Daily train service was commenced on the Imperial line, Thursday morning. This will be appreciated by the patrons of the branch. Increased business made this action of the company necessary.

The whistle of a locomotive can be heard 3,000 yards, the noise of a train in 3,800 yards, the report of a musket and the bark of a dog 1,000 yards, the roll of a drum 1,000 yards, the croak of a frog 800 yards, the chirp of a cricket 300 yards, a dinner bell two miles and a call to get up in the morning 3 feet 7 inches.

THE ORLEANS-ST. FRANCIS BRANCH.

Orleans, Neb., July 7. Special.—A general rain all along this branch, July 3d, and a heavy rain, July 5th, is the record of last week.

All crops are in best possible condition. Corn has made remarkable growth and is generally clean. It is a full stand this year, of good color, prospects first class. Winter wheat is being harvested; yield and acreage heavy, quality good. The late rains have insured spring wheat and oats. Alfalfa soon ready for second crop. Farmers are happy. Wheat all insured, and corn prospects remarkable.

The Beaver Valley and tributary territory presents, today, with the golden sheaves dotting the stubble fields and waving grain waiting for the reaper, vast areas of dark green corn, purpling alfalfa, ripening grain, the serpentine fringe of emerald foliage skirting the valley, a picture that would please the most severe critic. It is a panorama of scenic beauty unsurpassed in this or any other country.

Fifty binders were bought at Atwood the 4th. Car load after car load of headers have been sold at Herndon and Atwood to the farmers. North of Lindell, Atwood and Herndon, tens of thousands of acres of winter wheat will yield from 30 to 40 bushels per acre. This was put in with press drills on clean land and there are fields, with well filled heads, so thick and even that one could place his hat on the top. Some farmers have from 500 to 1500 acres of this peerless wheat.

The glorious 4th was spent most joyfully this year. First, for Sampson's matchless victory and the boundless pride we have for our brave sailors and soldiers. Second, for the splendid crops and soaking rains. Third, for the day itself, for we are today, one country, one people, with one flag and a genuine American president. The crossed swords of Lee and Grant are garlanded with flowers of peace, and future generations will love to remember the dates of 1776 and 1898, Independence and united country.

C. A. Ward arrived home, last Saturday morning, from his visit in the east.

Payments on State Lands.

Land Commissioner Wolfe will instruct county treasurers to require purchasers of school lands to pay interest up to next January when a payment of principal is tendered. This ruling is based on an opinion given by Attorney-General Smyth. It is the interpretation of the attorney-general and will be enforced, though it is considered not only a hardship, but unfair to purchasers. A section of the new school land law withdrawing lands from sale contains the following: "Any person who has purchased land heretofore may at any time pay any portion of the principal thereon to the county treasurer of the county in which the land is situated, provided, that the interest has been paid up to January 1, following."

According to the view of the attorney-general if a purchaser tendered payment of principal in the month of July he would be allowed to do so provided he paid the interest to next January. Many purchasers are now prepared to pay for their land, but they object to paying interest for six months in advance to secure that privilege. Land Commissioner Wolfe will embody the opinion of the attorney-general in a circular letter to county treasurers, but he does not care to let the public know anything about the new ruling. He desires to keep the information for county treasurers alone. Formerly there was an act which empowered treasurers to credit interest on the principal when such interest had been paid in advance and the purchaser desired to pay up in full. This act was repealed by the last legislature.—Journal.
