Banking a Japanese.

"J. P. G." was only an enlisted man in Uncle Sam's navy, but his messmates called him "the Swell" because whenever he went ashore he carried a suit of civilian's clothes. At Yokohama, in his fine raiment and a white felt hat, he passed himself off to a Japanese coal merchant as the paymaster of the fleet and contracted for several thousand tons of coal. The price named was $14 a ton.

"What is my rake off?" he asked the dealer, who offered a generous commission. "Make the price sixteen dollars a ton and have — thousand tons ready for delivery at the earliest possible hour tomorrow morning," he said.

The merchant opened wine, and when thoroughly warmed up the sailor remarked, looking indolently at his watch: "By the bye, I'm expected to visit the club tonight, and it is probable that I may need a little more money than I have in my pocket. Perhaps you had better advance me three or four thousand dollars on account."

Of course he got what he wanted. Next morning the vessels were surrounded with scores of barges laden with coal, and it was all the officers could do to prevent the Japs from unloading their cargoes. The dealer dared say nothing, for he had entered into a conspiracy to defraud the government, so he pocketed his loss in silence.—New York Press.

Now They Never Speak.

A coolness growing out of the following conversation has sprung up between Jones and Smith.

"I had a splendid time last night," said Jones. "I spent the evening at a little social gathering at the Goodman mansion."

"Are the Goodmans nice people?" queried Smith.

"Well, I should say so. They are very aristocratic. To get into their circle one must have either a great deal of money or a great deal of genius."

"You don't tell me so? And you say you were there?"

"Yes."

"You were invited, were you?"

"Of course."

"And to be invited a man has to have plenty of money or a great deal of genius?"

"Precisely."

"Well, Jones, I am very glad to hear you have become rich all of a sudden. Lend me five pounds!"—London Answers.

Reasons For a Divorce.

The Druses sometimes divorce their wives for apparently the most trivial causes. Thus a man named Soleiman Attala had a wife, Isbakkeh. The woman frequently worked for us, and on several occasions I had to complain that she talked too much and worked too little. At length I was obliged to tell Soleiman that owing to his wife's laziness I could employ her no longer. Shortly afterward I went to England.

On my return after a couple of months' absence I was surprised to find that Soleiman had divorced Isbakkeh and had already married another woman. On inquiring from him the cause of this he replied, "Your honor told me that you would not employ my wife again, so I thought I would get rid of her and marry another woman whom you would employ."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Coaling a British Visitor.

A big British battleship coming here to attend a patriotic function of some kind on the invitation of our government ran short of coal, and Uncle Sam, as host, agreed to fill her bunkers free of charge. This courtesy was done through the medium of a Jersey City merchant, who supplied fine furnace coal, worth from $6 to $7 a ton and presented his bill to the English captain. "Send it to the navy department," said the latter, and to Washington it went, to be returned by the next mail with a memorandum attached saying that an error had been made in the charge, "the government contract calling for coal at $3 a ton." And that is all the smart Jerseyite ever received.—New York Press.

No Rebate.

When Adeline Patti visited Madrid one time in company with her husband, Signor Nicolini, who thought himself a tenor singer, there was an effort to engage the noted artist for an especial occasion. The opera director asked: "How much will you charge us if you and your honored husband appear on this occasion for one night?"

"Ten thousand francs, sir."

"And how much if you come without the signor, madame?"

"Ten thousand francs."

Catherine de Medici.

Catherine de Medici of France was a tall, dignified woman of striking personal appearance. Her manner was often cold and repulsive, her language haughty. She was never popular or well liked. Her features were regular, and the chief merit of her countenance was a full black eye that seemed to fascinate those on whom she looked.

Jungle Talk.

"Hello! Where are you going?" cried the lion as the fleet footed stag dashed by him.

"Oh, I'm just traveling for my health," panted the stag. "Why do you ask?"

"My friend the tiger invited me to participate in a stag dinner party today, and I was wondering if you were the party."—Philadelphia Press.

A Lesson in Washing.

Pliny the Great could see things in front of his nose as well as afar off. "I notice that the women rub the washing in cold water," he wrote one day. "Let them heat the water, and the alkali in the soap will be freed and take far better effect." And only after that did women know how to wash.

