

What Do You Know about that Easter Suit?

THE BEST DRESSED CLERK IN THIS TOWN WEARS

a Stein-Bloch suit he bought from us a week ago. He paid $15.00 less for it than his summer custom-made sack cost him, and he says it fits him with $50.00 more style. He just came in to "try-on," because one of our ads caught his attention.

Does your suit fit like this?

BARTLEY.

Several from Bartley went to Cambridge to attend the funeral of Mrs. Gilpin of Edison, wife of Burl Gilpin, member of the Christian Church there. Mrs. Gilpin was a sister of C.M. Babbitt of Bartley. The funeral was held in the M. E. church which was crowded to its full capacity. Funeral sermon was preached by Minister Harding of Belville, Kansas.

Parties from McCook visited with Mrs. Beeson Sunday.

Rev. J.T. Roberts of University Place, Nebraska, lectured in the M. E. church Saturday evening, and preached Sunday morning and evening, to a large audience at each session.

Dr. Hughey will lecture here Friday evening, April 2nd, at the M. E. church.

Lila Fidler is recovering nicely from the operation at Omaha last week.

John Lang is back from Oklahoma and says he is glad to get back to where he can get a good drink of water. He likes Nebraska best of all.

Will Lyman is painting the new roof he recently put on his residence.

Several parties, Tuesday p.m., cleared off the cemetery of dead grass and rubbish. A re-survey of the lots will be made soon.

We are pleased to report the child of Mr. and Mrs. Baster Rowe is recovering from cerebro spinal meningitis.

Miss Ethel Beeson is at College View Sanitarium preparing to be a nurse.

Jess Beeson went to Lincoln Sunday night on business.

The Donohoe Bill has no friends in Bartley and all hope if passed it will be vetoed by the governor.

Frank Untiedt delivered a car load of five hogs Tuesday of this week.

Percy Catlett received the appointment as carrier on R. F. D. No. 2 out of Bartley and will make his first trip Thursday.

H. W. CONOVER
FOR CITY CLERK

C. H. BOYLE
FOR MEMBER OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

C. H. BOYLE, attorney and abstractor; office, Postoffice building; residence, 382 2nd street E. Has lived here ever since before the city began to be. Now on the school board, and during erection of new high school building. A clean record. Has saved the school district hundreds of dollars by legal advice and labor, and without charge. An attorney is needed on the board. Re elect Boyle.

PLATFORM.

SIXTH—We declare it to be the duty of the city treasurer to deposit all funds of the city and school district coming into his hands in the bank which will give proper security therefor, and will pay the highest rate of interest on daily or monthly balances, and declare that he should furnish to the press of the city for publication, at least quarterly statements showing the financial condition of the city and school district, and that the secretary of the board of education should furnish to the press of the city for publication, reports of the meetings of the board of education.

SEVENTH—We commend the members of the present city council for the efficient services rendered the city and especially commend them for their earnest efforts in conjunction with private citizens to close the houses devoted to prostitution and the illegal sale of liquors, and the arrest of the proprietors and inmates thereof.

We call upon all law-abiding citizens irrespective of party affiliations to join with us in an effort to elect a mayor who will be true to his solemn oath of office, and his official obligations by enforcing the laws and city ordinances, and the election of officers who will be in accord with such mayor, and true to the trusts reposed in them, to the end that law and order may prevail within our fair city.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN

A PATHETIC SCENE.

"I am not Mrs. Nation; I have no hatched. I am not crazy."

These words came from the lips of a Lewis woman as she met her husband face to face in a hotel barroom the other evening, says the Lewis Pilot. They were directed to the bartender and the loungers, as the former handed the woman's husband a glass of whisky.

She continued: "That man has not done a day's work this winter, and I am worn out trying to support him and the rest of the family. I want to know if something cannot be done to keep him from destroying his own life and starving his family?"

The woman was thin and pale. Her lips quivered as she spoke. Her frail body could hardly stand the strain of the unfamiliar environment. As she finished, the little girl by her side burst into tears, the bartender took back the whiskey, the abashed husband stood with bowed head, one by one the loungers left the rooms. Presently the bartender, gazing at the poor woman, solemnly vowed that the man should not drink at his bar again.

It was a pathetic scene; it was the last resort of a desperate woman. As she left the hotel with her husband and little girl there was a lesson too painful for any pen to picture.

We can find many cases similar to the above, here in McCook, where the wives are trying to eke out a living for themselves and families over the wash tub, while the father is spending his time and money in the saloon or pool hall. Shame to those who could banish such places from our city and will not, but are doing their best to keep them there, for no other reason than that of their own personal greed of gain; not caring for the ruined homes, unhappy wives and mothers, and worse still, the ruined bodies and souls of the drunkards they make, for no drunkard can enter the kingdom of heaven.

A Telegram That Talked.

At one time when George Drew Barrymore was playing in San Francisco a fabulous sum was offered her by a local theater for her services for a few weeks. The offer was exceedingly tempting, but her contract with Charles Frohman stood in the way. However, on the nothing-venture-nothing-won theory, she telegraphed a detailed statement of the offer she had received to Frohman in New York, explained how anxious she was to accept it and wound up with the plea, "Will you release me?" In due course of time she received the following telegram in answer:

Mrs. George Drew Barrymore, Palace Hotel, San Francisco:
No!
CHARLES FROHMAN.

Albeit disappointed, Mrs. Barrymore at once sent this characteristic reply: Charles Frohman, New York City:
Oh!
GEORGIE DREW BARRYMORE.

They Do Their Share.

Milton complained of his wife that she did not talk to him enough. Three hundred years have wrought a change. When Matthew Arnold visited this country a woman with more zeal than discretion asked him:
"Mr. Arnold, will you tell me what is the most novel impression you have received in the United States?"
"Certainly, madam," he replied, with perfect English suavity. "The women do all the talking."—Youth's Companion.

Sneezing.

The custom of saying "God bless you" after sneezing must be at least as old as the fifteenth century, as a reference to it appears in the first edition of Caxton's "Golden Legend." After describing a certain malady which broke out among the early Christians, the result apparently of their intemperate habits, Caxton proceeds, "In this manner somtyme they deyed, so that when any persone was herd sneezing amonge that were by said to hym, God helpe you, or Cryste helpe, and yet endureth the custome." A curious superstition with regard to sneezing still lingers in the villages of Devonshire. It has found expression in the following couplet:
Sneeze on Sunday morning fasting,
You'll enjoy your own true love to everlasting.

In the highlands of Scotland it is believed that a newborn child is under the thrall of the fairies until it sneezes.

A Spool of Thread.

"But for Napoleon," said the spool, "I, like the Arc de Triomphe, would never have existed. In Napoleon's time thread was made only of silk and of wool. Napoleon to ruin the English silk thread trade destroyed the world's silk stock, which lay at Hamburg. In this crisis the Paisley spinners turned to cotton. After tremendous labor they at last made cotton thread. Cotton thread is the world's chief thread today."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THERE are two ways to be sure of getting pure all-wool clothes. One way is to pay high prices; the other is to buy CLOTH-CRAFT CLOTHES—the only guaranteed all-wool line in America at $10.00 to $25.00. All wool is as important in the quality of good clothes as solid gold is in jewelry. CLOTHES made of pure, all-wool fabrics hold their shape best and wear longest. In CLOTH-CRAFT CLOTHES, for men and young men, the high standard of the all-wool fabric is maintained in every other feature of the garments—in style, fit, linings and workmanship. GUARANTEED ALL WOOL CLOTHES
