

Mrs. Harper Gets Divorce, Custody of Baby, Alimony

Court Decides Husband Father of Child Whose Paternity Questioned at Trial.

Papillion, Neb., Oct. 20.—District Judge James T. Begley decided the Harper divorce case by allowing the wife a decree of divorce, custody of Dearest Mary, 3 months-old daughter, $300 alimony and $25 per month for support of the child.

The court held that Mr. Harper was the father of the child whose paternity was one of the questions raised at the trial. A. C. Anderson, scientific expert of the Omaha police department, testified that the ears of the child and Mr. Harper were strikingly similar, explaining that the ears are the most reliable means of identification, next to finger prints.

Mary Winifred Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harman, 271 South Twenty-fifth street, Omaha, was a 19-year-old dancer when she married C. H. Harper on August 15, 1921, at Omaha. Mr. Harper, formerly an Omaha real estate dealer, is now living on a farm at Bellevue. The baby was born on July 24 of this year, nine months and 13 days after the date on which Mr. Harper charged his wife left him.

Mr. Harper has four girls by a former marriage. He filed an answer and cross petition to his wife's action and he resisted Mrs. Harper's case with various charges through witnesses. Mrs. Harper testified she threatened to leave Harper on the second night of their honeymoon and offered to explain the circumstances in court.

English Football Men Too Loving, Declare Fans
London, Oct. 20.—The English are getting worried about their sporting proclivities. Having basked for centuries in a sporting glamor, and having credited themselves with being the greatest sporting race in the world, they are now troubled by constant defeats in the sporting world. American triumphs in golf have caused the English news-what's wrong. There has been one serious protest made, however, which may hold the secret. Football fans are up in arms because football players are showing signs of alleged femininity. It is becoming customary for fellow players to hug and kiss the successful player who scores a brilliant goal. This practice may go on the continent, but English sport lovers are opposed to do it and they papers.

Legal Tangle in Trial of Man for Grand Larceny
Akron, O., Oct. 19.—A knotty legal tangle that may go to the state supreme court before final determination is disclosed in the trial here of E. H. Cunningham, of Culloga Falls, on a charge of grand larceny. The facts, according to the indictment upon which he will be tried are that Cunningham carried an account with the Ohio State bank and Trust company, and that, upon inquiring his balance, was told that it was $414. He wrote a check and drew this amount. It is declared, however, that his actual balance was $14. The defense asserts that Cunningham made no false statements and that the money was paid him voluntarily.

"Deaf and Dumb" Beggar Finds His Voice, and Flees
Weber, Mass., Oct. 19.—A familiar "deaf and dumb" beggar in this town found his voice and fled. The beggar, who had been doing a fine business here, with a sign pinned on his breast reading, "I am deaf and dumb," was either visited by a miracle or attacked with absent-mindedness, suddenly asked one of the citizens to give him money to help his widowed mother. The citizen motioned for a policeman. The beggar beat a retreat.

Center of White Population Moves West in Last 10 Years
Washington, Oct. 20.—For the first time in three decades the center of foreign born white population of the United States moved westward instead of eastward in the 10 years from 1910 to 1920. The westward movement was due to the increase in foreign born white population in California, Texas and Arizona. The census bureau stated, in announcing the center to be located in latitude 41 degrees, 3 minutes and 43 seconds north, longitude 94 degrees, 39 minutes and 17 seconds west. That point is in the eastern part of Allen county, Indiana, about 104 miles east of New Haven and 18 miles east of Fort Wayne. In the 10 years from 1910 to 1920 the center had moved from Indiana, O., just across the state line into Indiana.

Ebensburg, Pa., Oct. 20.—George Abraham, Franklin grocer, says in a branch of promises suit on file here today that his love affairs wrecked him "physically and financially." When she promised to marry him he gave her a $1,500 diamond engagement ring, he says, which she now refuses to return.

RADIO Invents Simplest Circuit—One Tube

Experimenters Get Super-Regenerative Effect Using No Large Inductances.

