

Iowa Tramples Blue of Yale in Dust as Hawkeyes Beat Old Eli, 6 to 0

Western Team Outplays East Throughout Game

30,000 Persons See Old Gold Crack Famous Yale Defense and March to Victory.

By HUGH FULLERTON.
Omaha, Oct. 14.—Howard's line of the Jones family in one of the most desperately contested battles ever fought in Yale's historic bowl, the west today triumphed over the east and smashed all the history of football. Iowa, ripping and tearing through Yale's plucky line in the second quarter, scored a touchdown, when Leland Parkin, a new hero in the football field, raced around Yale's left end, twisting, turning, fighting and while still in the clutches of a Yale tackle, he dived across the line and the ball was settled the long debated question of the supremacy of east and west in football.

The score, 6 to 0, hardly represents the difference between the teams for Iowa outplayed the Blue at almost every point of the battle and it was not until the last three minutes that Yale, despite its stubborn, dogged resistance, showed any signs of the old Yale fighting spirit.

Iowa's Defense Cracks.

Then, in the gathering dusk of a gloomy, overcast day, the beaten team made one of the most brilliant efforts to retrieve its fallen fortunes in the history of football. With Neidlinger, Mallory and Deaver fighting, tearing, raving, the lighter blue team for the first time cracked the defense of the Iowans. Yard by yard, by sheer desperate plunging and ripping end runs, they carried the ball down the field close to Iowa's 10-yard line. The minute warning had been given and they were battling against time and one of the toughest foes Yale ever faced. There, with the big crowd of more than 30,000 persons, screaming: "Yale for a victory," the Chicagoans for the Hawkeyes to stay the attack, the Hawkeyes braced as they did in the Argonne—and Yale stopped.

At bay, forced to make the one play which would save them, Yale tried a desperate forward pass across the line, which the Iowans' punter masters of the forward pass blocked Mallory away from the catch—the ball passing over the line. Iowa carried it out, took one plunge and the whistle blew which announced Howard as champion of the field—the West triumphant.

This should complete the argument; Yale has beaten Harvard. Chicago has whipped Princeton. Iowa defeated Yale—and the "Big Three" shrinks considerably in its claims for prestige.

Yale Outplayed.

Yale was outplayed all the way, save in two brief flashes in the last half, both spoiled by fumbles. It was strange to see a Yale team lacking fight, but until half of the third quarter today it was that sort of a team and that in spite of the brilliant, at times desperate efforts of Neidlinger to save the day for his team. With Captain Jordan crippled and impotent on the side lines, this young Neidlinger showed as the only man in Yale's backfield who could run with the ball and, trying to carry the burden, he made three terrible fumbles which in a way marred his heroics. Twice, when Yale had a chance to score, he fumbled. It was the judgment with which the team was run satisfactory. Yale played straight, dogged, plunging football and some times, of the worst type. Perhaps Tad Jones should not be blamed, for when they tried anything else they were jokes. Their passless forward pass, in which the passer held the ball until he was downed, was a marvel.

Iowa, on the other hand, was resourceful and powerful in attack and until those dramatic last minutes, the defense was impregnable.

Their hero tonight is Parkin, who instead of Captain Locke, here the brunt of the attack, blocked him well but against Parkin's runs around end they could do little. His runs were slow in starting and carefully veiled, but once to line of scrimmage, he was in shooting away his long spirals, and who perhaps saved his team a worse fate by outkicking Minnick when, while kicking long at times, fell shorter and shorter. Ward was averaging close to 40-yard gains in his kicks and he forced the Iowans to gain many extra yards and in fact, saved off their attack half a dozen times.

Light Good Kicker.