We wish to call the attention of the people of McCook and surrounding country (and we don't care how much territory it takes in either) that we have bought the photograph business of C. I. Hall in the A. O. U. W. block. We are here for business, we can do the business and we expect to get the business, if reasonable prices, good treatment and first-class work is any thing to be deserving of merit and we believe it is and also believe you will agree with us, and should you at any time in the near future need any thing in the photograph or picture line generally, come in and give me a chance to prove what we state in this Ad. and if we fail to please you in any respect we will charge you nothing and you need never come back, but all we ask is a chance and we will take our chances on the balance. Keep your eye on the display case down stairs and when you see our work there it will look good to you; climb the stairs and we will be pleased to show you more pictures and get acquainted. Come in anyhow, if you don't want work done. We are always glad to have people call. We expect to have the best furnished and equipped studio in Western Nebraska, for we are fixing and remodeling as fast as possible. Anything in the picture line will be found at our studio. If you want enlargements of any kind, such as Crayon, Pastel, Sepire, Water Color, Platinoids, call and look over our samples before you have your work done elsewhere. We are headquarters for the famous Platinoid Portrait work. It gives the most universal satisfaction of any kind of work ever produced or known to the Art world. We will turn out all sizes and all prices of photographs. We will keep a limited amount of Kodak supplies on hand, Kodaks to sell and will do finishing for amateurs or professionals. We are prepared to photograph large groups, and by-the-way, bring the babies. They can't be too large, too small, too old, too young, to cross, too good, too pretty or too ugly for us to photograph. We will get a negative of them before they leave the gallery. We have never let one get away yet without getting a good negative in the 15 years we have been in the business and we intend to retire from the work with this record unbroken.

Yours for business,

A. F. WEBSTER

Big Horn Basin.

Are you interested in the Big Horn Basin of Wyoming?

It's a rich but undeveloped portion of Northwestern Wyoming. It contains marvellous openings for small ranches along good streams in the valleys, with one million acres of government land open to settlement under the United States land laws.

The Burlington Route has just published a folder descriptive of the Big Horn Basin. It is illustrated and contains an accurate map. It tells about the lay of the land, character of the soil, products, yield, irrigation and opportunities. If you're interested, better write for a copy. It's free.—5-30.

Doctor's Bad Plight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Searbrough, of Hebron, Ohio, "then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, I got a quick relief, and for the last ten days have felt better than for two years." Positively guaranteed for throat and lung troubles by McConnell & Berry. 50c and $1. Trial free.

Send Me Their Names.

Send me the addresses of your friends who might be induced to move to Nebraska and I will mail them our new 48-page book descriptive of Nebraska's agricultural resources and its unbounded opportunities. The book is illustrated with Nebraska farm scenes, and is supplemented with a sectional map of the state. It will help bring homeseekers to Nebraska.—5-30.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life, and enjoyment of life to thousands: men women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. Its agreeable taste will surprise you.

SOUTH SIDE.

Small grains of all kinds are looking well.

J. C. Acheson is thinning beets, this week.

J. A. Schmitz is moving his alfalfa, this week.

J. A. Bohling thinks this is a pretty wet country.

Ernest Dutton has about finished planting corn.

John Hesterworth is about to "go-devil" his corn.

The Southside Dare-Devils played the Pick-Up nine, last Sunday.

J. A. Schmidt will soon finish cultivating his weedy, good-looking beets.

Frank and Fred Wasson have put up a shop and blossomed out into blacksmiths.

Roe Wasson is harrowing corn while his brothers are taking care of the beets. He has very good stand of beets. Most all of the sugar-beets are looking well, healthy and weedy.

You Can't Lose Flesh or Appetite.

Farmer City, Illinois, Dec. 20, 1890. Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Illinois.

Gentlemen—My seven-months-old baby was troubled a great deal with his stomach and bowels. Had tried numerous remedies with no good results until baby lost much flesh and was in very poor health. A friend recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I procured a bottle at "Hud's" Drug Store and gave the contents to the baby according to directions, after which there was a decided improvement in his condition. Have been giving him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for about a month with very satisfactory results, his stomach and bowels being in a good, healthy condition and his former weight regained.

Very truly yours, ALICE JACKSON.
Sold by A. McMillen.

Beauty and Strength

Are desirable. You are strong and vigorous, when your blood is pure. Many, many, most women, fail to properly digest their food, and so become pale, sallow, thin and weak, while the brightness, freshness and beauty of the skin and complexion depart. Remedy this unpleasant evil by eating nourishing food and taking a small dose of Herbine after each meal, to digest what you have eaten. 50c at A. McMillen's.
