

OUTING SHOES.

It long ago seemed as though shoes could never be better and never be cheaper, but they are better now and cheaper now than they ever were before.

Financially, the election day dinner and oyster supper by the Dorcas Society cannot properly be called a vociferous success. There was lots of work, some fun perhaps, and a small addition to the church building fund, however.

That the railroad companies anticipate an enormous increase of business next year is shown by the fact that the Pennsylvania has ordered forty-five new freight locomotives and is to place orders for 5,000 new freight and passenger cars. Other roads are also making preparations for a greatly augmented traffic.

Life insurance companies announce that women are becoming policy holders in large numbers and to great amounts, especially in the tontine and endowment classes, so that they may provide for old age. This interest of women in insurance foreshadows the advent of the irrepressible female insurance agent.

STRAYED—From the old Starbuck farm east of McCook, two 2-year-old heifers—one red with white face and the other black with white face; two yearling heifers—one black and white and the other red and white; one yearling bull—red in color. A suitable reward will be paid for their recovery. H. J. HANSEN. Box Elder, Neb., Nov. 2, 1892.

The power of ashes to absorb heat is not appreciated or so many housekeepers would not so uniformly allow their servants to empty the ashes. A stove that is kept free from ashes and soot not only burns better, but gives out more heat for the amount of fire. A mass of ashes under a grate absorbs a large amount of heat, and for this reason, if not for the sake of neatness, the ashes should be removed systematically every day. A bright stove sends out far more heat than a dull one. So it is not only a matter of appearance, but a matter of use to keep the kitchen stove shining and polished as well as free from ashes.

It was a quiet election, some drunkenness, democrats active as beavers, and republicans dull as snails; and the result something of a disappointment and surprise.

The vote of this precinct fell largely below expectations, being due partially to the stormy weather, and in a measure to the absence of train men, and not a little perhaps to apparent republican lethargy.

In the destruction of that hotel in (McCook) Nebraska, in consequence of the explosion of a coffee urn the dietetic reformer will find another strong argument. Coffee is dangerous. Shun the flowing cup.—Chicago Tribune.

John A. Botzum, who is walking around the world, is expected to arrive in McCook tomorrow, and will probably deliver a free lecture here. He is a fluent and interesting talker, it is said, and in his travels has picked up a large fund of entertaining information.

Diphtheria claimed Lizzie, the 13-year-old daughter of Henry Adams of the south side, Tuesday night. The remains were buried in Vailton cemetery, Wednesday. This makes the second death by diphtheria in that family within the past two months. Henry, another son, is down with the disease.

Here is a simple exercise to reduce hip measurement. Just try it an hour a day for two months and see if its effects are not magical. Hunt up a solid box that will raise you two or three inches from the floor. Stand firmly on right foot, hands on hips, with the left knee stiff, slowly swing the left leg from the hip backward and forward, not bending at the waist. Reverse the movement, standing on left foot. Not only that, but the feeling of freedom as you walk, which is naturally resultant, will be one added joy to living.

Diphtheria is reported as being quite prevalent in the country, with a few cases in the city.

It took 125 extra copies to appease the popular demand for last week's issue of THE TRIBUNE.

Meeting of the Society of the Army of Tennessee, St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 17. One and a third rate for the round trip. Tickets on sale Nov. 14 to 17 inclusive.

It is a disgrace to this city that such gross wantonness should be allowed daily to parade its hideous self so flauntingly in the face of virtue and youth.

There was the usual betting on election results, and the liquidation period will be none the less painful now. Lost bets are harder to pay than dead horses.

Cards are out announcing the nuptials of Mr. Alex Weaver and Miss Matie Russell, which will take place on next Wednesday evening, at residence of Mr. S. H. Colvin.

Many a man who has allowed his feelings to get away with his judgment regrets it now when he sees his hard earned cash going into some other person's pocket. Betting among millionaires is all right, but the average American should keep out of it.

THE TRIBUNE takes somewhat of pleasure in stating officially that Stephen A. Bolles is not elected commissioner of the Third district. The announcement that he would be, in last week's Times-Democrat, was innocent and well-intentioned, but not strictly official and correct. The plain and unadorned fact is that our friend Bolles has been turned down.

An extensive prairie fire prevailed southwest of the city, Sunday afternoon and night, during the high wind, coming into the state from Colorado and passing away into Kansas. The southwestern part of Red Willow county was doubtless visited, but we have not learned as to whether or not any considerable damage was occasioned. It traveled with marvelous speed before the prevailing gale.

A young man by the name of John Small, about 25 years of age, died at Heafy's boarding house, Wednesday morning, from pneumonia, after a brief illness. The remains were buried in Longview cemetery, the same afternoon, the expense of the same being paid by the county. He worked in the mill a short time, but before being taken down with the illness which caused his death was employed on the section. Has no relatives hereabouts.

A new alloy resembling gold is reported from Germany. It is less costly than most alloys of the kind, consisting of about 100 parts of copper, and 6 of antimony, which to prevent porosity, are melted in the presence of a little charcoal, magnesium and calspar. The alloy remains unchanged in the air, even when exposed to amoniacal or acid vapors. It can be rolled, beaten, hammered and soldered, like gold, and its solidity is much greater.

