THE NEBRASKA WORLD'S FAIR.

NEBRASKA STATE FAIR AND EXPOSITION, LINCOLN, SEPTEMBER 5 TO 12, 1890.

The time is drawing near when the Nebraska state board of agriculture will hold its twenty-fourth annual exposition, under the new contract term for five years, commencing this year—1890. As THE TRIBUNE's readers are aware, the fair will be held on the same large and commodious grounds adjoining the city of Lincoln, as occupied the past five years. While there already exists extensive and superior accommodations, second to no other in the country, more and better are being provided for the coming fair. A visit to the grounds finds a force of workmen engaged in erecting a large, entirely new, systematically arranged art hall; additions to agricultural hall, increasing its space nearly double what it has been heretofore; a new and enlarged poultry house; the state fish exhibit house enlarged and rearranged; the water mains enlarged to furnish an increased supply of pure water from the city water works; the capacity of the amphitheatre will be enlarged, together with many other preparations to accommodate, among which will be seats about the grounds where the weary may rest, shaded seats about the show rings, and the like, for the convenience of guests.

Every effort on the part of the management to bring out the products and show the resources of the state is being made. Especially in behalf of agricultural products. This year, for county collective exhibits, the premiums are:

For first best collection.....	$250 00
For second best collection.....	200 00
For third best collection.....	150 00
For fourth best collection.....	125 00
For fifth best collection.....	100 00
For sixth best collection.....	75 00
For seventh best collection.....	50 00

The management intent on both instruction and amusement has contracted for, as an attraction, the Coup eques-curriculum of 10 wonderful horses, the best educated in the world—their equals do not exist. Also Professor Freyer's educated dogs. These wonderful animals perform military drill with equal precision as old soldiers, and actually perform theatrical plays, presenting marvellous and highly educational exhibitions. They will astonish, please, amaze and amuse, not only the young, but the old as well. A practical illustration of the power of education, showing to what extent even the dumb animals of creation can be educated.

From an interview with the secretary we learn that negotiations are pending, with promise of putting a "fast stepper" on the race track, that will chase two minutes closer than ever before known on the Nebraska state fair, or any other track in the world.

No pains will be spared this year to make the coming fair and exposition superior in all respects to any of its predecessors. A general public interest is being manifested of most encouraging character. Live stock stables, stalls and pens are being called for more than usual. Speed purses are filling up nicely. The two large purses one thousand dollars each guarantee, are already filled to overflow. Space, too, in all the halls is largely engaged even at this date. The secretary says: "All looks big! If the clerk of the weather smiles on us as usual, the fair of 1890 will eclipse all others in the history of the state."

For information, write the secretary, Robt. W. Furnas, Brownville. "His business" is to "diffuse light and information" in fair matters.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live but a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial Bottles of this wonderful Discovery Free at A. McMILLAN'S Drug Store.

The master mechanics of the entire Burlington system held an important meeting at Denver, this week. The object of the meeting was to form a system of organization and discuss such matters as will pertain to their interests and that of the company they represent. Forty master mechanics were present, the meeting lasting three days.

Deputy United States Marshal Hill brought in William Nogle, of Benkelman, Saturday, who is charged with delaying United States mails. Several weeks ago, a Burlington Conductor was detained at Benkelman by a gang of toughs who thought they would have some fun by delaying the train. The railway officials filed charges against them in the United States court in Omaha, and several of them have been arrested, but are now out on $500 bail each, to appear at the November term. Benkelman is a small village west of McCook.—Omaha Republican.

The Burlington is said to be arranging a new outlet to the coast preparatory to building a through line from Denver to Ogden. As the company is now constructing a line from Nebraska through the Black Hills to S. Dakota, the new road will penetrate an almost undeveloped country, but will have no northwestern outlet. The latest scheme of the company, it is said, will be to continue the line into Montana, through a choice mineral section and tap the Northern Pacific about Billings. This will give the Burlington a good outlet, not only to the coast but to the entire northwest as well. The plan will in no wise interfere with the proposed line to Ogden. The road through Dakota had no connection, and the Burlington people did not like the idea of humping up against some mountain town in the Black Hills country and awaiting the coming of some line to afford it a connection.