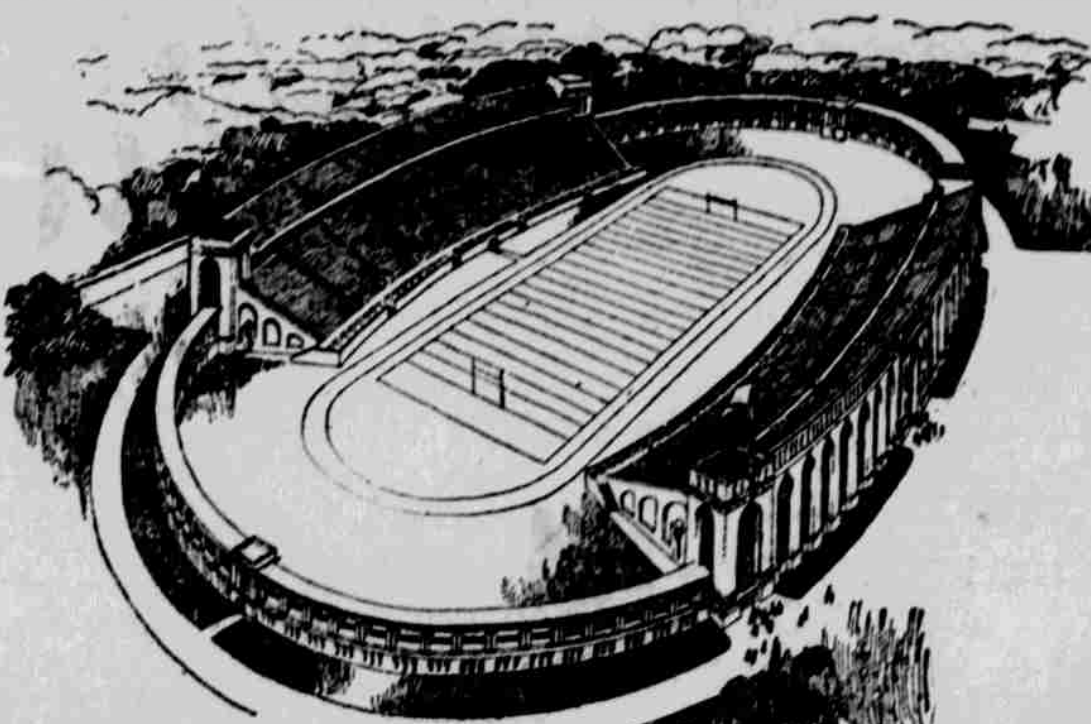

Iowa outplayed them so badly in the first half that it was only the breaks that prevented them from making two touchdowns, one when Kasper, in receiving a perfect forward pass, seemed free and with an open pass to the line when Haas, crippled and desperate, took a flying dive at him and carried him across the side line. In this tackle Haas cut his head badly and was conscious to the end of the game and was substituted. Parkin, worn out by his own brilliant effort, was hurt late in the last quarter and compelled to retire. The Yale section, recognizing his brilliancy, stood and cheered him. High repeated him.

Substitute Freely.

Yale, on the other hand, made a number of substitutions and the Yale side that the crippled condition of the team was responsible for defeat is based on some reason.

However, Yale could not beat many western teams, if it plays the strategy, resourcefulness and the Yale game the attack might have some something and it is certain that the injection of Danny Weaver into the game in the last few minutes acted like a shot of gas on the tired Blue.

Plans for Husker Stadium Completed

Preliminary plans for the new university of Nebraska stadium finally have been completed and now are in the hands of the Nebraska stadium committee, according to a statement issued by that committee this week. The plans call for a magnificent structure which will cost $430,000 and which will have a seating capacity of 40,000 which may later be enlarged to 60,000. The drawings have been prepared by the firms of John Latenser & Sons of Omaha, and Davis & Wilson, of Lincoln, who donated their services.

According to the committee, it should be possible to let the contract for the stadium on January 1. If present plans mature, the cornerstone will be laid on next Saturday, and efforts made to have the stadium completed in time for the 1923 football season. The plans call for a Roman esquad style of architecture in the building of the stadium. High, graceful arches will lend an atmosphere of a Caesarian arena.