Wakefield, Mass., Oct. 20.—What is claimed to be the simplest circuit yet devised for obtaining super-regeneration has been invented by Edmund T. Flewelling of Hart's Hill Park, Wakefield, an electrical engineer. Dozens of tests of this new circuit have been made by Mr. Flewelling, some of them in the laboratory of Dr. Greenleaf W. Pickard, and none of them has yet failed to do what was desired. Many letters have been received by Mr. Flewelling from those who have tried his circuit, and from radio engineers, who declare that it is not a modification of the Armstrong super-regenerative circuit that he has obtained, but an entirely new form of loop-up. As to whether this is so remains to be proved through the United States patent office, for Mr. Flewelling has filed a caveat, preparatory to applying for a patent. The matter is now up to the radio experts of the United States patent office.

Only Two Adjustments.
Only two adjustments are required in the circuit. The first is the tuning of the grid circuit through a small variable capacity, and second, an electromagnetic feedback to the grid circuit from the plate circuit, which he gets by the coupling together of the two circuits with a variocoupler or other similar means, such as a honeycomb coil mounting.

There are added to the ordinary apparatus called for by the regenerative receiver, three small fixed condensers and a resistance unit. Only one tube is used. This handles the various functions necessary for super-regeneration. Signals and broadcasts are brought in better than with a two-tube set. For local broadcasts and listening in the set is used entirely without loop, aerial, or even electric light socket connection. Merely grounding on a radiator is sufficient. The sounds are entirely too loud with this circuit if loop or aerial are used. However, for long distance listening they can be used, but have to be graduated down, as the reception is very strong for a considerable distance.

Compromise Reached on Open Shop Question

Cleveland, Oct. 20.—The open and closed shop dispute in the United States Typothetae of America was compromised at the closing session of its annual convention here by providing for the reorganization of the labor divisions of the association separate from the parent organization. By an amendment to the constitution the open and closed shop groups are permitted to form separate organizations outside of the typothetae but must remain affiliated with it, and to adopt any name they choose, so long as the name of the national organization is not a part of it.

Capper Attacks Stand of Armour

Refusal to Testify at Grain Hearing Draws Fire of Senator.

Norton, Kan., Oct. 20.—The refusal of J. Ogden Armour to testify before the federal trade commission in Chicago last week in regard to his grain transactions on the Chicago board of trade harked back to the days when railroad heads said "the public be damned," Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, chairman of the senate agricultural bloc, declared in an address here last night.

Referring to a recent public utterance of Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, in which he advocated the Golden Rule in business, Senator Capper said: "I ask you to contrast Judge Gary's attitude with that of Armour, the heaviest grain operator in the United States, and the action of the Chicago board of trade in again going into court to fight the anti-grain gambling law after congress, by almost unanimous vote, has expressed the nation's will and determination to have grain gambling ended.

"This country's grain growers believe and have every reason for believing that Armour and other big operators on the Chicago board of trade have, by their operations, contributed greatly to the heavy losses now being suffered during and since 1920, the greatest export year for grain this country ever knew."

Bernd Gives Radio Lecture on Credits

Because 90 per cent of the business of the nation is transacted on credit, credit must be handled by competent men, according to W. E. Bernd of Creighton university, who lectured on this subject at the Omaha grain exchange radio station Thursday night. The credit situation is a criterion by which to judge the condition of any business, he said. "The enterprise that is slow in collecting its receivables will find itself slow in discharging its own obligations," he declared. Mr. Bernd declared that, although 1922 was a constructive year, "prosperity was not yet seated at our table and everyone must work toward putting our house in order."

Sparks

One of the great uses of radio in the future will be the sending of day and night letters abroad. The low rates that will be possible will make such communications feasible and economical and reduce the time necessary for transacting oceanic business to that of land lines.

When a steady hum is heard in the receivers after wiring up a set, it may be taken as an indication that there is an open circuit somewhere. Trace out the wiring carefully and some little fault will usually present itself.

It is said that the radio business in the last two years has grown something like 65,000 per cent.

Prospectors in the deserts of the southwest now take along radio outfits so that they can communicate with the nearest stations in case help is needed.
