Fighting the Yellow Fever

Outbreak of the Scourge In New Orleans. The Mosquito as a Deadly Factor In Spreading the

DR. QUITMAN KOHNKE.

North Carolina made his historic remark to the governor of South Carolina a precedent was set for the avoidance of interstate hostilities like those recently threatened between the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi. In the present instance, however, Governor Blanchard of Louisiana could not extend to Governor Vardaman of Mississippi the customary invitation to "have one," because quarantine regulations keep the former confined to the soil of his own state. The strained relations between the governors and the clash between armed men representing the two commonwealths were due to the efforts of each state to protect itself in its rights in connection with the outbreak of yellow fever in New Orleans and vicinity.

The cities of the southern portion of the United States have so often been devastated by the dreaded scourge of yellow fever in the past that the very name of the disease is sufficient to cause terror; hence the extraordinary precautions adopted in Mississippi when the fever broke out in New Orleans. The fever cases came chiefly from one part of the city, Gallatin street. It is only two blocks in length, yet fifty or more cases have been treated there. Where the fever appeared elsewhere it could be traced back to Gallatin street. The people of New Orleans and of Louisiana have been very active and efficient in fighting the disease and, with the aid modera medical study of the subject has given them, have been able thus far to prevent such ravages as have been experienced in former year? Dr. Quitman Kohnke, who is at the 'rad of the board of health of the city of New Orleans, and Professor John Guiteras, who has served as an expert in all yellow fever outbreaks since 1881, have won commendation by the efforts they have made to restrain the spread of the malady.

Dr. George M. Sternberg, an authority on the subject, says: "Yellow fever is an acute infectious disease which is transmitted from the sick to susceptible individuals through the agency of mosquitoes. The yellow fever mosquito (Stegomyia fasciata) is found in tropical and semitropical regions, and especially in lowlands near the sea or fm river valleys. This mosquito serves as 'an intermediate host' for the yellow fever parasite, which is present in the blood of those sick with the disease during the first three days of the attack. After filling itself with blood from a yellow fever patient a period of twelve days is required for the development of the parasite in the body of the mosquito before it can transmit the disease by its sting to another individual."

It was in 1900, while Dr. Sternberg was surgeon general, that the board was appointed which gave special study to the subject of yellow fever at Havana and conducted the experiments which have reflected so much light upon the question of restraining the disease. These experiments were made upon individuals who volunteered to submit themselves to mosquito inoculations with a full knowledge of a possibility of serious and even fatal results. Some of these volunteers died, among them Dr. Jesse W. Lazear, a member of the board and a conspicuous martyr in the cause of medical science. Yellow fever is believed by many to be of African origin. Slave ships carried it to American shores and other sections of the globe, and in former times the visit to a port of a ship bearing slaves was often followed by an epidemic. It was in this way that Philadelphia suffered repeatedly from the disease in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

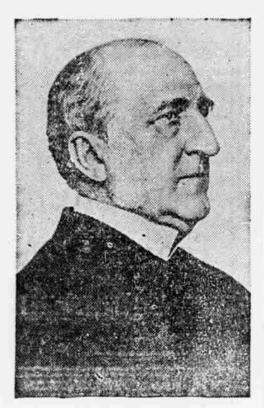

Dr. Guiteras, whose experience with vellow fever is now proving so valuable at New Orleans, was born in Matanzas, Cuba, in 1852. At seventeen years of age he removed to the United States and began the study of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, from which he graduated in 1873. He yellow jack from killing American sol- as poet laureate, but Alfred Austin self upon a temperate dispute.— an inferior mind command over a sudiers in the Santiago campaign of 1898, i got the prize.

OPTIMISTIC DEPEW.

He Does Not Allow Equitable Affairs to Spoil His Humor.

It was cabled to this country from Europe that Senator Chauncey Mitchell Depew, the ever genial and ever mirthful statesman, campaign orator and postprandial speaker, was becomgation of Equitable Life Assurance society affairs. But when the junior senator from New York recently landed on American soil after his annual vacation in Europe his friends noted that no anxiety had bent him down, that his step was as elastic as of yore, that his characteristic smile had not come off and that he was rosy of countenance and apparently care free.