An indoor running track 18 feet wide, and three laps to the mile, is to be sheltered by the building when completed. In addition, there are plans for including when completed. In addition, there are plans for indoor tennis courts, numerous indoor handball courts, shower baths, dressing rooms and rooms for both visiting and home teams. An outdoor running track will surround the football gridiron. During the baseball season the field will contain an ideal baseball diamond.

Twenty-six universities and colleges are now building or have completed a Caesarian arena. Nebraska is one of the last to undertake a similar project. The campaign to raise the balance of the $430,000 for the stadium will begin October 16, Homecoming week, when every student on the campus will be asked to pledge his share toward making possible the splendid structure, which will fill so great a need in Nebraska.

Swimming Season Will Open at Y. M. C. A. Thursday Afternoon

All those who pass the tests will be placed on the "Y" swimming team and will represent the "Y" in its various meets throughout the season.

Missouri Tigers Trim Cyclones

Ames, Ia., Oct. 14.—Place kicks by Lincoln of the Missouri university football team in the third and fourth periods gave Missouri a 6 to 3 victory over Iowa State college here this afternoon in their annual gridiron battle, which was played before a homecoming crowd that filled the large concrete stand on the west side of the field.

To offset the two place kicks by Lincoln, Ames had only one field goal, a beautiful 33-yard goal from a difficult angle by Zeke Roberts, which knotted the count, 2 to 3, for a brief period in the final quarter. It was after that, however, that the Tigers strayed for a goal that was the contest. It was made from the 40-yard line and went squarely between the posts. Lincoln's first place kick, which came in the third period, was made from an angle from the 20-yard line.

Michigan Wolverines and Vanderbilt Tie

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14.—The Michigan Wolverine crept back to its half tonight, torn and toppled from its exalted heights in the gridiron world as a result of its 0 to 0 tie at the hands of Vanderbilt.

Stanford Withdraws from Conference

Stanford University, Cal., Oct. 14.—Stanford university withdrew from the Pacific Coast Athletic conference here tonight, because of a reprimand given Stanford for violation of the conference rules governing the scheduling of games with nonconference institutions without first consulting the conference.

Eighty-Yard Run for Score Enables Princeton to Win

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 14.—A brilliant 80-yard run by Cleaves in the second quarter and a field goal by Smith in the fourth period enabled Princeton to defeat the Colgate eleven today, 10 to 0. The visitors outtraced the Tigers, making first down 12 times to Princeton's five, but ragged playing and inability to gain in Princeton territory prevented Colgate from scoring.

Georgia Winner

Greenville, S. C., Oct. 14.—The University of Georgia after struggling fatigued for three periods against Furman, scored a touchdown in the fourth and won on a muddy field here today, 7 to 0.

Belmont College Wins

Bellevue, Wis., Oct. 14.—Belmont college won its first Wisconsin state conference game here today over Northwestern college of Watonsville, 14 to 8. Speed in the Belton backfield enabled Belmont to score almost at will.

Football Facts Worth Knowing

Best Grid Play to Use

Q. May the offensive linemen seize each other to prevent opponents breaking through?
A. This would be interpreted as interference. Rule 15, Section 6. Penalty is 15 yards.
Q. A center rush on an opposing high school team in our city puts the ball in play by turning around and handing it to a back. Is this legal?
A. It is not legal if the ball does not leave his hands in the act of passing. This is, he may not hand it to another player. Rule 6, Section 2.
Q. Is it compulsory to have four players in the backfield when the ball is put in play by scrimmage?
A. No. "The offensive line up that is compulsory is that at least seven men are on the line of scrimmage when the ball is put in play. Note the words at this. This means that not at least seven may be on line of scrimmage. Obviously that would permit you placing as many backs as you choose on line. Rule 9, Section 1.
Q. May a lineman play less than 5 yards behind his line of scrimmage on defense?
A. Certainly. There is no restraint in placing the defense, providing men are on or behind their line of scrimmage. Rule 9, Section 4.
Q. In a team playing a team playing Georgia Tech lined its tackle up on defense some four or five yards back of the line of scrimmage. Before the ball was snapped by Georgia Tech, these men ran forward at full