It is not the high price but the unreasonable advance from a price that was always high that agitates the western consumer of anthracite coal. Human nature is the same the world over, for the anthracite consumers in eastern cities are complaining as bitterly about paying $5.50 per ton as the McCook people do about paying $12 per ton. They feel the burden of the increased price just the same and are even more vigorous in their denunciation of the robbery than the people of the west who pay twice as much.

We are informed of the publication of a novelty in the book line which is certain of an enormous sale. This book is "Glimpses of the World. A Portfolio of Photographs" prepared under the supervision of the great traveler and lecturer—John L. Stoddard. It contains photographic news of famous scenes and places in all parts of the world. Every view is fully described. As an educator it is invaluable. It contains 550 pages, and nearly 275 views, and is sold by subscription at popular prices. The R. S. Peale Co., Chicago, are the publishers and they desire an agent in this locality. They will gladly mail descriptive circulars, sample views and terms to all, on application.

GOOD ROADS.

As has been intimated THE TRIBUNE proposes to throw whatever influence it may have in favor of good roads. There is no question of public economy that addresses itself to the whole people of this state and country with more force than that of good public roads, but they only follow the passage of general laws on that subject. Every citizen is interested in good roads, whether it be the rich man in his easy-cushioned carriage, or the poor man who hauls the products of his little farm to market in a cart.

In this connection we are glad to see that at the city of Chicago, where so many great and good things are now being done, a few days ago, a league for roads was organized. The officers and managers of the league are among the wealthiest and most influential men in this country and represent all sections of the union. The object of the league is to promote the building of good, permanent roads all over the land, by discussion of the best means for reaching that end, and the procurement of the passage of laws to enforce them. The league for roads will also publish a magazine, to be called Good Roads, by which it proposes to arouse and keep up a sentiment in that direction. Of course good roads everywhere cannot be the growth of a day; but it is certainly time a beginning was made. There is no object for which taxes ought to be more promptly and cheerfully paid to by all classes.

Franklin Academy.

Students and friends of the Franklin academy will be pleased to learn that the State University, of Nebraska, has placed the academy first in its list of accredited schools, thus giving it first rank among the preparatory schools of the state. This school is at the front in all lines of work and we advise all young people to investigate and find out what it can offer them before going elsewhere. The fall term begins September 13th. Send for catalogue and information to ALEXIS C. HART, Franklin, Nebraska.

The Best Yet.

The Omaha Weekly Bee for the balance of the year, with a large colored lithograph of President Harrison, will be sent to any address in this country for 25 cents. This elegant picture is the best likeness of the President published in any art store. Don't miss this chance, but send in your order at once. THE BEE PUBLISHING CO., Omaha, Neb.

Sweetest in the World.

It is fully demonstrated that Nebraska soil can produce the sweetest sugar beets in the world. Other figures show that Nebraska is capable of raising the beets and manufacturing all the sugar needed in the United States and still have room to raise the largest and fattest hogs raised anywhere.

Horses for Sale.

Wayson & Odell keep horses for sale at their livery barn opposite the Central hotel.

Minnier's barber shop building is being moved onto the lot immediately joining its present location on the north.

School Law Decisions.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Goudy has "handed down" the following decisions upon questions of school law:

"An appointee's term expiring at the beginning of the school year and no election having taken place to fill his place, a vacancy occurs.

"Sections 4, 152-6 of the consolidated statutes provide for the issuance of school district bonds in payment of indebtedness that has been compromised in accordance with the provisions of said section. Said compromise bonds are issued by the district board on petition of two-thirds of the resident taxpayers of the district.

"Two members of the board in a primary district may, upon petition of two-thirds of the voters of the district, employ the third member of such board as teacher of the school of the district.

"A boy of 17 years whose parents reside in another state is, by the permission of his parents, making his home in this state for the purpose of remaining with an acquaintance until he attains his majority, and who is in the meantime to learn the trade of carpenter, is, to all intents and purposes, a resident of Nebraska and so entitled to free tuition in the district in which he lives."

Warmed Over Dishes.

From the St. Louis Republic. Don't let the family get a contempt for warmed over dishes. When you do get up such a dish, be sure to make it so good that no fault whatever may be found with it; and do not have too many dishes of this kind of this class, try to cook enough and just enough, but should there be a little left, make good use of it.

In the first of these series we will tell one way of using up the bit of hash that was left from breakfast. Let us suppose there was only a spoonful or two left, not enough for another meal or to combine with other meat for the next breakfast. If it was chicken, or corned beef, hashed with potatoes and not chopped so very fine, chop till quite fine and mix with a little mayonnaise dressing. Now spread it between thin slices of buttered bread and you have a few sandwiches to serve for supper to vary bread and butter. Some of the family are sure to be fond of sandwiches. If the hash was well made and the sandwiches put up in good form one will ever guess that they were made from the hash that was left over.

If there is a lunch to be put up for anyone you can give them occasionally a sandwich of this kind without buying meat for that purpose alone.

There is really no reason to doubt that next year will be one of the greatest years in the history of McCook building. Buildings already projected are both large and numerous and the example thus set will no doubt be contagious.

The silver lining to our sombre clouds is the election of Colonel Horace H. Easterday, the urbane, genial and clever all-around grain merchant prince, to the road overseership of several districts in this section. Thus the country is safe.

A strict regard for the truth impels us to the tearful admission that we are not in it—unless cruel reference is made to the consommé.

The county commissioners will be in session on Monday next, November 14.
