LOST HIS PONY—W. M. Irwin's little boy, who runs the "town herd" was unfortunate enough to lose his valuable pony by strangulation, recently. The pony in some way became tangled up in the rope, and hanged itself. The boy feels the loss of his pony, and the more because of the manner of its death.

Having just added a bath am prepared to clean silverware of any kind, and make it look bright and fresh as when new. Especially tea sets, water sets, cake and berry dishes that are chased and engraved and which it is impossible for anyone to clean without the use of a bath. F. L. McCracken.

City property, which has gradually increased in value since the first lot was sold, has been given another boost by the Lincoln Land Co., 35 per cent. having recently been added to all lots in the original town and the first addition, while the prices on lots in the two additions recently laid out range pretty well up in figures, with an active demand.

Trains were delayed many hours, the first of the week, by heavy wash-outs in Iowa, where they have been having a veritable deluge of waters.

We inadvertently failed to note the arrival of a bouncing boy at Frank Reid's home, week before last. Frank says he has come—and to stay—just the same.

The firm of Spanogle & Rinker, having depots at Red Cloud, McCook and Oberlin, are making arrangements to incorporate and to branch out still further. The company, which is already up on a sound financial basis, will be strengthened by the addition of other members of means.

The fire company now has a building for their cart, and in which to hold their meetings, thanks to the generosity of our citizens. A few hooks and ladders, a couple hundred feet of hose, and a number of fire plugs would put the city in good shape to combat fire. Fire plugs are urgently needed on West Dennison street, as they are practically at the mercy of the element.

Our lumber yards seem to be the favorite rendezvous of the genus tramp. One with a "bad eye"—the deponent sayeth not whether the g. t. was suffering from obliquity of vision, or had a glass eye—paralyzed Manager Fisher's activities, the other night, and reduced his courage to away below zero, and increased his "discretion-is-the-better-part-of-valor" bump most abnormally.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the advertisement of The McCook Loan and Trust Co., which has just lately been incorporated with A. Campbell, President; B. M. Frees, 1st Vice-President; R. O. Phillips, 2d Vice-President; Geo. Hocknell, Secretary, and F. L. Brown, Treasurer. The company will make first mortgage loans on farm property. Office in First National Bank building.

Two pugacious canines of the bull dog species engaged in a fierce fight on East Dennison street, Monday afternoon, attracting quite a crowd from the streets. One of the brutes finally succeeded in fastening his fangs in the other's jaw, to which he clung with the proverbial tenacity of his kind, only loosening his death grip after much force and water had been used and he was completely exhausted.

The officers of the Citizens Bank of McCook, the pioneer banking institution of our city, inform us that they will, as soon as necessary arrangements can be made, reorganize as a national bank, under the name of The McCook National Bank, with a paid up capital of $50,000. Also that a fine brick building will in due course of time ornament the present site of the Citizens Bank. With two national banks, a loan and trust company, etc., our city is rapidly coming to the fore.

The Hocknell Hose Co. held a special meeting at the hose cart house, just completed, Tuesday evening, with but a small attendance. A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hocknell for his splendid gift of a handsome hose cart; also to Hallack & Howard, The Badger State Lumber Co., Lytle Bros., Pratt & Lawson, J. F. Collins and S. N. Staysa for material and work donated on the cart house; also to J. P. Mathes for his very liberal donation of chairs and table. The boys transacted a little routine business and adjourned to have a meeting for practice, Wednesday evening.

The Kansas outfit which was arrested last Friday evening for robbing L. T. Sleever, a poor fool in a helpless state of beastly intoxication, had a hearing before Squire Fisher, Saturday. Jennings and Starbuck were attorneys for the accused, while Lucas & LeHew appeared in behalf of Sleever. Upon motion of the Judge, a change of venue was taken to Squire Eaton of Driftwood. One of the prisoners, Armstrong, was placed under $100 bonds, Kendall going up before Squire Eaton, Tuesday morning, but some time during the night of Monday, the gang quietly folded their tent and silently stole away—into bleeding Kansas. The bondsman promptly came forward and paid the forfeited bail, although the team and wagon upon which he held a bill of sale had unfortunately (?) gone, hours before, the same direction, at about the identical time the fugitives from justice vanished. Thus through carelessness or connivance, the soundrels succeeded in escaping their just deserts.

STRAY SHOTS.

