DANBURY.

Steps have been taken for the erection of the town hall.

J. C. Ashton is building a large barn and granary, this week.

John Leisure will try feeding a number of cattle this winter.

Ed. Eno and Chas. VanPelt took in the exposition last week.

A steam merry-go-round tempted the stray nickels here, last week.

E. E. Hayes is putting up a frame residence in the south part of town.

Chas. Wishon is building a frame house on the south part of his farm.

P. Lehn rode a goat in the M. W. of A. lodge, Saturday night of last week.

Thirty-six people from this point took in the exposition, Woodmen's Day, at Omaha.

Thomas Musgrave, who has been sick for the past two weeks, is again able to be around.

Powell & Nilsson shipped 300 head of fat hogs to Omaha and Kansas City, Wednesday.

A number of the old settlers from this vicinity took in the reunion at McCook, last week.

Dr. W. A. DeMay and family started for Michigan, last Saturday, for a month's visit at home. O. B. Woods is running his drug store during his absence.

RED WILLOW.

A. C. Black's little ones are ill with scarletina.

Charlie Byfield visited his parents, Sunday. He says he enjoys teaching very much.

J. F. Helm is putting in a large area of wheat this fall. Many others will follow his example.

Louis Longnecker is very poorly yet and his parents and friends are hopeful that he may get an extension of furlough.

Mrs. Wm. Byfield returned from the Omaha exposition, Monday evening of last week, having spent an enjoyable week among the chicken cranks—so called.

It is nearly two weeks since Mrs. Helm was thrown from her buggy, sustaining a severe shaking up and a broken collar bone. She is now fairly on the road to recovery.

Few men in this country are better or more favorably known to the drug and medicine trade than Mr. E. J. Schall, buyer in the proprietary medicine department of the Meyer Bros. Drug Co., St. Louis. He says: "My boy came home from school with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain. I dressed the wound and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely; all pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time, it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism, I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." Sold by L. W. McConnell & Co.

KINGHORN IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Manila, August 22, 1898.

Dear Parents: We arrived in town the 13th of August as I suppose you have read in the papers already. We have been put in an old warehouse as barracks for the present. I think we will be home by cold weather or perhaps before the exhibition closes. We may start in time for this letter to follow us across on the boat. The China has gone to Hong Kong for orders and is expected back by the 27th of this month, and then we will know what is going to happen.

The company I am in hasn't lost a man yet, and there were only nineteen killed and thirty wounded, all told. The Spaniards fight after night, but we were ready for them and got 500 of them, so a Spaniard told us yesterday. They came at us about 10 a. m. and we let them get up close and commenced on them with rifles of the Springfield and Krag-Jorgenson patterns; no cannon were used at all. We lost two killed and two hurt the night we were out. It was about the 6th or 7th of this month and we are all right now.

The fourth expedition of 5,000 troops came in yesterday so there are plenty of us here now. The Spaniards are O. K. and as quiet as any body can wish. They thought we would use them pretty rough but they were fooled as they chase around over town without their arms and the boys treat them better than they do the natives. It makes the natives mad and they go after the Chinamen and raise thunder with them once in a while, and we have to run some of them in every day or two. The kids are the worst of the natives. They steal the fruit and stuff the Chinamen are selling on the streets. They gather around him and he will start to leave and one will grab the basket and yank it; he will reach for that fellow and the others will upset the stuff on the sidewalk and run.

There are more Chinamen here than any other class of people. The town is an old one and covers a large territory. It has 50,000 Chinese and some English, Dutch, French and all other kinds. There was only one American here before we came, but there are a few more now.

Well, I will have to close pretty soon as I have my gun to clean and fix up and have to write to my best girl and find out what is the matter with her as I haven't heard from her since we left Frisco. I got a letter from you the morning we got to camp after the night we had the scrap in the trenches. I lost the letter but remember getting it. There was a shell burst about thirty feet from me that night but it hurt nobody as it was too high.

I have a few relics which I have got here that I will try to get home with. I have the skin of a sea horse all in good shape which I got of a native kid, a watch, some shells and a few other things; also a vase which I picked up in a house at the Spanish breast-works one day when we were up there.

