in a double sense be subject to the restrictions of the prohibition amendment."

"I am, therefore, of the opinion that the amendment and the national prohibition act prohibits as unlawful the possession and transportation of beverage liquors on board foreign vessels while in our territorial waters, whether such liquors are sealed or open. I am of the opinion that under the rule of fair interpretation, American ships, wherever they may be, are included in the terms of the prohibition amendment so that manufacture, transportation or sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is prohibited thereon.

"To construe otherwise, would, in my opinion, violate the unmistakable intent in the adoption."

Effective at Once. The opinion, it was said, would become effective immediately upon the receipt by Secretary Mellon of the Treasury department and Chairman Lusk of the shipping board, of letters which have been forwarded them by President Harding, officially notifying them of the opinion. The letter to Secretary Mellon has reference to American non-government and foreign vessels, while that to Chairman Lusk has reference to government-owned vessels. American ships now abroad, however, will be given opportunity to return to their home ports before the ruling will apply.

Chairman Lusk said undoubtedly foreign steamship lines would seek to enjoin the government from enforcing the rule as affecting their ships. Should the injunction be granted, he said, the foreign ships would be permitted to bring in liquor until a final decision of the supreme court.

Mr. Lusk predicted that the decision, with respect to foreign vessels, Vancouver would be built up to the industry of Seattle and Portland by diversion of the trans-Pacific freight and passenger service to the Canadian port.

33 Bodies Found of Dead in Rush from Forest Fire

Heavy Rain Quenches Flames Around Cobalt, Ontario—Fires Still Rage in Maine.

Cobalt, Ont., Oct. 6.—A heavy rain today had virtually quenched the forest fires about the city which took a toll of possibly 40 lives and wiped out the town of Halesbury and several smaller settlements.

Thirty-three bodies have been recovered in the scorred wreckage that a week ago was Halesbury. Many more persons are missing.

Train loads of tents, food, bedding and other supplies are arriving to aid the 5,000 homeless who have wandered into Cobalt.

Jackman, Me., Oct. 6.—There was no halting today of the forest fire which started in out-look north of here three days ago and raged through piles of slash, forcing woodmen and their families to flee.

The flames have made deep inroads through the Arrostok county forests westward along the north shore of the Moose river. Extra fire fighters are being rushed there.

Lumbermen driven into town by the dense smoke say the damage will be heavy.

Jail Break Is Frustrated by Fremont Deputy

Alleged Auto Thief Strikes Jailer Over Head With Pipe—Blow Is Not Serious.

Fremont, Neb., Oct. 6.—(Special Telegram)—A jail break was frustrated at the Dodge county jail, when Deputy Sheriff Hasson was struck over the head with a piece of lead pipe in the hands of George Sweet, 19, alleged auto thief. Quick work by Hasson saved the situation and kept the prisoners behind the bars, when he managed to escape the grasp of the other prisoners and slam the cell door behind him.

As Deputy Hasson was emerging from the cell, he saw Sweet swing the pipe. Hasson dodged enough to escape a full blow, though the injury was quick enough to slip from his grasp. He stumbled through the cell door and slammed it shut.

Sheriff Condit states that a rumor of such an attempt had reached his ears some time ago. The officials recently discovered part of the jail door was sawed away in a previous attempt at a jail break.

Sweet is a parolee inmate of the Michigan State reformatory. He is being held for trial in the Dodge county jail charged with stealing an automobile from Robert Ashire, North Bend.

Mudania Meet Resumed After Parley Hits Snag

Question of Evacuation of Thrace Causes Rupture—Attitude of Turks and Greeks Bellicose.

Constantinople, Oct. 6.—(By A. P.)—The resumption of the Mudania conference was postponed today evening because replies had not been received from the allied governments to the latest Kamelists note.

The Kamelists have demanded that their troops should be allowed to enter eastern Thrace as soon as the Turkish administration is established and the allied control withdrawn, that is, within one month.

Constantinople, Oct. 6.—(By A. P.)—After conferring for most of the night with the high commissioners and military experts here the allied generals this morning prepared to leave again for Mudania for a resumption of the armistice conference.

The result of the deliberations here was not announced. It was conceded that the situation was very serious, but it still was hoped that a basis for common agreement between the British, French and Italian delegations could be reached. The warships bearing the allied delegates were scheduled to leave at noon, arriving at Mudania at 2:30 o'clock.

