DISTRICT NO. 3.
The delegates of supervisor district No. 3 will meet in convention at Oconto, on Saturday, Sept. 2, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for supervisor of said district.
J. L. COMPTON.

Lieut. H. F. Kennedy, the republican nominee for district clerk, captivates all he meets by his unpretentious manner, manly and intelligent appearance.

The verdict of the public is, that the charge of "incompetency" against the republican nominees cannot be successfully waged by the opposition and they will have to concoct some other fake to have an issue.

Since the public has been able to come in personal contact with Capt. Talbot, the charge of the Beacon that he has not the first qualification for the office of sheriff has been completely refuted in the eyes of the public.

Captain Talbot, the republican candidate for sheriff, is meeting with favor by all who meet him. His manly appearance and easy and graceful manner of conversation, convince the people that a gallant warrior can also be a refined gentleman.

The republican ticket is a winner in the eyes of the public. One leading populist remarked to the writer, "You have a strong ticket, I want to see part of it elected." Another writes, "I congratulate you on the county and congressional ticket your party put up. It is worthy of first class respect, to my mind with a fighting show of success."

From the Bee's report of the reception given by the Lady's Political League, at Lincoln, in the capital building, to returning soldiers from Manila, there was an effort made to make of it a pop meeting for political effect. They did succeed in keeping it in pop hands, but not in making pop votes by the proceedings. Many of the boys were indignant over it.

The silver smelter of Omaha, became a member of the smelting works syndicate last spring, yet Attorney General Smythe has not instituted suit against it nor said a word about it. If the Standard Oil company, which has cheapened oil in Nebraska to consumers, should be prohibited from business simply because it belongs to a trust, why not prohibit the silver smelting works of Omaha, from doing business. Is it not a fact that Attorney Smythe hopes to make votes for the populist party that he now proposes to institute proceedings against the Standard Oil Co.? Is it not a further fact that because he is in sympathy with 16 to 1 and because there is nothing to be gained politically that he has no intention of proceeding against the Silver Smelting company at Omaha, or any other trust that may exist in the state unless it is for political reasons. The attorney general in Kansas when asked why he did not institute legal proceedings against the Standard Oil company, answered, "If anybody can point out one benefit which the people would secure by driving the Standard Oil company from Kansas, I will go in to the supreme court and ask that it be enjoined from transacting any further business in Kansas." That is business, but not demagoguism.

The corn crop in Custer county presents a condition at the present time that makes it difficult to approximate closely the probable yield. But by taking the yield last year as shown by the assessors' books, and the acreage planted this year, some idea of the immensity of the corn crop in Custer county can be ascertained. In looking up the statistics we find that the assessors returned last spring the number of farms under fence in Custer county 2,810, with 277,892 acres under fence, and 281,042 acres not fenced, making a total acreage of the land farmed 558,220. Of this there were sown to wheat last fall 1,761 acres, and 13,336 acres to rye. There were 120,557 acres of spring wheat sowed in '99, 6,890 acres of barley, 15,024 acres to oats, 10 acres to buckwheat, 15,114 acres planted to potatoes, 31 acres to flax, 10 acres to hemp, 57 acres to turnips and rutabagas, 4,022 acres to millet, 42 acres to broom corn, 48 acres to sorghum for syrup, and 93 acres for feed, Jerusalem corn, 27 acres, and 2 acres of Kaffir corn. The yield of corn last year in the county was 2,214,100 bushels; of this, 601,590 bushels were on hands April 1st. The wheat yield for '99 was 2,177,367 bushels. Taking the crop of corn last year as a basis, two weeks ago the yield could have safely been estimated at one-third greater than last year, which would have exceeded 3,000,000 bushels. The effect of the dry weather on the late corn recently, has doubtless damaged the corn an average of 30 per cent, or about 700,000 bushels. This will still leave more corn, by 100,000 bushels, than last year. The late planted corn will doubtless be chaffy, while the early corn is well matured.