September 24th. We hear so many reports that we are going home that I quit writing for a day or two. I was on guard last night and am sleepy today, but there is too much racket to sleep so I will try to write awhile. I am feeling very good now as we are in the town. I suppose you have read the account before this so I won't tell much about it. We had been on outpost duty for twenty-four hours and started for camp when we got orders to take four days' rations and 200 rounds of ammunition and go back to the trenches. Before we got back Dewey started on the walls and we saw a white flag up and we came in easy only we were tired. We never fired a shot that day nor while on outpost duty the day before. I can tell it easier than I can write it. I haven't been around the town much yet, but if reports are true we may stay here six months or more and may be we will follow this letter home; there is no telling. I am ready to start any time now.

You ought to see me while I am writing this. I have on a sailor shirt which looks pretty nobby. It's a size too small for me, but that is all right; I can fit it if I try. We got some stuff out of a Spanish officer's rooms and this shirt is one thing we got. I borrowed it to wear while I get my blue shirt washed. We expect to start for home before the 15th of September, and if not then not before six months, so I am going on every day the same, taking care of today and letting tomorrow bring what it will.

There are coal, gold, silver and lead mines on these islands, but they haven't been worked for three years. Business is booming now but stores have been closed for three or four years, so we can see quite a change since we came to town.

They are raising Spain's submarine fleet (as Dewey calls it) out of the river or channel where the boats come in. They blew two all to pieces yesterday, and a third which the dons burnt and sunk they will raise. Then there are several steam launches they sunk after we came that Dewey is going to raise. They have a wrecking machine and two dredges here, and Dewey is using them.

We are quartered in a warehouse with the third battalion and we are not crowded either. We are partitioned off with bales of manila tow. The boys are nearly all in good health. I would not stay in this country twenty-four hours if I could get away.

I have received your letter of July 13th. I am all right and got over here in good shape. There never was a trip made across the Pacific that was smoother, and the seamen said they had never seen a better trip. We had one squall and that is all the rough sea we had. Thanks for the flowers. I have described the country pretty well except that it is mountainous and good for mining and fruit-raising.

They won't let us go out of town on account of the natives raising thunder to get in with their arms, but Dewey is taking their arms away from them as fast as he can. As for myself I carry fifty rounds of ammunition and a Springfield rifle on guard most of the time. We are on every fourth day as we have a district to guard and the third battalion has it, too. We are stationed all over the city.

I heard from my girl the same time your letter got here and am feeling pretty good now. I got a clipping from a paper about me which she sent giving me quite a blowout. I got some pictures of her along with the rest. I would have some taken here, but they cost $10 a dozen so I won't have any. It is so warm that I am sweating pretty freely. I am just about the same weight, 180.

We drill once a day except Saturdays and Sundays and then we loaf. Saturdays we have inspection and Sundays we don't do anything after church at 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. As far as being civilized is concerned, the natives are about like the American Indians. They are wilder farther out from shore or towns around the bay. They are trying to get into Cavite every night, but they can't make it as the U. S. boys are too wide awake for them. They say they want to give up their guns and want to fight, and they will get it if they don't look out as Dewey has some rapid fire guns on two or three steam launches which burn around the bay.

The bay is about eight miles wide by twelve long, with rivers or inlets everywhere around the sides. The main stream runs through Manila and is fed by a lake about fifteen miles from the bay. This country looks about like Studley's pictures of Africa. The towns and buildings are Chinese in design, they forming the principal part of the population.

The boys of this company were a sleepy lot when the sergeant called out "Mail," but everybody was awake and up in two seconds. I saw Steve Bolles in Frisco but I haven't found Art Ingles yet, though I have heard the name several times at roll call.

I will have to close and mail this as the boat starts at 4 p. m. and it is 1 now and the boys are waiting for the mail from us. Goodbye, and may God be with us and keep us from harm till the end. Your loving son,

F. KINGHORN,
Co. M, 1st Reg't. Neb. Vols.
