The chair stated that the central committee had recommended Mat Gering of Cass for temporary chairman and H. E. Gatewood of Dawson and Kelly yards. Then he searched for secretary. .

Chairman Gering and Secretary Gatewood were escorted to the chair by a committee comprising Milton Doolittle and F. E. White. The former expressed his thanks for the distinction conferred upon him and bespoke the charity of the convention for any errors he might make. His announcement that the action of the when he sent men to search the yard convention would be "a refutation, a he also sent men to search the cellar. falsification of the foul insinuation Nothing was delivered to him as the that his body of representative men contemplates an abandonment of their principles to the unholy doctrine of coalition and political hybridism," was cheered. He eulogized Grover Cleveland as the Spartan, the Cincinnatus, and built an elegant structure upon the axiom that public office is a public regard to the attempt to purchase

S. S. Alley of Saline moved the appointment of a committee on credentials. The motion prevailed and the chair appointed the following: S. S. Alley of Saline, Julius Meyer of Douglas, Dan Cook of Gage, Judge Patterson of Sheridan and James Hubbell of Jefferson.

At this point J. Sterling Morton arose and said he had a paper to read to the convention. He was called to the platform and in a distinct manner read a beautiful tribute to A. J. Poppleton, of Douglas, who is bereft of his eye-sight.

A motion to adjourn to meet at 2:30 was then put and carried.

Wolbach and after a number had seconded Morton's . nomination Boydston of Otoe said he had been authorized to withdraw Mr. Ireland's name should it be presented. He wished to do so. A motion to nominate Morton by acclamation prevailed.

There were cries for Morton. The chair appointed Brown of Douglas and Gering of Cass to escort him to the platform.

J. STERLING MORTON LIZZIE BORDEN'S DEFENSE.

Its Close. FALL RIVER, Mass., Sent 1 .- The general opinion to-day is that the preliminary hearing in the Borden double morder case will end to-day, and that Lizzie Borden, the daughter, will be held for the horrible crimes.

When court opened at 10 o'clock, Lizzie and her counsel were not in their seats and it was not until ten minutes later that the accused appeared, leaning on the arm of the Rev. J. N. Buck bearing on her face the same look of stolcal indifference which had characterized her heretofore.

The first witness for the defence was Marshal Hilliard, who said that his attention was called to the murder at 11:15 a. m., August 4. He sent Officer Allen to the house but did not go there Medley, Dillon, Wilson and others whose names he could not remember. When witness went he went with some men to search the barn and yards in that vicinity, but knew about the matter only from what he had been told by Medley and he thought Riley Medley was absent, being sent on a trip by the It was four minutes after 11 o'clock Rev. Mr. Buck, who had furnished to state what. He went to the back of the yard where the lumber was. After a thorough examination had been made of the hay in the barn and looked over into the Chagnon, Crowe premises thoroughly. He saw no other officer in the house when he went in (this was about 4 o'clock). He saw Drs. Dolan, Coughlin, Peckham, Dutra and Tourtello, but was not positive whether Dr. Bowen was there or not. They were then in the room where Mr. Borden's body lay and were in consultation. He spoke to Dr. Dolan about the matter. He looked at the sofa but could not say whether any part of it was cut nor could he tell whether there was any blood spots on the head of it. There were blood spots on the parlor door, but he did not notice the chair. He made no search of the house but > result of the search that afternoon. The state's case against Lizzie Borden closed yesterday afternoon with the presentation of the notes of Annie M. White, the official stenographer at the inquest. Then Mr. Adams, for the defense, moved to strike out the testimony in prussic acid. The court refused to make the order at the time.

Dr. W. S. Bowen, for the de testified that Lizzie first told him that Borden called on him the day before the tragedy and told him she feared that she herself, Mr. Borden and Lizzie had been poisoned the day before. It is claimed by those who followed the state's case, as made out, that the testimony of Prof. Wood of Harvard, while seemingly favorable to Lizzie, so far as the blood matter was concerned, was equally against her as establishing the fact that the times she was seen in the house were almost identical with the times of the mur-

Where the Fashions Come From.

Fashion is called a "fickle jade"-and yet nearly every style is designed with some special object in view. Often the manufacturer has created some new material which be intends to place before the merchant; to make the best impression possible he has samples of the new material placed with some of the best modists whose special designers will study the goods, its color and texture, and its com-bination with other colors and materials. While experimenting with the material they create some new style to attract attention; these designs are reproduced in colored plates and sent to all prominent dealers to give them an idea of the value of the new material. If these styles are liked they become the fashion. Sometimes a dress made for some leading artist, who has to dress as well as act the character in the play is often so beautiful or unique as to cause a sensation, and immedi ately becomes all the rage Most large establishments in Paris have special artists who furnish them each month with a certain number of new styles sonable for the season and the new materials. From these the best are selected and the garment made up accordingly,

The reason La Mode de Paris Paris Album of Fashion and La Couturiere gives the earliest styles and those that are reliable is because they are the very fountain head of fashion and know just what is going to be popular. When you get a fashion journal get one upon which you can depend for correct ideas of style and material, for remember if you wish to show correct and good taste your-self you wish to study those styles which are artistic and reliable. If you wish to keep up these styles we advise you to subscribe for La Mode de Paris, $3.50 per year, or Paris Alhum of Fashion, $3.50 per year. These are the most artistic fashion journals published. La Conturiere is a fine home journal for $3.00 per year and La Mode is only $1.50 per year. You can generally get single copies from your newsdealer, but do not allow him to give you some other journal for one of these. You can get them if you write to the publishers. Messrs. A.