"I can't speak for others," remarked the optimistic statesman, who is sev-

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW.

glance of approval. Mr. Depew says in Atlantic. that he is ready to face any criticism that may be made of his acts as a director of the Equitable and declares made of him. "That is the reason," he then makes a rapid dash right into and from the water at so small an angle added, "why I make speeches at so under the "long face," forcing him to that they must use both feet and wings many dinners and tell stories. That clear out at once or ripping him so for thirty or forty feet in order to get reminds me that I haven't got a new badly that he is hors de combat. The story since I've been abroad. Every- fact has been established that bass inbody says to me, 'Now, then, Depew, troduced into a pond containing picktell us some of your good stories,' and erel will ultimately destroy the latter. I have to tell 'em some of the old ones. The same fate awaits other fish, in-But they seem to go."

AN ECCENTRIC POET.

Greatness and His Peculiarities.

public twenty-five years ago under the these wind controlling ropes with magis a man of many eccentricities. When It was believed that by unloosing the he wrote this story, entitled "Love's first knot a favorable breeze was se- misgivings touching the truth of the Cross Currents-A Year's Letters," he cured, the second raised a strong gale second answer, a fiction which has ceived and would not attach his own would prove the prelude to a tempest. those two highly distinguished Oxosignature. It did not make a big hit According to Ranulph Higden, the nians, Professor Freeman and J. R. at the time, but now that his fame witches of the Isle of Man had a sim- Green, is more secure Swinburne has decid- ilar ancient practice of selling winds ed to trust the public with the knowl- to sailors.

ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE.

edge that he wrote it. In the opinion of critics it will not make him as famous as a novelist as he aiready is as Though so great a man in the world of literature, Swinburne is very small physically, being but five feet two inches in height and of slight and delicate build. He was born at London in 1837, and his father was the late Admiral Charles Henry Swinburne, his hold too light or too loose, he His first work was published when he was about eighteen years old. Being somewhat deaf, the poet avoids general society. His chief diversion is taking long cross country walks, and on such tours he wears a broad brimmed felt hat, seldom lifts his eyes from the ground and distributes cakes equate. As he was leaving his host study" a little Hungarian girl in the and candy among the youngsters he asked him when he would dine with Canadian northwest exclaimed: "Yah, was professor in this institution for passes on his way. He never wears an him again. some years, afterward taking the posi- overcoat and never carries an um- reply. tion of professor of pathology and trop- brella, even when it rains the hardest. ical diseases in the University of Ha- Many persons thought Swinburne vana. He helped General Shafter keep | would be chosen Tennyson's successor troned by passion, but can sustain it-

Corks For Bottle Stoppers,

The application of cork as a bottle stepper for liquid vessels is said to be | Jewish Sabbath because it was not acof great antiquity. The earliest record | companied by any tumult or noisy and | extant of its use in Europe is that men- joyful demonstrations perpetuated ittioned by Horace, who asserts that the | self throughout all ages. Rutelius, who Romans had cork as stoppers for their | was the prefect of Rome under Honowine amphorae. Certain of the uses rium, says in speaking of the Jews: of cork were known to the ancient "They are very much attached to the ing old and bent, careworn and sor- Greeks and Egyptians, but whether cold Sabbath, but their heart is colder rowful as the result of worry over the they used cork for stopping the mouths than their religion. The seventh day dragging of his name into the investi- of their liquid vessels history does not of every week is consecrated to a say. It was not, however, until the year 1766 that the Spaniards first com- rest to which their God gave himself menced to work their cork woods with up after he was harnssed by fatigue." some degree of regularity for the making of corks. Although perhaps corks which, according to him, is also a sad were more or less in use from the time | feast, for he relates that the kings of glass bottles were first invented, which | Palestine celebrate that day bare-Beckmann asserts to have been in the fifteenth century, yet it was not until two and a half centuries later that the Spaniards began to prepare cork for ninth of Ab-anniversary of the debottle stoppers, which they did in a forest situated at the northeast of the During these two days the Jews remained in fact barefooted. Tigueras, on the Muge. The cork industry has since gradually risen to be one of the first magnitude, its chief center in Spain being in Catalonia.

What the Teacher Must Do.

