Cattle Ranches.

We have just received from the chief of the Bureau of Statistics in Washington a report in regard to the range and ranch cattle business of the United States. The importance of this branch of American industry is emphasized by figures so large that they almost make one's head swim.

The first statement in the report is that the cattle ranch area embraces about 1,365,500 square miles, and therefore constitutes nearly forty-four per cent. of the total area of the United States. Our readers can better understand its extent when we say that it is equal to Great Britain and Ireland, France, Germany, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Austria, Hungary, Italy, Spain and Portugal and one-fifth of Russia in Europe.

All this territory is devoted to beef. We feed the world. The roast beef of Old England even comes from the great West. More than 7,500,000 cattle graze on the green plains east of the Rocky Mountains, and their value reaches the snug little sum of about $200,000,000. There is hardly a country on the globe to which these cattle are not sent, either on the hoof or nicely packed in cans or laid on ice. The steaks, the beef soup, the hash of all creation are provided by the picturesque and irrepressible cowboys who roam over the prairies.

It is rather a significant fact, however, that nearly 21,000,000 acres of this grazing land, together with the herds thereon, are owned by English syndicates and English noblemen—N. Y. Herald.

We have heretofore supposed that America was the place where human curiosities brought the largest price. Englishmen, however, are not a whit behind us in thirst for novelty. One, Sarah Henley, a comely spinster, but terribly disappointed in love, leaped a distance of two hundred and thirty feet from Clifton suspension bridge into the Avon. Strange to relate, she was not fatally injured. The tide was down, the mud was as soft as a feather bed, and she was simply driven into it up to her neck. If anything would cure a woman of love sickness such a bath after such a dive might well do it. While she lay in the hospital recovering from the shock, one bold man gave the official a sovereign to persuade the girl to marry him, and a local showman offered her a round sum to allow him to exhibit her around the country as the dashing maiden of uncertain years who could not endure to be crossed in love. Whether she has thus turned her blighted affections into coin has not yet transpired.—New York Herald.

An 8½ foot wheel will raise 3,000 gallons of water daily a distance of twenty-five feet. Its first cost, including a pump and a plain tower, is about $150. A 10 foot wheel will raise about 9,000 gallons of water a day a like distance, and cost about $180, including the apparatus above mentioned. A 12 foot wheel will raise 16,000 gallons of water per day the above distance, and cost with the same appurtenances $210; so up from 14 to 16, 18 to 20 feet diameter of wheel until we reach a 25 foot wheel, which costs about $1,200 and will raise 100,000 gallons of water the specified distance.—Scientific American.

A daily stage will start from Atwood to McCook on the 15th. Fine coaches will be put on the road and the horses will be the best that can be procured. In fact it is intended to be made the finest equipped stage line ever seen in northwest of Kansas, and the trip across the country will be made in the shortest possible time. The stage will stop for dinner at Mrs. Moore's, 20 miles from Atwood and 25 miles west of McCook, where a first class meal is served for 25c. The fare for the round trip will be $4. Express of all kinds will be carried, but no freight.—Atwood Democrat.

E. D. Webster, of Omaha, brought 6 fine stallions here last week, and will put in about two hundred mares. Mr. Webster intends starting a horse ranch near here.