Democrats Getting their Eyes Open.—Neither Neville nor Holcomb Acceptable.

Bill Neville went up the hill to get a nomination. He set the pace, and will make the race to a disastrous termination.—Alliance Grip (dem).

It is a foregone conclusion that Judge Kinkaid has a cinch on his nomination and election to congress. The other fellows threw away their chances for success.—Grip (dem).

Things political look pretty dark for honest democracy in Nebraska today. With Silas Holcomb crammed down political throats, an effort being made to cram Neville down upon the dose already administered, will it be wonderful if the stomach revolts and the whole dose is thrown overboard? The fusion forces have placed a man at the head of this state ticket who, during the past six months, has been roundly denounced by democratic and populist newspapers and by the voters throughout the state. His unworthiness to hold official position has been thoroughly and patiently tested, and his official methods have been denounced. Had not this constant and open denunciation of Holcomb sown the seed of defeat? Can the press of this state, can the voters of this state, who have honestly and unmercifully denounced Holcomb as governor now give him an honest support and an honest vote for a far more sordid office? Not unless the leopard can change his spots. There is no desire to be unfair toward the power that demanded the nomination of Holcomb, but it was believed two weeks ago that those honest men who denounced the proposed nomination of Holcomb as a menace to success, were honest in their disapproval of his nomination, and we now believe they are powerless to recall the effects of that emphatic denunciation by the substitution of expedient approval of his candidacy and a demand to save the party from defeat. That is the argument of corrupt partisans, and not the logic of honest reformers. The same power that crammed Holcomb down unwilling throats is seeking to repeat the nauseating dose by forcing Neville upon an unwilling congressional district. Last year a slump of 3,000 votes nearly lost the Sixth district, but with Neville the slump would be overwhelming. With Neville denouncing democrats and fusion a short time since, why should it now be demanded that he be the choice of democrats and fusion? In a joint convention at Lexington he would not have received a fusion nomination. No one knows that better than Neville. He had the opportunity to put it to a test, but he refused it. The strong man and the right man for congress in the Sixth district is M. C. Harrington. His nomination in the democratic convention was unanimous. The nomination of Neville in the populist convention was by a bare majority. Harrington proposed to settle fusion in a joint convention. Neville refused the proposition to bring about fusion. Harrington's withdrawal would not consummate fusion, and Harrington's withdrawal will not assure Neville's election. Harrington, in justice to his loyal democratic friends, cannot now afford to withdraw from the race.—Kearney Democrat.

Vacancy in the Big Sixth.

Fremont Tribune: Judge Kinkaid was nominated unanimously by the republicans of the sixth district for congress and he ought to be elected in the same way.

Ashland Gazette: The prospects for republican success in the sixth congressional district of Nebraska, lately represented by William L. Greene, are very bright. The populists are rent by contending factions and two different candidates. Judge Moses P. Kinkaid, of O'Neill, stands a good chance of being elected.

Grand Island Independent: The nomination of Judge Kinkaid by the republicans for congressman of the sixth district and the failure of fusion will make it a big scrap in that district this fall, with excellent chances for the success of the republican. To elect him would be one of the best things the west end of the state could do for itself.

Wood River Interests: Up in the "big sixth" the democrats and populists failed to get together on the matter of congressman and as a result each has a full fledged candidate asking the suffrage of the people. The republicans up in that district are enthusiastic and jubilant believing in the old saying, "When rogues fall out honest men get their dues."

Kearney Hub: The fact that Judge Kinkaid's name is Moses leads some people to believe that he is going to lead the people of the Sixth district into the promised land of politics, but the fact is that the name doesn't cut any ice at all. He is simply going to be elected because the time has come to elect a republican, and because he is worthy of election.

Ainsworth Star Journal: The congressional convention at Lexington Tuesday nominated Hon. Moses P. Kinkaid for congressman of this, the sixth, congressional district by acclamation and with that unanimity of feeling and surety of purpose by all that will end in his election just as sure as prosperity under a republican administration is with us.

