SAUNDERS county, in eastern Nebraska, was visited by a tornado, close of week past, doing considerable material damage and injuring one child.

DEWEY DAY, May 1st, was celebrated in the larger cities of the land, Monday, with considerable eclat, appropriately commemorating a great deed and honoring a great man. All hail, Admiral Dewey!

WOULD Professor Laughlin have had our troops retire before the advance of an ambitious, bribetaking, cruel adventurer, or what course would he have pursued? He proposes none. He simply indulges in some disgraceful, unpatriotic, treasonable declarations like these: "The flag there does not protect those over whom it floats. It is there the emblem of tyranny and butchery." It is a striking evidence of the toleration, not to say license, which is granted to free speech in this country when a man connected with one of the great universities of the country can stand before an audience and utter such shameful and disgraceful slander of his own country, and offer such insult to the flag which protects him and all others like him in the liberties which they abuse. Professor Laughlin knows as well as he knows that the flag is in the Philippines, that it is there not as the emblem of tyranny and butchery; that it does "protect those over whom it floats," and that it will continue to do so.—Minneapolis Journal.

A fierce prairie fire burning in the flats on the northern tier of counties, ten miles north of Cambridge, Saturday, passed into the track of a tornado, was swept across Gosper county for twenty-five miles, destroying everything in its path. The only lives lost as far as known were those of Mrs. Rolla Livingston and her five-year-old boy. The woman saw the fire coming and ran to a pasture to release the family stock. The boy followed her. Both was knocked down by the terrified animals. The fire reached them before they could get out of the way. The body of the boy was almost consumed and Mrs. Livingston lived but a few hours. A great many cattle were overtaken and burned. A large number of farm houses were destroyed and the families escaped by seeking refuge beyond the track of the storm. The path of the storm was nearly one mile wide.

Whooping Cough.

I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. Moore, South Burgettstown, Pa. For sale by McConnell.