Knowledge is good, but wisdom is better. The college valedictorian, trained to take knowledge in rather than to impart it, may have much of it with but little wisdom. He may be able, as a teacher, to drill boys and girls in Greek and Latin declensions and cram them with facts, useful or strong man. Among the wonders credexcitement" and interest he is a failing that harps upon obedience and discipline and endeavors by force of rule and rod to oblige the pupil to study and learn. The will cannot be forced, that "be must not lay down precepts, He snapped his bonds like Samson, enty-three years young, "but to me life but teach his pupils to discover them." is still worth living." His handsome This was the way of that great teachwife, who stood by his side, smiled a er, Agassiz, certainly.-Arthur Gilman ever, was the defeat of Bakasura, who

The Small Mouthed Bass.

The small mouthed bass fully dethat the choice of Paul Morton as pres- serves his reputation for being vigorident of the society is a wise one, even ous and gamy from infancy. He is $20,000 that had been paid Senator De- are unequaled. I once took a bass four of the company. Mr. Depew cut short of which was more than two inches cluding trout.—Outing.

Wind Superstitions.

The Finns of Norway long enter-Algernon Charles Swinburne, His tained a traditional belief in the power of controlling the winds by a small Algernon Charles Swinburne, who rope with three knots tied in it. This has just republished under his real popular superstition gave rise to the name a story which he gave to the curious industry of making and selling skull? "-the history, "Who founded signature of "Mrs. Horace Manners," | ical knots to mariners and fishermen. was fearful of how it would be re- and if the third knot was untied it since been scattered to the winds by pat names to things. One of his remarks is given by George Hodder in "Manners of My Time." Jerrold was ing to a bystander, he remarked, "There is a mile dancing with a milestone."

When Labor Did Not Tell, A home missionary who visited Sing Sing prison took occasion to have a Miss Smith?" heart to heart talk with one of the

"Don't you know, my friend," said It is only achieved by hard labor."

than I went in."

He Was Spurned. "Believe me," said old Gotrox, "although I'm an old bachelor I'm sure I could learn to be a good husband. You Staylate. "I hope you won't hesitate know, a man is never too old to learn." to tell me when it's time to go." "Nor too old to yearn, perhaps," replied Miss Pechis; "also I'm sorry to say you're not too old to spurn."-Phil- mentioned that several hours ago."adelphia Press.

Always Something Lacking. Love is like a waltz. It never quite fulfills all one expects of it. Either the man's lead is too fast or too slow, your feet, and if everything else is right it is the wrong man.-Life.

Blunt.

A Scotchman once took dinner at a house and regarded the meal as inad-

A good cause needs not to be pa-

Browne.

Jewish Sabbath and the Romans. The disdain of the Romans for the shameful idleness, in memory of the Juvenal does not love the Sabbath, footed. Juvenal meant perhaps to designate here by "festa Sabbata" the day of Atonement and the fast of the struction of the temple at Jerusalem.

Juvenal has no great affection for the Jews. He has an aversion for those who observe the Sabbath, that live isolated and who do not mingle with the Romans. He dislikes them because they have a peculiar religion and special laws, and he reproaches them for despising the Roman laws.-Menora.

The Hindoo Strong Man.

The Hindoos tell wonderful stories of the feats of Bhima, who was their valueless, but if he cannot produce in ited to Bhima are the following: Purthem what Spencer calls "pleasurable sued by a tiger, his mother when nursing Bhima let him drop. The force of ure. His would be the sort of teach- the impact shattered in a thousand pieces the rock on which he had fallen, but the boy was none the worse. When he quarreled with other boys he gathered them up, ten or fifteen at a time, but the real teacher knows well that it and plumped them into the nearest can be led. He remembers the remark pond. His cousins hid themselves in of Rousseau that "the teacher's prov- a tall banyan to jeer at him, but he ince is less to instruct than to guide;" tore it from the ground without effort. and a hungry cobra's fangs could not penetrate his skin. His triumph, how-"consumed a cart load of food at a sitting and used palmyra trees for toothbrushes."

