The McCook Tribune.

The Fairbury Gazette claims to have been the first paper in the state to suggest the name of Gen. Thayer for governor. Next.

THERE is no means by which the law can reach this impudent Canadian, who makes light of human suffering if he can circulate a hoax to keep his name before the public. There is only one thing to do, and that is to boycott him. Let the press refuse to print the silly stuff which he prepares for advertising and let the name of Wiggins be forgotten by human tongues. He has done enough mischief and had enough free advertising. Put on the boycott and let us hear no more of Wiggins.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

THE Tennessee brothers, Taylors, who are running on opposing tickets for Governor, both seem apt at repartee: A gentleman greeted Bob, the Democrat, saying, "I am happy to meet you, but I want your brother elected." With a smile, Bob said: "Get over there and congratulate him, for as sure as the sun shines he will be the brother of the next governor." A gentleman greeting Alf said: "We are not of the same politics, but of the same religion." "My friend," said Alf, his face lit up with a smile, "I am sorry you have no religion to make amends for your Democracy."

THERE is a strong temperance sermon in the story of a child born in New Jersey apparently drunk. The mother was shocked, it seems, by seeing her husband intoxicated, as she looked through the window of a bar-room, attracted by hearing his voice. She was so greatly shocked that when her child was born it had all the symptoms of intoxication. When it came to walk it staggered, and when it learned to speak it sutterance was thick and drunken. If intemperance can produce this effect its horrors are added to. This child must go staggering and stuttering through life, although he may never drink a drop of liquor.—New York Mail.

ENGLAND has braced up the Turk, soldiers and guns are going to the front, Bulgaria is proceeding with her elections despite the contrary wishes of the czar and the presence of his emissary, Austria is cordial with Anglo-Turkish allies and Russia will have to fight for a single foot of the territory lately ruled by Alexander. Russia will not fight. His most royal highness will back down and play a waiting game. He can't afford to fight England, Austria and Turkey. The alliance of France can do him no good. Germany is a standing guarantee that France keeps preventive of Germany going to war. There will be no European war. The support of the Turk by England makes him perhaps not fearless of the Russian, but at least renders him less timid.—Lincoln Democrat.

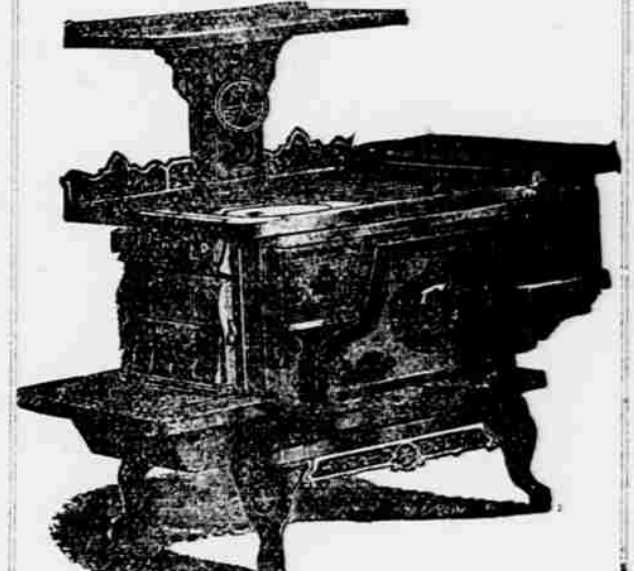

Watch for it! The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness, and if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given at once and the doses frequently repeated, the dread disease may be entirely prevented and all danger and anxiety avoided. Sold by Willey & Walker and M. A. Spalding.
