

Movement Made to Compensate Ships Hit by Dry Rule

Amendment to Subsidy Bill Designed to Offset Losses to American Vessels in Foreign Service.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Members of the merchant marine committee agreed on an amendment to the ship subsidy bill designed to offset losses to American passenger ships engaged in foreign service by reason of the prohibition against the sale of liquor. The amendment provides that such ships shall be paid directly by the government for carrying mail, instead of turning the amount due into a revolving fund out of which all companies are to receive compensation.

Representative Bankhead, Alabama, democratic member of the committee, announced he would offer an amendment providing that no part of the federal subsidy should be paid to any ship on which liquor was sold, regardless of any future court ruling on the right to sell on the high seas. Republicans of the committee also agreed on an amendment which would give the shipping board the same authority over coastwise steamship lines that the Interstate Commerce commission exercises over railroads. It would have the power to fix both the maximum and minimum rates.

The bill will be taken up Tuesday at a full meeting of the merchant marine committee and formally reported to the house. The rules committee is expected to give it right of way and the house Wednesday will vote it up or down.

A Queer World

All of Town's Firemen at Football Game; Refuse to Budge as House Burns.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 20.—Ten thousand persons at a football game at Coldale near here, yesterday refused to desert the game to fight a fire when the stadium was turned in, and as a result, a house situated in a sparsely settled section of the borough was destroyed. Appeals were made at the game for firemen to respond but not one budged. Coldale tied Shenandoah 6-6.

New York, Nov. 20.—Hattie is dead. Central park's pet elephant succumbed to the paralysis against which she had fought for more than a week. Jewel, Hattie's sister, saw her die. Keepers who were present when in the midst of an attempt to raise her in a sling, rigged about her middle. Hattie sagged and collapsed, said that Jewel, looking on over the barrier, showed her grief unmistakably. Dr. Nymphus, the veterinarian who had been dosing Hattie with whiskey and dieting her, was in charge of the effort to lift her to take the weight of the great body off her hind legs which were paralyzed. Suddenly a convulsive shudder started at the tip of the elephant's trunk, she made one feeble effort to trumpet the death call and was no more.

Standardization Proposal for Mine Wages Rejected

Both Operators and Workers Oppose Plan Suggested by Federal Coal Commission.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Anthracite mine operators sent to the federal coal commission yesterday responses to the preliminary questionnaire which that body sent out in beginning its work on ascertaining facts as to the coal industry while at the same time, a committee of the United Mine Workers, representing employees in both bituminous and anthracite regions, made public the union's conclusions upon some of the same points.

On one important point, arising from the commission's request for views as to the possibility of standardizing the mine wages and units of output from workers, both communications agreed in rejecting the proposals as impracticable.

They were also in substantial agreement in treating a second proposal of the commission regarding the possibility of closing high cost mines to maintain production from more economic mines. The anthracite employers declared the general scarcity of anthracite required continuation of operations in every mine which could afford output, while the miners said normal competition could be trusted to regulate the whole subject.

Want Industries Separated.

The operators' letter contended emphatically that the anthracite industry should be considered as separate and autonomous from the bituminous industry to prevent it from becoming, as it has in the past, the victim of labor disputes with which it is in no way connected.
