Fortunes in Small Farms.

Mr. George Heet of Wellfleet, who has already had something to say to the farmers about the possibilities of Nebraska soil which they are neglecting, brought to the Journal yesterday some samples of onions and potatoes raised under irrigation in Lincoln county. The onions he raised himself, harvesting just 375 bushels from half an acre. His neighbor, C. A. Glaze, pumped water from a well with a windmill, and had the satisfaction of digging 440 bushels of fine potatoes from a single acre. Mr. Heet put water on five acres and made $1,000 by the operation, last season. His neighbor is preparing to irrigate his whole farm by the windmill method. The cost will not exceed $50 an acre, and he estimates that he can make money if his plants cost as much as $50 an acre.

The windmill is bringing about a new dispensation in Lincoln county. The farmers who have had the enterprise and "tability to stick through the bad seasons of the last three years now feel that they have their feet firmly planted on the road to prosperity. They have the richest soil in the world. They have an ideal climate. It has been demonstrated again and again in the last two years that five acres under irrigation will support a family, that ten acres will give a comfortable income, and that a small field of alfalfa, a herd of stock, and ten acres under water will in a few years yield a competence.

The experience in Lincoln county is the experience of practically every county in western Nebraska. Everywhere the gospel of alfalfa is being preached by big fields and big stacks of alfalfa. Everywhere windmills are furnishing water for small fields of grain and vegetables. Wherever alfalfa has gained a foothold and wherever irrigation has been given a fair trial one finds farmers who have no question about the future of their part of the state.—State Journal.

The A. P. A. Lecture.

The Methodist church was unequal to the demands made upon its seating capacity, Saturday evening, by those desirous of hearing the lecture delivered on that occasion by J. H. D. Stevens of Ironwood, Mich., member of the executive committee of the association. Not only was the speaker's audience large, but it was enthusiastic and sympathetic, many of the most radical utterances being echoed to the echo.

We are advised that the speech throughout was of a characteristic sort—nothing new being offered of a startling nature. W. E. Jones, ex-state secretary, was also here. Both were accompanied by their wives. After the lecture a large meeting was held in their hall till the small hours.

To California in a Tourist Sleeper.

The Burlington Route personally conducted once-a-week excursions to Colorado, Utah and California are just the things for people of moderate means. Cheap, respectable, comfortable, expeditious. They leave Omaha every Thursday and go through, without change, to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The tourist sleepers in which excursionists travel are carpeted, upholstered in raton and have spring seats, spring backs, mattresses, blankets, curtains, pillows, etc. Only $5 for a double berth, wide enough and big enough for two. The route lies through Denver, Colorado Springs, the wonderful canyons and peaks of the Rockies, Salt Lake and Sacramento. For rates and also for illustrated folder giving full information, call on the nearest agent of the Burlington Route or write to J. Francis, G. P. & T. A., Omaha, Neb.

Not a few who read what Mr. Robert Rowles of Hollands, Va. has to say below, will remember their own experience under like circumstances: "Last winter I had a gripe which left me in a low state of health. Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. KIRCHHOFF,
Corway, Ark.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
