

Harding Orders Postponement of Liquor Ruling

Enforcement of Decision Regarding Ships Impracticable for Few Days—Both Wets and Drys Pleased.

Washington, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The administration's enforcement of Attorney General Daugherty's ruling against intoxicating liquor on American ships anywhere and on foreign ships entering American ports will be postponed for a few more days, under orders issued by President Harding.

The president, in a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, stated that enforcement of the prohibition of the carrying of liquor would not be practicable in the case of foreign vessels leaving their home ports or American vessels leaving foreign ports on or before October 14.

The postponement of enforcement, however, does not apply to the sale of intoxicants on American vessels, which is prohibited immediately under the instructions issued by the president yesterday.

The action of the president in ordering the postponement of enforcement with regard to the transportation of liquor by foreign ships was taken following a conference at the White House in which Mr. Harding, Secretary Hughes, Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty participated.

Both Sides Pleased

Both wets and drys appeared to be pleased with Attorney General Daugherty's ruling. Following the statement of Wayne H. Wheeler, spokesman for the Anti-Bible League, pointing out the Association for the Suppression of Intoxicants in the past, he declared that he likewise approved of the attorney general's ruling. Spokesmen for the association declared that Mr. Daugherty's ruling was based upon sound legal conclusions and predicted that it would serve to increase sentiment against prohibition.

After the White House conference Secretary Hughes said that he had no comment to make on the situation produced by the new policy of the government, because it had not assumed any international aspect.

Talk of Repeals

Already there is talk of foreign legislation against the country on account of the restrictions imposed on American shipping in waters under foreign jurisdiction. While there is no authoritative statement on that point, it is believed that no such legislation will be introduced in Washington government.

It became apparent that prohibitionists in foreign countries are taking the liquor ban with intense seriousness and some of them construe it as likely to make international friction an irritating factor.

Ocean Steamers Feel Effects of "Dry" Ruling

New York, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—There was the usual "moaning of the bar" upon news of the "dry" ruling upon liquor, despite Attorney General Daugherty's ruling, which says that the liquor ban is not retroactive. The chief man at Washington that all shipping board craft had been ordered to travel dry.

Incoming vessels were first to feel the effects of the attorney general's ruling. On arriving in port, each vessel, irrespective of the flag it flew, was boarded by customs officials, who locked and sealed all bars, liquor stores and even the private supplies of ships' officers and seamen.

Confronted by the possibility of a parched voyage across the Atlantic, a score of passengers on the Atlantic shipping line, in a case of America, threatened to leave the ship at the last minute, only when officers of the United States, who manage the vessel, assured the thirty one that "in the absence of definite instructions from Washington the vessel would be open as usual, the ship able to depart with its full sailing list."

Policeman Attacked in De Luxe Dance Hall

Policeman Peter Maloney was attacked by four men from the De Luxe dancing academy last night and was severely injured. Maloney was on duty at the hall, James Murphy and James Taylor, alleged to have been in the attacking party, were arrested and charged with fighting and disturbing the peace.

This Week's Outlook in Commerce, Finance, Agriculture and Industry Based on Current Developments

By THEODORE H. PRICE,
Editor Commerce and Finance, New York Copyright 1922.

At the announcement of the American Bankers association held in New York last week some 7,500 bank officers from all over the country were present and with every authority from Secretary Mellon down telling them that "good times have come again" a nation-wide boom should commence as soon as they get home, provided they believe what they heard.

Trade Review

By R. G. DUN & CO.

With few exceptions, major movements in business conditions are reflected in the movement of the dollar.

Cotton Estimate Revised

The cotton estimate revised by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows a decline of seven per cent in the total production of cotton in the United States for the year 1922, as compared with the estimate of 20,000,000 bales made in the September report.

Oppose Branch Banks

The only other action at the bankers' conference was the vigorous adoption of resolutions opposing the establishment of branch banks in the states.

Food Index Lower

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today that the food index for the week ending October 7, 1922, was 152.3, compared with 153.5 for the week ending September 30, 1922.

School Superintendents of Saline County Organize

Western, Neb., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—At the invitation of G. W. Hildreth, city superintendent of schools of Western, the city superintendents of county superintendents of Saline county met here and perfected an organization, electing Don H. Leach, of Friend, president; G. W. Hildreth of Western, vice president; L. J. Buchal of Waverly, secretary-treasurer; and C. H. Vette of Crest, director of school activities.

Various educational topics were discussed and much valuable information obtained. Arrangements were made to hold the annual county school ball tournament February 23 and 24, 1923, and a provision was also made for holding county delinquency and debating contests, and county exhibit of school work in connection with a county spelling contest during the year. C. H. Vette was instructed to confer with Duane college to see what arrangements could be made to hold county intercollegiate contests in connection with the annual county track meet.

University of Nebraska

To fix the attention of first-year students on the ideal for which the University of Nebraska stands, the president, Charles A. Coffey, has held a series of talks. The first of these talks, held in the morning of last week, was a talk on the ideal of the university. The president pointed out that the university was not a mere place of instruction, but a place where the student should receive a liberal education.

University of Nebraska

The university is pleased to announce the appointment of Charles A. Coffey, D.D., as its president. Dr. Coffey has been a member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska since 1908. He is a member of the American Philosophical Association and the American Historical Association. He has received numerous honorary degrees and is a member of many learned societies.
