English Cousin of Mrs. John Redick to Visit Here

Mrs. John Redick and Mrs. W. A. Redick have gone to Chicago to meet Mrs. Rupert Currier of England, cousin of Mrs. John Redick. They will return with their guest Sunday night. This is Mrs. Currier's first trip to America and many affairs are being planned in her honor.

Mrs. Burgess Hostess to Miss Barnes.

Mrs. Lewis Burgess entertained at luncheon Wednesday at the Burgess-Nash tea room in honor of Miss Florence Barnes of Springfield, Ill., guest of Mrs. Robert Morz. Covers were laid for the Mesdames Charles Allison, Douglas Peters, Yale Hildard, Henry T. Lubeger, Victor Caldwell, Jack Summers, Berdette Kirkendall, Robert Burns, Herbert Davis, Bertha Knutsen, and the Misses Dorothy Belt, Dorothy Judson, Eleanor Buckley, Claire Daugherty and Marie Neville.

Affairs for Mrs. DeHaven.

Mrs. Irvin Christian DeHaven of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived Tuesday to be the guest of Mrs. John K. Morrison. Mrs. Morrison had 12 guests for luncheon and bridge to meet Mrs. DeHaven that day.
Wednesday Mrs. R. S. Hanson entertained at luncheon in honor of Mrs. DeHaven and Thursday Mrs. Roy Walker will be her hostess at the Fontainebleau and for the weekend.
On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Morris will honor their visitor to luncheon for the Missouri Nebraska girls.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jack celebrated their first wedding anniversary last evening at their home with a bridge party. The guests will include Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Gerrie, Dr. and Mrs. John Dinger, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gruening, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes.

Miss Ryan Honored.

The Misses Eleanor Carpenter and Lucille Lathrop were hostesses for luncheon and bridge Wednesday at the Brandeis tea room in honor of Miss Nell Ryan, who is to be married Thursday, October 26, to Hawthorne Daniels. Miss Elizabeth Crossman of Brooklyn, fiancée of Harry Ryan, Miss Ryan's brother, shared honors.
Thursday the Achard society will entertain at supper at the Blackstone for Miss Ryan.

Mrs. George Peck, Exhibitor.

Mrs. W. E. Martin has returned from a visit with Mrs. George Peck at Moine, Ill. Mrs. Peck was formerly Miss Georgia Lindsey of this city. She is now one of the Nebraska artist exhibitors at the Fine Arts society exhibit at the public library. A singular feature of her talent is that she had never done any art work until two years ago.

Betsy Ross Tent.

Betsy Ross Tent No. 1, Daughters of Veterans, will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. at Memorial hall, court house.
Mrs. George F. Friendly of Fremont will inspect the group. Betsy Ross Tent is one of the organizations that are sponsoring the Americanization movies to be shown Friday evening in the council chamber.

For Mrs. Hubbard.

Mrs. Avery Lancaster had eight guests to luncheon at her home Wednesday in honor of Mrs. C. J. Hubbard who leaves Monday for California to make her home.
In the afternoon Mrs. Arthur Lehman had a number of friends informally to tea with Mrs. Hubbard.

Tuesday Lecture

Will Irwin, noted war correspondent and lecturer, will speak in Omaha next Tuesday for the Fine Arts society. Members are asked to remit their dues at once to Mrs. Charles George, 5218 Chicago street.

Personals

Clarke Colt has gone to Atlantic City on a two weeks' trip.
James Weich has returned from a delightful week at Escalator Springs.

Dr. Paul Ludington of Princeton, N. J., formerly of Omaha, arrives this week for a short visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Webster are planning a trip to California to spend several months.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Megosh are spending a short time in Chicago. They are planning a trip to Florida later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Warren, Macon, Ill., are guests of Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Zant. They are returning from California to their home.

Miss Eleanor Hayes of New York is expected the end of the month for a short visit with Miss Emma Reed. Miss Hayes and Miss Reed were classmates at Vassar.

Mrs. Daniel Sargent has arrived in Omaha after four months in Boston and the White mountains. She will be with her daughter, Mrs. Clarke Colt, for a few weeks and will later take an apartment at the Blackstone for the winter.

A telegram has been received here from Dr. Leroy Crummer, who, with his wife, landed in New York last Friday, saying they would reach Omaha Wednesday of next week. Dr. Crummer is doing some hospital work in New York in the meantime. Mrs. Hattie Clark and daughters met the crummers upon their arrival in New York from abroad.

Entertains at Tea.
Mrs. Philip Potter will entertain the Trinity Catholic guild at tea at her home Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Hann, a new member of the guild.

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

"Hubbly, I always give the very best! I carry Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I can't hardly wait till I have some, kiddies!"

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these joyous oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy—is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's—the delicious kind of Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package—because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes.

Princeton Alumni to Gather for Reunion

There will be no more interested spectators at the Princeton alumni game next week in Chicago than the Princeton "varsity." Mr. and Mrs. Grey will leave a week from Friday for Chicago and will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Grey, Jr., and their children from Kansas City. Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Bridges will also be members of the party.
A number of Omahans are planning to attend the game and the alumni reunion that week-end, among them Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wells and son, Theodore, and Mr. and Mrs. Foye Porter, who were married today in Montclair, and who will include Chicago in their wedding trip, before they return to Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wharton, who are now in Excelsior Springs, also plan to be in Chicago for the occasion, as will Dr. Paul Ludington.

