Creighton Students Make Investigations and Distribute All Baskets.

Seven hundred Christmas dinners vere distributed to Omaha's poor Saturday by Creighton university students. The boys themselves did all the investigating and distributing in connection with the affair. Each Christmas basket contained a five-pound roast of beef, one peck of potatoes, a loaf of bread, a can each of corn, tomatoes and peaches, six apples, two oranges, a pound of candy and a pound cake. Automobiles were used in the distribution, but the work was done by the students themselves. The board of governors of the students' union, consisting of A. K. Stevens, dental college, president; William Nolan, law; Julius Berger, arts: Adolph Swoboda, commerce and finance; Benjamin Ewing, medics; Thomas Berry, pharmacy, and John Ortman and Edward Leary, alumni, together with Charles B. Pop Man Pleads Own Case. Russell Palmesano, proprietor of pop stand at 322 North Sixteenth The Buff Oil Burners Sold and Installed street, argued his own case in central police court Saturday against a charge of illegal possession of liquor. He pleaded the defense that the raiding squad had no search warrant. The hearing was continued to next Tuesday to give Palmesano a chance to hunt for legal citation with regard to his warrant contention.
