

INDIANOLA.
 Doctor Minnick went to McCook, Wednesday evening, on business.
 E. S. Byfield had a gasoline tank installed at his place of business, recently.
 Mrs. Sammy Minnear was a visitor at her parents this week.
 Jim Sims autoed over from Danbury last of the week on a business tour.
 Mrs. F. B. Hardesty and daughter Edna left on No. 16, Sunday morning, for the eastern part of the state, where they will visit for a while, after which they expect to locate at Grand Island.
 Mrs. "Doc" Minnear and daughter were recent guests in the McWilliams home.
 Dr. and Mrs. Minnick drove over to the Beaver, Friday, and visited with the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. Walker Andrews.
 Edward Hethcote left for his home in Holyoke, Colorado, Saturday morning. He was accompanied by his father and brother, who will visit with him for awhile.
 Mrs. Northrup came down from McCook, Wednesday morning, to be present at the funeral of Mrs. D. Hethcote, who was an old time friend of hers.
 Mr. and Mrs. Williamson and daughter left for their home in Audubon, Iowa, Thursday night on 14.
 Quite a number went down to Bartley, despite the wind and dust, Sunday evening, to hear the baccalaureate sermon preached by Rev. A. D. Burreas of this place.
 W. S. Dolan and wife, John McClung and wife, Mrs. Mary Balding, John Maisel, Chet Strockey, Bob McWilliams, Marion Dow, Bennie Smith, Orin Cramer, Anna Maisel, Bessie Hess, Emma Howard, Miss Fullerton and Neal Quick were McCook visitors between trains Saturday evening.
 Harry Lebaron came up from Cambridge on No. 5, Sunday evening, to visit a friend.
 H. J. Sams left for Denver, Colorado, Sunday night, where he will look after his land interests.
 Mike Morosic gave his regular fortnightly dance at his place, Saturday night, attended by the usual number from town.
 Gladys McCool and Bessie Toogood were McCook visitors, Friday evening.
 I. M. Smith of McCook visited with his brother W. H. between trains, last Sunday.

RED WILLOW.
 Lon Miller was married at Stockville, last Wednesday, to a lady from Indiana, who came on for that purpose.
 There was a big charivari for Lon Miller and his wife. About thirty gathered from all around and had a hilarious time.
 Mrs. Owens Longnecker has gone to Indianola to attend the district convention.
 They will have a dinner and supper at the hall, during the convention at Indianola and judging from the toothsome preparations the ladies in this community are making to donate for that purpose, the entertainment for the inner man will be equal to that prepared for the spiritual at the convention.
 Lucy Miller and Lida Rozelle are staying at Owens Longnecker's, taking care of little William, while Mrs. Longnecker attends the convention.
 A letter from John F. Black announces his arrival at Goodwin, Oklahoma, where he seems to have settled near Texas Panhandle. His being there was a surprise to his friends. This leaves only two of the original settlers, William Byfield and John Longnecker.
 Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. William Randel called to see Mrs. Longnecker, who is able to be around part of the time. She is still much troubled with nervous prostration.
BOX ELDER.
 Mrs. D. B. Doyle, Jr., entertained her cousin Miss Woodal of Missouri, latter part of last week.
 Mrs. F. G. Little and children returned for a short visit with the folks here before going to Alma to visit her sister for a time.
 T. M. Campbell took his little son to McCook Saturday and had Dr. Fahnestock cut a cyst from the lid of his eye. He is getting along nicely.
 F. G. Lytle is planning to rebuild right away.
 Quite a hailstorm visited this vicinity one night last week. Fortunately there was no wind with it.
 Hoarseness, bronchitis and other throat troubles are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar as it soothes and heals the inflamed throat and bronchial tubes and the most obstinate cough disappears. Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar.

BARTLEY.
 Mrs. C. E. Schnell of Wauneta and Miss Cora Ritter on their way to Iowa visited with Rev. and Mrs. Hageman, last week.
 David Beaman has gone to Omaha to visit relatives.
 Bartley high school boys played basket ball with Cambridge high school, last week.
 Mrs. Shuck of Cambridge visited her sons and families Alec and Arnold Wheeler, this week.
 Burl Gilpin, minister of the Christian church of Arapahoe, visited his brother-in-law C. M. Babbitt, Monday.
 Rev. Burreas of Indianola preached the baccalaureate sermon for the high school graduates, last Sunday evening.
 Mrs. Wallace, W. T. C. U. lecturer, gave an interesting address at the M. E. church, last Sunday morning, and spoke again on Monday evening to a pleased audience.
 Mrs. G. W. Ritchie and daughter Ida returned from Oregon this week. They are well pleased with that state and will make it their permanent home as soon as they can dispose of their property here.
 Mrs. J. S. Miller is very sick with pneumonia.
 Indianola and Bartley nine played ball at this place Saturday. Score 25 to 26 in favor of Bartley.
 It is reported Frank Clark is using a sure thing on fish bait which he bought at the drugstore. He gave it a fair trial one day last week but could not get a nibble. Finally a companion examined the secret nostrum and found it to be just common turpentine.
 The Misses Ada and Pearl Olmstead were here last Wednesday while Pearl was taking the 8th grade examination.
NOTICE.