Death Message Fails to Slow Up Tommy Gibbons

New York, Oct. 14.—(By A. P.)—They tell stories about actors sometimes going out on the stage after they have received news of the death of a husband or wife, reciting their regular lines and making indifferent folk feel happy and laugh. Probably those stories are true. Any one of the crowd that filled Madison Square Garden last night and saw Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul lose on a foul to Billy Miske, his fellow townsmen, in the 10th round of a 16-round bout, probably will believe so today. They looked upon the sort of courage a fighting man is rarely called upon to show, but few of them knew it then. Only a few of that howling crowd saw a uniformed messenger boy creep up to Gibbons' corner during the seventh round and cautiously getting his signature of receipt first, slip a yellow envelope into the hand of Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager. Gibbons saw it, out of the corner of his eye as he flashed and sniggered, and he knew. When Tommy came to his corner at the end of the seventh round he sank calmly on his stool and asked Kane, "What does it say?" "What does what say?" countered the manager. "That envelope that came to me right," answered Gibbons, "but I know." "The detailed account of the next round shows that Gibbons' 'next rights and lefts to the body and slammed several teeth out of Miske's mouth" and that "Gibbons' rocked Miske with right and lefts to the head," and that "they were exchanging when the bell rang." "The remainder of the details don't matter much. Tommy kept on, slugging away, fighting cleverly, craftily, fighting his opponent into leads that led only to punishment until a twist of fate in the 10th caused Gibbons' right fist to fall before Miske's belt and Miske to fall upon the floor and the battle to end. It was more than the mere disappointment of losing a fight that had been virtually sold to him, fighting until a twist of fate in the 10th caused Gibbons' right fist to fall before Miske's belt and Miske to fall upon the floor and the battle to end. Iowa Wesleyans Lose to Creighton

Creighton university's Bulldogs defeated the Iowa Wesleyan eleven at the Creighton field yesterday, 21 to 7. Early in the game, Creighton resorted to the aerial game, with success, completing eight passes out of 12 for a total gain of 56 yards. The Iowans attempted to use the Creighton attack, but with less success.

That's funnier than soldiers' chance of getting bonus—
Can you pipe some of those big bezarks hollering for an eight-hour day when some of those large hokies never—
Worked eight hours in their lives?—
If they join union they will have to play at night because you never heard of night watchman having his games called on account of darkness—
And they'll play in rain because you never heard of pretzel benders having their work called because of wet weather and—
Which busts up that union before it gets started.

Cobb Says Yanks Have Best Team

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 14.—Miller Huggins has the greatest baseball team in the world, the New York Yankees, but there is a "lack of coordination between the players and their manager," and this is what gave the Giants the world's championship, says Raymond Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, declared, in an interview published here today. "There is no doubt that the Yankees have the best ball club in the country," said the Tiger manager, who has returned to his home in Augusta to spend the winter. "They are world champions, with every one in the regular lineup able to do something vital. They are lacking in the recent crucial series, and, as I see it, that something was lack of coordination between the players and their manager."

Lincoln High Beats South Omaha Eleven

Lincoln, Oct. 14.—(Special Telegram)—Outraged and outplayed, Coach Patton's Omaha South grid team proved no match for the Lincoln High school machine here Friday afternoon. The final score was 75 to 6. The Capital City crew started tearing great gaps in the South line and had the first touchdowns over within the first five minutes. They scored in every quarter, the second period being the most disastrous when Coach Brown's athletes picked up 32 points. However, the backers managed to count their only touchdown in that same period. Ed Jones, who had been substituted for Krieger, fumbled on Lincoln's 25-yard line. Urban scooped it up and planted the ball behind the goal posts.

Chicago Maroons Trim Northwestern

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Northwestern's fighting eleven met the University of Chicago here today to settle their traditional rivalry and Coach Ring's heavier team was forced to extend itself to the limit to win, 15 to 7. Northwestern, which for years has been considered the lowliest in the Big Ten conference, led by one point for a moment and was dangerous at all times.