Ord Quiz: At the republican congressional convention, held at Lexington, Judge M. P. Kinkaid was nominated by acclamation. No other name was presented to the convention and a call of the counties was not needed to make him the choice of the convention. This is the kind of harmony that is prevailing among the republicans of the Sixth district and indicates the way they propose to win out against the allied forces of reform, who have not yet succeeded in becoming allied.

The First Nebraska, as Seen by Others

Fremont Tribune: The Nebraska prairies are fairly ablaze with enthusiasm in celebrating the return of the First Nebraska. The soldier boys have some conception, perhaps, of what is thought at home of their heroic work.

Western Wave: The First Nebraska regiment just returned from the Philippines is not in a complaining mood, and in this respect furnishes no support for the yellow journals that are continually attacking the administration.

Albion News: The members of the First Nebraska are being made to feel that they are "the whole thing" since reaching home, and there is considerable justification for such a feeling, too. But there is no more danger of turning the heads of the gallant Nebraskans than there was of the boys turning their backs on their country's foes in the Philippines.

Norfolk News: Our welcome is inadequate and expressionless when it comes to a disclosure of what we really feel. We can wring you by the hand, embrace you and offer you the best within our gift, but it all seems to weakly record our sentiments. Words are totally incapable—we can but say, "Welcome, thrice welcome, and may the Ruler of the Universe bless and prosper you."

Ashland Gazette: The return of the First Nebraska regiment was celebrated all over the state Tuesday. It came in a special train of three sections and at every stop was made to realize that its deeds of valor and heroism are appreciated by the entire state. In the list of volunteer regiments none has secured a higher place than the gallant Fighting First Nebraska.

Columbus Times: From ocean to ocean and throughout the civilized world the First Nebraska has received plaudits for bravery that makes even the humblest citizen of this great commonwealth proud of his heritage of statehood. With the supreme consciousness of duty well done—of victories well earned the best of all tributes to your birthright, manhood and American citizenship, we are proud to bid you a thrice welcome back to home and friends.

Synopsis of the Game Law.

The game law makes it unlawful for any person to kill any wild geese, ducks or brants between the first day of May and the first day of September. It also makes it unlawful to trap or net any of said birds any time in the year. The fine for each offense is $5.00.

It further provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to go upon the premises of another person for the purpose of hunting, trapping, netting, ensnaring or killing any animal or bird, at any season of the year, unless by the consent of the owner or occupant of said land. The penalty for the violation of this provision is a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $100.00 for each offense, besides being liable to the owner or occupant for trespass. It is unlawful for any one to kill or sell, or to have in his possession or control, wild elk, deer or antelope, between the first of January and the first of November. The killing of grouse or prairie chickens, or the selling or exposing of them for sale between the first day of January and September of each year, is prohibited. The fine for selling any of the above named animals unlawfully is $25 for each offense, or $5.00 for each bird so sold.

The above are the provisions and amendments of the game law, taken from the session laws of 1899.

The pain of a burn or scald is almost instantly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It also heals the injured parts more quickly than any other treatment, and without the burn is very severe, does not leave a scar. For sale by all druggists.

Hidden Beauty

In Egypt the custom is for Princesses to hide their beauty by covering the lower part of the face with a veil. In America the beauty of many of our women is hidden because of the weakness and sickness peculiar to the sex.

If the Egyptian custom prevailed in this country, many sufferers would be glad to cover their premature wrinkles, their sunken cheeks, their unhealthy complexion, from the eyes of the world with the veil of the Orient.

Where? At my door. At the Eagle Grocery. What in the world is it, my dear? It is at the Eagle Grocery, a mammoth stock of Groceries, and at the lowest prices you ever heard of. The Eagle has been reading the papers and keeping posted on what was being offered for sale. They don't say anything about Terbacker and Candy, and other good things like that. It is not pickle dishes you want now, it is Candy. The Eagle has 2,000 pounds of candy for sale cheap. Christmas committees are invited to call and get my prices.
