

Victim Denies Daring Man Who Shot Him Down

Family Visits Assailant in Jail—Wife Expresses Hope That Wounded Merchant Will Recover.

E. Liberman, twenty-four and Decatur streets, merchant, in Lord Lister hospital yesterday morning denied that he had dared Morris Barney, 2916 Willis avenue, to shoot him.

Liberman also denied he laughed when Barney told him Mrs. Barney and their children were hungry. Liberman, wounded twice Monday afternoon by Barney, who fired four shots at him, has a fair chance to recover, according to hospital attendants.

"I hope he gets better," said Mrs. Barney, whose husband is being held at Central police station for the shooting. "My husband did wrong to shoot him, but he was desperate. Liberman sold my husband a business that didn't pay. Our children were suffering."

Tearful Parting.
Mrs. Ida Levins of the public welfare board is caring for Mrs. Barney and her six children. They were permitted to visit their father in jail yesterday morning. The parting was a tearful one.

Mrs. Levins said she Barney appealed to the welfare board for help last Thursday.

"I tried to get Mr. Liberman to give back part of the $50 Mr. Barney gave him for the restaurant," said Mrs. Levins. "Mr. Barney was willing to sell back the restaurant for half the amount he paid for it."

Barney, while being taken to the station by police just after the shooting, said he had intended to kill himself with the last shot left in his revolver.

Dictates Will to Police.

"We came to Omaha from Lincoln," said Barney. "Liberman said I could support my family with the restaurant I bought from him. But he misrepresented and I could make no money with it. I asked him many times to buy back the money. I wrote him a letter, quoting the scriptures, but when I met him Monday and pleaded

Wife Doesn't Blame Mate for Shooting

"I hope Mr. Liberman recovers, but I don't blame my husband for shooting him," said Mrs. Morris Barney, who, with five of her six little children, visited her husband in jail yesterday.

Mr. Barney, who says he shot E. Liberman, merchant, because Liberman led him to invest his money in a bad business venture and refused to aid Barney's destitute family, is shown in the middle of the group, beside Mrs. Barney. The children are: Sarah, 11; Shirley, 1; David, 8; Louis, 5; and Max, 13. Bertha, 15, the oldest, was not present.

with him for aid for my family he only laughed. Then I shot him."

Liberman, apparently expecting to die, dictated a will to the police while he was being taken to the hospital. He said yesterday morning he would prosecute Barney for the shooting if he recovered.

Release of Wealthy Woman From Asylum Is Sought

Lincoln, Oct. 24.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Campbell of Clay Center have asked the kid of the board of control to secure the discharge from the hospital for the insane of Miss Mable Gould, formerly of Kearney. Miss Gould comes from a family of wealth, and is reputed to own considerable property. She was in the hospital at Hastings for seven years, then was paroled for two years and is now in a private sanitarium. Mrs. Campbell says they have the opinion of Dr. E. F. Williams, former superintendent at the Lincoln hospital, that she is sane.

Prisoner Seeks Death.

Lincoln, Oct. 24.—(Special)—Harry Carnis, a prisoner in the city jail, sought escape by suicide Tuesday, but he was thwarted. An officer happened to go into his cell and found him hanging by the neck from a trousers' belt suspended from the roof, and cut him down. Carnis is a "dope" fiend who was caught trying to steal morphine from a doctor's office.

Oakland Store Robbed.

Fremont, Neb., Oct. 24.—(Special Telegram)—Reports reached the sheriff's office here today of the theft of $4,999 in merchandise from the Alex Wickstrom general merchandise store at Oakland, near here. Clothing and shoes made up the loot, evidently carted away by truck.

PERFECT FITTING MUNSING WEAR UNION SUITS

Wednesday Our Semi-Annual Sale of Munsing Wear for Women and Children

Seconds and Samples at $\frac{1}{3}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ Less Than Regular Prices

Many women who prefer Munsingwear for its durability and excellent fit are about to purchase their season's outfit. To buy them at the substantial savings this sale offers is a bargain in the most genuine sense of the word. Remember styles and size assortment will be best at 9 a. m. Wednesday morning when the sale starts.

Munsingwear seconds possess the same fine quality of yarn, the same perfection of fit and the same durability as firsts. But so rigid is the inspection of their makers that the tiniest oil spot, misweave (carefully mended) or drop stitch is sufficient to rank the garment a second. In the judgment of the shrewd shopper, the big savings in price far outweigh these small irregularities.

The Satin, Gold and Silver Shown in These New Fall Hats at 8.95

Identifies Them With the Mid-Season Mode

As the season advances quite different fashions are accentuated in millinery modes and the reigning midseason favorite is metal cloth. That it is a charming winter fashion, the new turbans with their glittering metal brocades will convince you. In some the brilliance of the metal fabric is softened with supple folds of satin.

The fine quality satin hats are in black and brown.

The color combinations found in the turbans—brown with gold, black with silver, rose with gold—are a charming foil for winter furs and dark colored wraps.
