SHOOTING.

We were a witness sometime ago to a sample of the outrage which farmers are subjected at this season of the year. While walking with the proprietor of a herd of thoroughbred cattle we found a $50 calf shot and wounded by hunters. "This," said the proprietor of the herd, "is but another instance of vandalism that has been growing very rapidly. I have lost animals like this before. I have lost one horse by being shot outright and several by being run into fences by these troupes of marauders." This is but one instance of many within the knowledge of the writer in his own neighborhood. We have had fine horses run into wire fences and permanently injured by the discharge of fire arms in pastures. On the approach of Thanksgiving these hunters from towns and villages will take charge of farming communities and, with wire nippers to remove staples in wire fences, become a law unto themselves. The scant hunting territory areas are becoming positively dangerous for man and beast. It is high time that this hunting nuisance should be abated. Farmers in different neighborhoods should combine and put the law in force against any man that trespasses upon their property without permission for hunting. If the present laws are not sufficient, farmers should see to it at the very first meeting of the legislature of their state, that a law is enacted that gives them full and complete power to stop the practice of hunting on their property without their consent. The west has become a civilized country and no longer a paradise for hunters. Farmers in the eastern states do not stand any of this kind of nonsense, nor submit to the loss which western farmers endure.

The Strongest Man Living.

From Harper's Young People.

There have been many Samsons in the world, although none so famous as he who carried the city's gates upon his shoulders, and demolished a temple by pushing down the stone pillars that supported its roof. The strongest man now before the public is giving exhibitions of his muscular power in England.

He is a Prussian named Sandow, is 25 years old and has served in the German army. He has been very strong as long as he can remember, and as a boy was more than a match for all his schoolmates put together. His body and limbs are corrugated with muscles which are said to be as hard and smooth as marble. Although he measures fifty-two inches around the chest he has a small waist. One of his feats is to lift a dumbbell, in the hollow ends of which men are concealed, and hold it high above his head with one hand. This weight is not less than 250 pounds. With his face upturned and a board across his chest and knees Sandow rests upon his hands and feet and supports two ponies, which seesaw upon a plank crossing his body. This is his most difficult feat and the boy who merely supports his own body reclining backward on all fours for five minutes will begin to see how hard it is.

NOBLE, Purveyor to the Great Common People, is now exhibiting about the handsomest and largest assortment of plain and fancy lamps to be seen in Southwestern Nebraska.

If the next legislature fails of great performance, and parenthetically we believe it will, it will not be for lack of advice, sage and otherwise, offered in adult doses by the press; who are never unmindful of this prerogative.

Cloth is fast becoming the favored material for hats. The quality employed is very fine, with an almost satin-like finish, which is certainly prettier than felt, besides offering a larger range of colors. Among the soft shades are those of gray, pink, heliotrope and Nile. There are many beautiful shades of green, red and brown. White cloth combined with sable is, of course, very elegant. Velvet is also used to an unprecedented extent. Whole hats are frequently composed of it, but a trifle more popular are those having soft full crowns of velvet attached to brims of cloth or embroidery. It is a mistake to think flowers are not allowed on winter hats.

THE even balance of the three parties in Nebraska two years ago has been paralleled by the results of the election in South Dakota in November. The vote stood for Cleveland 17,527, for Weaver 17,360 and for Harrison 17,354. The New York World thereupon joyfully proclaims that the majority against Harrison was 17,000. Well that was about the size of the majority against Weaver and the majority against Cleveland, so honors are comparatively easy. But the reaction has already commenced in the populist states and a year hence it will matter little what the vote last November was.—Journal.

The laws of health are taught in our schools; but not in a way to be of much practical benefit and are never illustrated by living examples, which in many cases could easily be done. If some scholar, who had contracted a cold was brought before the school, so that all could hear the dry loud cough, and know its significance; see the thin white coating on the tongue and later, as the cold develops, see the profuse watery expectoration and thin watery discharge from the nose, not one of them would ever forget what the first symptoms of a cold were. The scholar should be given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely, that all might see that even a severe cold could be cured in one or two days, or at least greatly mitigated, when properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear. For sale by G. M. Cheney.

This is a great county. A smoker can make a nuisance of himself on a street car platform for a nickle.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had to cough up the gathering in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and vomited; then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merits of this wonderful medicine.—CHAS. A. THOMPSON, Des Moines, Iowa.—50 cent bottles for sale by G. M. Cheney.

Some of the most disappointed people in the judgment will be those who could have had more religion, but thought they had enough.
