Last Night's Caucus.
 As per call there was a large and enthusiastic caucus held in the city hall, last evening, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the several city offices. H. H. Berry presided over the meeting, S. H. Colvin being clerk. The following ticket went through with a hurrah:
 For Mayor—C. T. Brewer.
 For City Clerk—U. J. Warren.
 For Treasurer—E. C. Ballew.
 For City Engineer—C. H. Meeker.
 For Councilman, 1st Ward—W. C. LaTourette.
 For Councilman, 2nd Ward—W. T. Coleman.
 For Member School Board—V. Franklin.
 For Member School Board—C. J. Ryan.
For Land Commissioner.
 As the resignation of Judge Groff leaves a vacancy which will doubtless be filled by the appointment of a Nebraska, THE TRIBUNE desires to modestly but enthusiastically urge Ex-Congressman Laws for the land commissionership. The ex-congressman has every qualification for the office. Is one of the ablest, best posted men in the state on the land question, and his appointment would be well received throughout the state. While the President is casting his eye over the state we hope it may rest favorably on GILBERT L. LAWS.
 Says the Oxford Standard in speaking of Rev. D. L. McBride, who speaks in that town every two weeks: "Mr. McBride is accounted a strong preacher, and the Baptists are to be congratulated upon securing his services."

 Last Saturday evening, Rev. D. L. McBride joined in wedlock Mr. Frank G. Ives and Miss Jennie Harding of our city. The groom is one of the Burlington's steady freight conductors, recently moved here from Red Cloud, the bride an estimable young lady, sister of Mrs. C. W. Bronson. Prosperity and happiness be their portion.
 Conspicuous success marked the spring opening, Wednesday and Thursday, by J. Albert Wells. There was a large attendance both days, from city and neighboring towns, and Mr. Wells and a numerous clerk contingent were kept busy exhibiting his large and attractive and seasonable stock of goods to those who thronged that handsome emporium of trade.
 Monday evening was a memorable and happy occasion for Norma Noble. It was the 13th anniversary of her birth, and with a large and jolly company of her young friends she celebrated the event with becoming merriment and joy. An elaborate and attractive treat, and games and amusements filled the evening hours full of pleasure to all. Miss Norma received many pretty gifts, which will also in future days call to mind one of the pleasurable events of her youth.
 The household of Smith Gordon of Red Willow precinct has been sadly desolated by death during the past week. Himself and wife and his aged mother were all taken down with pneumonia. On last Thursday the mother, who was advanced in years, died. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon, neither Mr. nor Mrs. Gordon being able to attend. Services were held in the Methodist church. The remains were interred in Longview. But the destroyer was not satisfied. On Tuesday Mr. Gordon succumbed to the disease, and on yesterday afternoon his remains were laid by the side of his mother's in Longview, with Masonic and G. A. A. honors. Services were conducted by H. H. Berry in the M. E. church. A large concourse of brethren and friends attended the remains to their last resting place in the quiet city of the dead. The sad circumstances are intensified by the unbalanced and deplorable condition of the bereaved wife.

BALLOT INSTRUCTIONS.
Forms of Cards of Instructions to Voters Under the New Law.
 Under the new Australian ballot law the voter will be compelled to follow the instructions given below.
 1. Persons desiring to vote must procure their ballots from a member of the election board.
 2. They must then, without leaving the polling place, proceed to a compartment and prepare their ballots.
 3. The ballots are prepared as follows:
 Make a cross mark (X) with ink in the right margin of the ballot opposite the name of each person for whom you wish to vote.
 Be careful that you do not mark the names of the persons for whom you do not wish to vote.
 Do not make any mark on the ballot, save as above directed, or the ballot will not be counted.
 If you spoil a ballot return it to a member of the election board, and obtain from him a new ballot; (you can not get more than four in all) take this to a compartment and mark it properly.
 4. Having marked the ballot, fold it so as to conceal the names and marks on the face, and to expose the names on back.
 5. Take it to the judge of the election before leaving the inclosure and see it deposited in the box.
 6. Immediately leave the railed inclosure.
 7. If you wish to vote for any man whose name does not appear upon the ballot, write or insert his full name in the blank space on the ballot under the proper office you wish him to hold, and make a cross mark in the proper margin opposite the same.
 8. Do not take any ballot from the polling place, you thereby forfeit the right to vote.
 Said cards shall also contain sections twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight and twenty-nine of this act.
ONE YEAR IN CONGRESS.
 Congressmen Laws retired from the service of the people of the Second district, March 4th, 1891, having served a little more than one year. Few congressmen are conspicuous in history. It is the fortune of some to spring into prominence without much occasion. Others worked harder and longer hours; do much more for their constituents in a quiet way, and are hardly heard of. Mr. Laws has not been a conspicuous man in the Fifty-first congress, yet knowing the man, The Democrat believes he has worked hard to do his constituents all the good possible. Mr. Laws is an industrious, conscientious man. There is nothing brilliant about him. What other men can accomplish with a glib tongue, he must accomplish by unremitting toil. Although a shrewd politician he abhorred the methods of the average politician, and this feeling made him disliked by the party politicians of the Second district. Since his election to congress there never was much sympathy between the politicians and Mr. Laws. Mr. Laws' fault in congress was that he blindly followed his party, regardless of every demand in the west. His usual good judgment seemed to have deserted him, and he became the bitter partisan. That's politics, notwithstanding, a disappointment to many of his friends. As register of the U. S. land office at McCook for three years, secretary of state of Nebraska three years and congressman one and a half years, Mr. Laws has made a good record, if not politically considered. In retiring to private life, The Democrat desires to offer its best wishes to him, and in this we believe we are joined by every citizen in the Second district.—Adams County Democrat.

George is the mold of a successful hotel man and has had valuable experience under competent management. THE TRIBUNE wishes him continued success in his southern home, where his sphere is considerably widened and enhanced.

 The executive committee of the Republican Valley Editorial Association met in this city, last Saturday night, when it was decided to hold the next semi-annual meeting of the association at Oxford. The date selected was the first Tuesday in June, and it was thought advisable by the committee to make the session a purely business one. President Stine, of the Superior Journal, was present and reported correspondence with various railway officials relative to a press excursion this year. The most favorable proposition received is from the B. & M., and it is probable that their offer will be accepted and a trip taken to Pike's Peak about the 15th of July.—Oxford Standard.
The Fifth District.