Problems That Perplex

Exercise is the Thing.
I agree with Antonette Danelly, who advises girls to go in for swimming, for basket ball, for running and jumping, for hiking and tennis and golf, for any and every form of sport which come within your province—even to handspinning, vaulting, jousting, juggling and acrobatics. A thing that will keep you actively on your feet and will render you supple and lively. That's a very restful secret, your health secret, and your beauty secret.
Did you notice in the numerous pictures presented of the girl athletes chosen to represent America at Paris a beautiful development of body—and padded with fat but firm and young?
Exercise is the thing for you, young girls. If you cannot get it any other way, take up gymn work.
Eat three meals a day—foods that are strength giving and body building, including plenty of fruits and vegetables. And diet only on the exclusive aspects: Soda! And ice cream.
Do you require a certain amount of sugar, but in three well balanced meals a day you will get all or nearly all the sugar your system requires. Starches, when assimilated, provide the same heat energy.

La Senorita. A combination of ammonia and peroxide, four parts of the peroxide to one of ammonia, will bleach hair. Don't use it on your head, however. It would ruin your hair.
Mary. There is a swimming pool at the athletic club, but, of course, some man of your family has to be a member before you can enjoy the privilege of the pool. Creighton university has a fine pool and there are classes for girls there, which I think you could join. Inquire at the Y. W. C. A. for their classes in gymnastics, cooking, millinery and ever so many interesting things. There is no excuse for a 15-year-old girl not being ing plenty to do. Are you in school?

Miss T. T. T. Any good hair dressing establishment would make up your hair for you. If you care to send me a stamped, addressed envelope, I will give you names of several places in Omaha. Repeat your question when you write.

J. G. Every day eat some crusty food so as to give proper employment to the teeth. My Marriage Problems

The Way Mother Graham Met Madge.
At Dr. Pettit's announcement that Tom Chester must be brought to her home because the hospital was overcrowded with "accidents and operations," I gave an involuntary little gasp of dismay, which I was thankful, indeed, no one overheard. But though I might conceal my discomfort I could not I wish to be a swift, vivid vision of Madge's face when she should see the home and find Tom Chester a bed-ridden, helpless inmate of our guest room.
There was no hint of any inward qualms in my manner, however, as I said promptly and heartily:
"Of course, doctor, we would not consent to his being taken anywhere else. His leg is broken, is it not?" I made the last question audible to Dr. Pettit alone.
"Badly," the muttered monosyllable confirmed my own impression of the young man's injuries, and as I climbed the stairs to my room, I thought I led I tried to put from me every thought save that of consideration for him.
Dr. Pettit followed me in, indicated the position in which I was to sit, and lifting Tom Chester's shoulders with infinite caution, so as not to disturb his rigidly stretched-out leg, gave me a swift, succinct direction:
"Sip your arm around his shoulders, that's right. Put his head against your own shoulder, no—more to the right. Now brace your feet against the foot rail. Can you sit that way without moving or letting him be jolted until we get to your house? I'll drive as carefully as possible."
"What Has Happened?"
"I can't," I returned shortly, for there was something in his voice, or so I fancied, which implied a doubt of my being able to carry out his directions. I wondered rebelliously why he had not detailed my father to this duty, and let me drive the runabout. Then, as a wave of something closely resembling nervous hysteria swept over me, I realized that I was in no condition to carry out his directions. I was a professional eyes had without doubt recognized that fact.
That his doubt of my endurance of the task he had set me had been well-founded I realized before the short drive home was ended. Every muscle rebelled at the uncomfortable posture which I was compelled to hold, and only by the grimace which I power was I enabled to keep rigid and shield the helpless youth resting against me from a look.

"Manage it, I did, however, but when we finally drew to the farmhouse side door my face was wet with cold perspiration, and when almost at once Dr. Pettit released me, I staggered in getting out of the car, and would have fallen to the ground but for Lillian, who had rushed out to the veranda when she heard us driving in.
"What has happened to you?" Her voice echoed the question which Dr. Pettit and my father had shot at me when they had first seen me.
"Never mind that now," Dr. Pettit's voice was quick and crisp. "Give her one of these immediately." His hand went to his pocket and he passed Lillian a little vial, which I hastily surmised must contain some stimulating policy which he carried for himself in time of need. "Don't help me get the boy upstairs. Are there any men around here now?"

SLEEPY-TIME TALES

FATTY COON MORE OF HIS ADVENTURES
By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY
Uncle Sammy Coon Gets Ready For Company.
Fatty Coon was hurrying through Cedar Swamp toward Black Creek, where Uncle Sammy Coon lived. He had news for the old gentleman.
First Fatty went to Uncle Sammy's house. He was not at home—so Uncle Sammy's wife, Aunt Amanda, said.
"What do you want of Samuel?"
"I have a message for him," Fatty explained.
"You tell it to me and I'll tell it to him," said Aunt Amanda Coon.
"No, thank you! I must give the message to Uncle Sammy himself," Fatty insisted. "The news is about some of his relations."
"Huh!" Aunt Amanda exclaimed with a snarl. "Then the news doesn't interest me. You'll find my husband fishing down beside the creek."
So Fatty Coon crept down the bank of Black Creek. Uncle Sammy was there. A big catch of perch lay on a rock near him.
Somewhat Uncle Sammy seemed none too pleased to see Fatty Coon. The moment he spied Fatty he jumped up and stood over his fish, glaring in a most unfriendly fashion.
"You're late!" he growled.
"Don't worry, Uncle Sammy!" said Fatty. "I've had my breakfast. I've come to tell you that your cousin and his family are on the way to make you a visit."
When he heard this news Uncle Sammy actually looked distressed.
"Which cousin?" he asked presently.
"Your cousin Lemuel."
Uncle Sammy growled now.
"Cousin Lemuel has the biggest family of 'em all," growled Fatty.
"I've had my breakfast. I've come to tell you that your cousin and his family are on the way to make you a visit."