The manner in which the accused got away, shows something akin to complicity, an offense, which in the eyes of the law, merits severe condemnation and punishment.

Sunday morning, Sleever himself was arrested and brought before Squire Colvin on the charge of drunkenness. He was fined $3 and costs, in all, $7.35, which he payed and was discharged.

The next morning, after the birds had flown, legal proceedings, to replevin the team and wagon of the gang, were instituted. The bondsman, it appears, lost nothing and was cognizant of the departure of the thieves at the time they went.

The set-to between attorneys Lucas and Starbuck, during the progress of the trial, occasioned considerable uproar, interfered with the appearance and utility of the frosted glass in the door leading into Squire Fisher's office, was discreditable to the participants, and added no dignity to either. Proper decorum should be exacted from attorneys, or they ought to be debarred from practice.

Hallack & Howard for Lumber and all kinds of Building Material.

Quite an exciting little episode occurred on West Dennison street, some months since, which has just come to the ears of our reporter. It appears that the trusting wife of an individual residing in that locality had become aware of the moral turpitude of her liege lord, through information confidentially vouchsafed her by a neighbor's wife; and that the trusting wife subsequently raised the thermometer of her liege lord's feelings to a gehena-sheat heat by upbraiding him for his infidelity. In the course of events, it so happened that the husband of the woman who was the confidential adviser, and the liege lord in question, were peacefully, wending their way home together, whereupon the irate l. l. took occasion to refer to the matter in terms in consonance with a vulgar nature hardened by years of transgression, denouncing the whole female portion of the neighborhood with unmeasured virulence. This was promptly and emphatically resented by the other by a blow in the mouth. The l. l. dives into his capacious pocket for his jack knife; the insulted neighbor follows suit; the l. l. flies, the indignant and manly neighbor pursues; the l. l. begs for quarters and pardon. His fabula doctet the l. l. greater caution when referring to the virtue of his neighborhood.

Hallack & Howard for Lumber and all kinds of Building Material.

Last Saturday morning, Indianola was visited by fire, of an incendiary origin, in which the "old court house" was entirely consumed and the Sargent House damaged to the amount of $1,000, covered by insurance in the Underwriters. Mr. Lynch saved nearly all his furniture, but sustained a loss of perhaps $600. The fire bug's health would not be materially improved if the indignant people of the county-seat succeed in locating the guilty party. In this connection Mr. Lynch desires us to return his sincere thanks to the people of Indianola for the almost super-human efforts in his behalf.

Hallack & Howard for Lumber and all kinds of Building Material.

This morning, M. T. Horrell who runs the stationary engine at the round house, closed the sale of his deeded quarter and timber claim relinquishment to Hugh A. Jennett. Consideration, $1,500 cash. On Wednesday A. J. Pate sold his land 3 1/2 miles northeast of town, consisting of 240 acres of deeded land and a timber claim relinquishment to C. J. Ryan of Filmore county for $2,200.

The liberal patronage the Courier receives outside of Indianola has a strong tendency toward boistering our esteemed contemporaries.—Indianola Courier.

"To move a horror skillfully, to touch a soul to the quick, to lay upon fear as much as it can bear, and then step in with mortal instruments to take its last forfeit; this only a Bishop can do." So dear George, please forbear.

For fine pants call on E. M. Brickey & Co.

A slight mishap occurred on the little brick building in course of erection on West Dennison street, opposite the bakery, Saturday noon, by the upper joists giving way under the heavy weight of brick piled on them. No one was injured.

E. M. Brickey & Co. have just received a large line of boys suits in all sizes and grades of goods.

W. Shirley went to McCook the first of the week, to take a look at that fascinating region and take a claim, if he found what suited him.

"People Who Live in Glass Houses Should Not Throw Stones."

Last spring, the Bailey boys on Blackwood had one of those "old reliable" open wheel mills and tower demolished by the winds. Sunday night at Benkelman, one of those "old reliable" open wheel rattle traps, tower and all, were blown to atoms. Just here let me say that no wind mills are warranted against storms that destroy other adjacent property. But experience has shown that the chances are three to one in favor of the noiseless, perfect self-regulating solid wheels, with their staunch towers and arm braces, standing the storm. Persons who will take the pains to examine the different mills, after a few month's use, will not hesitate a moment in deciding which is the most meritorious. The Woodmanse takes the first premium.
