PART II.

Cantata ..... "JACK AND THE BEAN STALK"
Words by Laura F. Armitage Music by Richardson Caldwell

Argument

This operetta is founded on the old story of "Jack and the Bean Stalk." Jack's mother is very poor and they are obliged to sell their cow. Jack sells the cow to the butcher for some beans, which the butcher persuades him to believe will bring him some money. Jack's mother throws the beans away, but they take root and grow in a single night. A fairy appears, who tells Jack about the giant, his gold and his wonderful hen which lays eggs. She claims that the hen once belonged to Jack's father, but was stolen by the giant, and urges Jack to climb the bean stalk and go to the castle for it. Jack does so, enters the castle, is hidden by the giant's wife, and when the giant is about to discover his presence, calls for the fairy, who at once appears and charms the giant while Jack runs off with the hen. Jack cuts down the bean stalk, when he reaches the foot and he and his mother live in peace and plenty ever after. A party of Jack's playmates appear several times on the scenes.

The Newsboy.

Do you see the newsboy?
You can hear the newsboy a long time before you can see him.
What does the newsboy say?
It doesn't matter what the newsboy says. You know he is the newsboy because he has the papers to prove it.
What has the newsboy concealed in his hand?
The newsboy has a cigarette butt in his hand. He saw it smoking in the gutter and was afraid it would set fire to the street, so he picked it up. Good little newsboy, you will be a fire chief some day!
Did ever you try a trick on the newsboy?
Give him a nickel some time for your paper and tell him to keep the change. Ten chances to one he will do it.
Does the newsboy never sleep?
Oh, yes, the newsboy sleeps, but never on his job.
P. S.—Lots of people can learn something from the newsboy.—Boston Herald.

Boom Your Own Town.

Business will prosper
Only when the people
Of the community
Make a united effort.
Your business depends
On others' prosperity.
Unless we work together
Results are disappointing.
Only those prosper
Whose patrons are prosperous.
Nothing succeeds like success!
Towns thrive and flourish
Only when they deserve to—
When their own people
Neglect no opportunities.