London, Oct. 6.—(By A. P.)—The Mudania conference is not ended. It was officially stated at the conclusion of the British cabinet meeting this morning, but it is deadlocked and cannot be resumed before the British and French governments have conferred over the situation.

Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, will leave immediately for Paris to see Premier Poincare.

It was also officially stated, in rough outline, that from the British point of view the Turks are demanding more than was offered in the allied note, and on the other hand that they were not accepting the conditions of that note. It was asserted that the Turks want to obtain the concessions of the note without the conditions.

C. Epley until further hearing of the case. The officers are also restrained from doing anything further with the property of the company until a hearing can be held on the case which is set for October 14.

The original application for a receivership was made before Judge Clements, but Frank E. Schauf declared that he had not his attorney by reason of his employment by the hotel company. The case went over until Monday.

U. S. Fliers Set World Air Record

Aviators Flying Over San Diego Stay Up Total of 35 Hours and 18 Minutes.

Land Shortly After 5

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 6.—By A. P.—Lieuts. John A. McReady and Oakley Kelly, who had been flying over San Diego since 5:36 Thursday morning, in the great monoplane T-2, landed at Rockwell field 5:11:30, this covering having broken all known records for sustained flight in the heavier than air flying machine. They were in the air 35 hours, 18 minutes, 30 seconds.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 6.—All aviation endurance records have been smashed by Lieuts. John A. McReady and Oakley Kelly of the United States army, who at 5:30 a. m. today had been aloft in their monoplane T-2 for 26 hours and 24 minutes. The previous record was 26 hours, 12 minutes and 25 seconds.

McReady and Kelly began their record flight at 5:36 o'clock yesterday morning when they started from Rockwell field on what was intended to be a nonstop flight from San Diego to New York City. They had brought a sufficient amount of gasoline and oil for this long trip. When they reached Temecula, from which they had planned to cross the first range of mountains, they ran into heavy cloud banks that compelled their return to San Diego.

The two aviators, because of the excellent start they had made, and the fact that the big motor was working smoothly, decided to make an effort to break up a new endurance record. Climbing over Rockwell field they dropped a note declaring their intentions. Since that time they have been flying over San Diego. Flying conditions all yesterday were ideal and the same was true last night with little wind blowing and the moon shining brightly. Today also flying conditions are excellent. At 5 o'clock the big monoplane was apparently working as smoothly as at the start yesterday.

Aviation officials at Rockwell field stated that they believed McReady and Kelly have sufficient gasoline and oil to remain aloft another 16 hours and that they do not believe the aviators will alight until their supplies are exhausted.

Previous Records. New York, Oct. 6.—The world's record for sustained flight in a heavier-than-air flying machine was held by Edward Stinson and Lloyd Brantley, on December 30, 1921, remained aloft above Roswell, Ga., Mineola, Long Island, for 24 hours, 19 minutes and 25 seconds. It was stated today by aviation authorities, Stinson used the all-metal monoplane 34-6. The previous record was held by two French fliers, Lucien Bouchard and Maurice Bernand, who in June, 1920, stayed in the air 24 hours, 19 minutes and 2 seconds.

The Stinson world record breaking flight was made under conditions far more trying than the conditions which prevailed at yesterday's flight or during the Frenchman's long spin. With difficulty the Frenchmen's long spin, which included a landing in zero weather while a gale was blowing and snow was raking the wings of the plane, traveling at about 55 miles per hour they covered 2,200 miles.

When they came down, both fliers said they had been able to remain aloft longer, but for the cold. The French flight was made after elaborate preparations on a bright sunny day. Weather conditions were good for endurance flying at San Diego yesterday and last night.

Referee's Report on Stillman Confirmed. White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 6.—(By A. P.)—Supreme Court Justice McHugh today confirmed the referee's report in the Stillman divorce case and allowed Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, who defended the suit against her husband, costs in the case.

The report submitted to the court by Referee Daniel J. Gleason, refused a divorce to James A. Stillman, exonerated Mrs. Stillman of charges of adultery with Fred Heavals, an Indian guide, and affirmed the legitimacy of baby Guy Stillman.

A rumor was in circulation today that Mrs. Stillman would begin action for a divorce in Paris. Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, declared that he knew nothing about her intentions.

Mrs. Stillman, previously has stated that she will not divorce her husband because such an action would add to him if he is found to be illegitimate. Her children he is alleged to have had by Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl.