How the Condor Is Caught. Many birds cannot fly straight up. though one of Mr. Morton's first acts extremely pugnacious by nature and They must rise at a very gentle inin carrying out a policy of retrench- has fighting tactics peculiarly his own cline. They must get onward motion ment was to lop off an annual fee of which for strength, activity and craft before their wings can get full effect of the air. It is said that the mode of pew for his services as a legal adviser inches long on a spoon hook, the bowl taking the condor is to build a pen, say, forty or fifty feet in diameter and his vacation in order to meet any criti- long. This bass does not hesitate to six feet high and put a carcass in the cism of his course in connection with tackle that terror of all other fish- middle of it. The condor alights, but Equitable matters that might arise. the fierce and voracious pickerel. With cannot again rise at an angle which Senator Depew has said that he finds his first dorsal fin rigidly set up, he will take him over the fence. Many it very hard to refuse any request lays off some ten or twenty feet and heavy bodied, short winged ducks rise onward motion enough to give effectiveness to their wings by coming in contact with larger masses of still air.

Oxford Examinations.

When John Scott, the future Lord Chancellor Eldon, took his B. A. at Oxford in 1770 he was examined in Hebrew and in history. His own pen has recorded this noteworthy "exam." It consisted of two questions, one in each subject. The Hebrew question ran, "What's the Hebrew for 'place of a the University of Oxford?" The candidate, of course, replied, "Golgotha" and "Alfred the Great," though he had his

The Gallows Plant.

During the middle ages the botanists, or old "herbalists," gave currency to Douglas Jerrold had a way of putting | many curious stories concerning the growth, form, etc., of mandrake or May apple, which finally resulted in its being given the name of "gallows at a party one night where a doctor, plant." The pseudo scientists of that who was tall and thin almost to ema- time declared that mandrake would ciation, had for a partner a lady who grow in no other place except upon was short and square in build. Turn- which some terrible crime had been committed. The roots were formerly supposed to bear a strong resemblance to the human form.

Mind Rending. "Perhaps smoking is offensive to you,

"On the contrary, I like the smell of a good eigar."

Without a moment's hesitation he he, "that crime never brings success? threw away the weed he was smoking. Something in her manner rather than "I did six months of it at a stretch her words led him to suspect that she once, and I didn't come out no richer was a judge of cigars.-Chicago Trib-

Time Had Passed. "I always forget how times flies

when I'm enjoying myself," said Mr. "Gracious!" replied Miss Patience. "It's too late now. You should have Philadelphia Public Ledger.

No Further Delay.

Abner Slopoak (desperately)-M-may I name the day? Jemima Jones (decisively)-No! Abner Slopoak (in alarm)-Why? Jemima Jones (frankstumbles over your gown or steps on ly)-Because, if you put if off as long you did your proposal, we never will be married. I'll name the day myself!-Cleveland Leader.

Raw Animals.

With a heart attuned to "nature teacher. It's certain beautiful on our prairie, where the birds and the small sheep run about raw."

Decision of character will often give

. . . New Supply of . . .

Kabo Corsets

Just received and I can furnish you with the corset that fits, wears and gives entire satisfaction from my own complete stock.

. . . My New Assortment of . . .

Outing . . . Flannels . . .

is now in and it consist of extraordinary valas they were all bought early before the adance in prices. Call and make your selections while the stock of patterns is complete.

All Summer Goods . . .

are sacrificed during this month and it will pay you to lay in a supply for next season.

Tan Shoes and Oxfords

must go regardless of cost. Don't miss looking over my stock before making your purchases of Dry Goods, Notions, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Shoes or Groceries.

Phone 16

McCOOK, NEB.

If You Want to Invest

Why don't you invest in guaranteed shoesnothing shoddy, best grade-you get value received for your money, comfort style and service.

. . No Better Investment . .

That we can think of will give you more comfort than a good, easy, stylish shoe. Our stock is complete and we suit you in footwear and price.

THE Model Shoe Store

A. E. PETTY, Prop. - McCook

The first of the f

A $1,000 LOAN

with the McCook Co-operative Building & Savings Association can be paid off in $12.50 monthly payments of

If you are paying more, you pay too much. We can mature your loan on smaller monthly payments and less money in the aggregate than any comepting association. Call on the secretary, who will explain our system. Office in First National Bank.

McCook Building & Savings Association

McCook Tribune The

Only One Dollar the year.