How the Broken Bow Girls Turned a Goodly Sum Into the Library Fund.

Balmy weather, a bevy of pretty girls and a fairly generous public, made "tag day" about all that could be desired. If there was anything lacking, it did not show itself in a glaring manner, but was more noticeable at the general clean-up, when the pair of collectors turned in the coin at the end of a laborious day. Last Saturday, of course, was the eventful day, and he who did not sport a red badge at his button hole was looked upon with suspicion and classed as one not literary.

The City Library association, whose new home will be in the city hall, when that structure is completed, is badly in need of a number of new books, and the tag system was adopted in order to raise the necessary funds. Early in the forenoon, crowds of pretty school girls and swell looking society misses loaded themselves with tags and started out on the war path, invading places of business and holding up the unwary pedestrian. Any man who could make a noise like fifty cents was immediately pounced upon, relieved of that amount and left to go his shorn way.

Sometimes the victim only had twenty-five cents in his jeans. Did he receive a red badge for his little all? Nay, Nay! He was given a sweet smile instead, the "shilling" was confiscated and the taglet withheld until another quarter was forthcoming. Then again, there were those who had two fifty cent pieces. These were given a like number of smiles, their coin was hypothesized and two cute little tags given in exchange and fastened to the coat by the entertaining hold-ups. However, the girls did nobly and it is greatly to their credit that they were able by night fall to turn in to the library fund the sum of one hundred and eight dollars. Sixty volumes of latest fiction was received by the library last Tuesday and about the same number is expected next week.

When Well-Known Broken Bow People Tell it so Plainly. When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Broken Bow the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading. C. W. Bowman, real estate dealer, of Broken Bow, Neb., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and I do not hesitate to make the fact known. In the spring of 1907, I suffered from an attack of kidney complaint, characterized mostly by sharp pains in my back, so severe at times that I could scarcely move. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Haerberle's Drug Store, a short time, I found relief and ever since then, I have held this remedy in high esteem."
