Coach Schmidt of Central Giving Purple Athletes Hard Workouts

Omaha High Will Launch Strong Aerial Attack Against Iowans.

WITH THE PUGS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—Johnny Mandelbaum, local lightweight boxer, today signed articles for a 10-round, mid-distance bout with Lew Tendler, Philadelphia, his agreement calls for weighing-in at 151 pounds.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 18.—Stewart McLean, St. Paul featherweight boxer, is to meet Frankie Gates, an eastern boy, in a 10-round bout here on October 27, the weight to be 125 pounds, it was announced today.

Brands False Reports Notre Dame Is Weak

Lincoln, Oct. 18.—(Special)—Charles Swanson, captain of last year's victorious Nebraska eleven, who is assisting Coach Dawson this year, returned to Lincoln yesterday from Lafayette, Ind., where he scouted the Notre Dame-Purdue game.

Speaking of the Notre Dame team, which comes here for the Thanksgiving game, Coach Swanson stated that the description of Knute Rockne's fighting machine as green was simply a misnomer.

Swanson says the Notre Dame backfield is as good if not better than last year. Beating the best team Purdue has turned out in several years, 20 to 6, is mute evidence of the team's strength.

"Notre Dame will win all its games up to Thanksgiving and it's going to be mighty hard for Nebraska to conquer such fighting spirit as was demonstrated in the Purdue game," Coach Swanson said.

Central Reserves to Play Deaf Team

Second team of footballers will send its gridiron against the Nebraska School for the Deaf at Glensville park this afternoon. The Reserves have been working hard all week in preparation for the clash and a fairly fast machine will enter the contest.

The preliminary contest before the Sioux City game gave Coach Hill a chance to see how his protégés stack up. The Deaf machine has a victory over the Deaf Reserves to its credit and the Central team is out after the scalps of the whole Institute eleven.

Though quite past middle age, Maj. Gen. Duncan is an expert horseman and would participate in polo himself, he said.

So well would the officer like to see polo introduced in Omaha that he would allow civilian teams to play the game on the Fort Crook parade grounds, an ideal course, he said.

Interest in the great outdoor sport could be aroused between army and civilian teams, the major general believes.

Waiting for Horses to Arrive at Fort.

"America is turning more every day to outdoor sports," said the officer, "and polo, the greatest of games, is fast sweeping the country. I would like to see every outdoor club in Omaha support a polo team. I think the horses are here and Omaha should not be behind in the sport. Tournaments could be arranged so that teams from different cities could compete in the game."

The major general said he would organize an army polo team at Fort Crook as soon as more horses arrive at the post.

Advocates of Polo Get Busy in Omaha—Team to Be Formed at Ft. Crook

Will Omaha breathe the zip and tang of polo? The fascinating sport is taking the country by storm and this city most likely will see the game in progress soon.

Even women have accepted polo in the east as the big sport of the season and every day sees the equestriennes on prominent courses dashing expertly across the green, at the same time deftly swinging at the polo ball.

With army teams reviving polo at Fort Snelling and Fort Des Moines, Maj. Gen. G. B. Duncan, acting commander of the Seventh army corps area with headquarters in Omaha, is enthusiastic about introducing the game here.

Tech High Team Putting on Finishing Touches for Beatrice

Do you know that?

Coach Drummond Sends His Gridsters Against Maroons in Final Scrimmage.

The Tech high team is putting on finishing touches preparatory to its clash Friday at Beatrice, against Coach Hughes' strong Gage County aggregation. This game will be one of the most talked of person in the state, and the Techies are expected back on the fast track team which Saturday went into the Yale bowl and beat the Maroons 14 to 0.

There have been many great games played in local high schools, but rarely anywhere at this university and a product of Waterloo, is probably the most talked of person in the state, and the Techies are expected back on the fast track team which Saturday went into the Yale bowl and beat the Maroons 14 to 0.

Football has crowded baseball, tennis and golf out of the sunlight. The Techies are the best in the state each year, and the great crowds that pack the large college stadiums in all parts of the country, testify to the popularity of the game. Interest is now centered in the Marquette title next Saturday.

The Centre team had to extend its stay to defeat the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, 14 to 10, on Saturday. It was not until the final quarter that Centre scored. At the same time, the Techies were defeating the demure college, 15 to 6, George and Harvard will meet Saturday in their annual game, which will be the 10th victory of the Techies.

Drummond will close this week's work this afternoon with a light workout against the reserves and signal practice. A number of new plays were tried in last night's scrimmage and will be uncovered in the attack tomorrow at Beatrice.

Coch Drummond's team is weakened by the injuries of a number of men. Captain Krause, the giant all-state tackle, has an injured ankle, received in last week's game at Sidney, and may be unable to enter Friday's tilt. Single, halfback, was injured in the game last week. Donn and Swanson have been added to the hospital list. Dearn is also suffering from an injured ankle, received in scrapping against the seconds Tuesday. Swanson's hand is severely bruised, and he is unable to handle the ball. He is the only experienced end in the Technical camp, and his absence from the lineup will be keenly felt.

Regardless of the crippled lineup, Drummond expects to repeat his work of the past two years against the out-state team. Two years ago the Commerce High team defeated Beatrice, 14 to 7, while last year the count against Hughes' men was 13 to 6.

Taylor and Langford to Fight in Bull Ring

Jack Taylor, Omaha negro lightweight, will meet Sam Langford, the "Boston Tar Baby," in a 15-round bout in the Jauroux bull ring just across the border from El Paso, Tex., next Friday night.

The bout is to be staged in Mexico instead of Texas, because 10-round bouts are the limit in the Lone Star state.

Jack Lewis, manager of the Omaha batter, believes the "derby distance" will be greatly in favor of Taylor. He doesn't believe the Boston "chocolate drop" can stick 15 rounds.
