

But it looks as if it would be in it soon, and the sooner your foot is in one of our $3.50 or $4.00 Shoes the more fortunate it will be. Because we know this shoe, we want you to know it; because it wears as no other shoe will wear, we want you to wear it. It is absolutely the cheapest thing in shoe-leather and there isn't any limit to the satisfaction that it gives. No matter what you pay, you get no better when you get the best—it is a luxury in footwear and not a high-priced luxury at that. It isn't trying to those who try it. Try it.

Wednesday evening two coons, G. H. Miner, of Omaha, and Kid Scotty, of Chicago, engaged in a ten round mill with gloves, in the store room opposite the McEntee House, under the management of A. W. Corey. The Kid was put to sleep in the eighth round. The contestants were seconded by men of color. A large and notable gathering graced the occasion, which is pronounced intensely interesting by those present. Mr. Corey, who is developing into quite a sport himself, expects to make a second appearance with a combination of ebony-hued sluggers, in the opera house, in about two weeks.
The manager of the C. B. & Q. ballast works at Colchester is an enthusiast on the subject of hard roads. Interviewed on the subject by the Colchester Independent man, he said: "Good ballast put on roads to a depth of twelve inches would make a road which with slight and occasional repairs would last for all time. The ballast can in many instances be made from the soil now composing the roadbed, so the bulk of the material is at hand. Its cost would be small. Almost any place it could be delivered and made into road for a dollar and a half a cubic yard. A cubic yard would make one foot, running measure, of a road twenty-seven feet wide. I believe that when better understood clay ballast will be extensively used in this country in city and country permanent road making.—Moumouth (Ill.) Republican.

The social in the Babcock store room, last evening, which was in charge of the gentlemen friends of the Congregational church, had the peculiar charm of being unique in conception and acknowledged cleverness in execution. In fact the gentlemen acquitted themselves handsomely and took in numerous shekels.
Red Willow county's present court house is not suitable for the safe and expeditious transaction of the business of the county. Surely no reasonable voter in the county can object to having a finer, larger, more convenient court house built for the county, free of expense, as McCook guarantees to do, notwithstanding the misrepresentations of our Indianola friends.
In calling the Republican county convention for July 21st the chairman and secretary of the committee deemed it for the best interests of the party that the purpose of the convention be confined to simply electing nine delegates to the state convention of August 4th; and that the county convention for the nomination of a representative, county attorney and commissioner be held later.

St. NICHOLAS Magazine has been getting suggestions from its readers as to a national song. The editor of St. Nicholas suggests that she seek some quiet place and try the effect of mixing the two very cautiously.

In a two column article concerning the county seat removal question, last week, the Indianola Courier does not say one word concerning the $3,600 costs the Indianola commissioners have already saddled onto Red Willow county. An unintentional oversight, no doubt.

The fact that the town of Danbury is in Beaver precinct has in past caused more or less error and confusion in the minds of many, and THE TRIBUNE hears that an effort is contemplated to have the names of Danbury and Beaver precincts exchanged, so that the name of the town and precinct will be the same.

A foundling, a boy baby about two months old, was left on the doorsteps of the Edwards' dwelling, Tuesday night. The infant has been adopted by Peter Segner, a Hitchcock county farmer. Saturday night little Daisy Stoddard, Nebraska's world-beater, entertained a large audience at the Congregational church. Little Daisy is a remarkable elocutionist. There is no question about that. She won the medal by superiority. Wherever she goes she will have large houses, and not only once, but if she goes to the same place the second or third time, she will still have good houses, because her performances possess genuine merit and display extraordinary talent.—York, (Nebraska) Times. A Satisfactory Show.

Together with a well filled purse F. J. Taylor takes with him from McCook the hearty appreciation and distinct applause of the largest afternoon and evening audiences which have ever assembled under his tent. Mr. Taylor puts up a clever show, a performance throughout which goes right to the spot with all his patrons. His first appearance in McCook, last Saturday, was in the nature of an ovation, the outpouring of people at both performances being quite unprecedented both as to number and enthusiasm. Mr. Taylor's show is quite devoid of fakirs and scamps generally. It is a success and gives marked satisfaction to the public. Future appearances in McCook will be given an equally royal and gratifying reception.

Camp Meeting.

A camp meeting will be held at Curtis, Nebraska, Aug. 9th to 15th, under the auspices of the S. D. Adventist conference. This meeting bids fair to be the largest ever held in this section of the state. Representatives from southwestern Nebraska, from Hastings and Red Cloud on the east, to Colorado line on the west, are expected to be in attendance. The meetings are to be held in a beautiful grove just south of the lake. Preaching three times each day. A general invitation is extended to the public. There will be small tents for the accommodation of all wish to camp on the grounds.

Willow Grove Primary.

The Republican electors of Willow Grove precinct will meet in the city hall, Tuesday evening, July 19th 1892, at eight o'clock, central time, for the purpose of electing twenty-four delegates to the Republican convention to be held in Indianola, Nebraska, July 21st, 1892; also for the transaction of any other business which may properly come before the primary.