How Sherman "Put the Lid On"
DURING the siege of Atlanta some of the Confederate batteries opposing Sherman on the west front of the city were sheltered from attack by a mountain which could not readily be scaled by Federal artillery. After long delay and tedious labor the light field-pieces of the Eleventh Indiana battery were hauled to the crest of the mountain, where the men of the Second Massachusetts had cut a roadway and constructed earth and log pits to shield the guns. A day was fixed, the earliest possible, to open fire upon the lines below. Sherman, General George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," "Fighting Joe" Hooker and General J. M. Brannan, Thomas' chief of artillery, were on the ground to witness the effect of the fire, which was expected to open the way for a successful attack upon Confederate positions which baffled the advance of Thomas troops.
 The time was August, and the heavy, stifling atmosphere inclined the men of both armies to suspend activity. The stillness of death reigned everywhere except around the isolated battery on the mountain top. There the gunners moved with the grim energy of soldiers facing a crisis. Guns were trained upon the most conspicuous and vulnerable targets. Sherman and his lieutenants stood apart, scanning with fieldglasses the camps where the shots were to strike.
 At last the signal was given. Battery men went forward to pull the lanyards and send the shots home, when attention was diverted by the soft pealing tones of a bell trembling on the heavy air across the valley. Louder and still louder the measured chimes sounded over the city, over the camps, up to the mountain crest. Sherman raised a warning finger to gunners, who looked into the eyes of their officers for explanation of this strange gesture. The officers, equally non-plused, looked to the generals, and Sherman spoke out calmly, but in tones for all to hear, "Gentlemen, we will not open fire today." Then, turning to the chief of artillery, he said, in the same quiet tones, "General Brannan, you will open fire tomorrow."
 "Today" was the Sabbath, a day, according to Sherman's orders, not to be interrupted by the inferno of guns and shells.—Harper's Weekly.

The first food of the day.
 Every man, woman and child begins the day with more or less vigor of mind and strength of body according to the first food supplied to the stomach. The best first dish of the day is a bowl of Quaker Oats. The stomach can assimilate it more quickly and with less effort than other foods. There is little or no waste and every ounce of food is converted into muscle, vigor and brain activity. The strongest people in the world are the regular eaters of Quaker Oats. You should eat it for breakfast every day.
 If you are convenient to the store you'll probably buy the regular size package. For those who live in the country the large size family package is more satisfactory.
 If you want to feel well, look well, be well, take Foley's Kidney Remedy. It tones up the kidney and bladder, purifies the blood and restores health and strength. Pleasant to take and contains no harmful drugs. Why not commence today?

Minus the Picture.
 The bridge builder with Stonewall Jackson's army was a rare character if the following story be true:
 The Union soldiers, retreating from the valley of Virginia, burned a bridge over the Shenandoah. Jackson, who wanted to pursue, sent for his old bridge builder.
 "Sir," he said, "you must keep men at work all day and all night and finish that bridge by tomorrow morning. My engineer shall give you the plan."
 Old Miles saluted and withdrew.
 Early the next morning the general sent for Miles again.
 "Well, sir," said Jackson, "did the engineer give you the plan for the bridge?"
 "General," said the old man slowly, "the bridge is done. I don't know whether the picture is or not."—Her-aid and Presbyter.

Swearing In the Cook.
 The darky contrabands who frequently strayed within the Union lines were often very acceptable as servants, particularly as cooks. The non-commissioned officers frequently had a heap of sport with these unsophisticated negroes. Occasionally there was great formality in swearing in these cooks. The drums would be sounded or the bugles blown, and amid much impressive pomp the darky would assume his new duties, having sworn to perform them properly, to support the constitution of all the loyal states, clean the plates without wiping them on his coat sleeve, solemnly swearing to put milk in the coffee every morning and other like deeds.

The Unknown Dead.
 Now many a soldier slumbers,
 His resting place unknown;
 His hands were crossed, his lids were closed.
 The dust was o'er him strewn.
 The drifting soil, the moldering leaf,
 Along the sod were blown.
 His mound has melted into earth;
 His memory lives alone.
 So let it live unfading,
 The memory of the dead,
 Long as the pale anemone
 Springs where their tears were shed,
 Or raining in the summer's wind,
 In flakes of burning red,
 The wild rose sprinkles with its leaves
 The turf where once they bled.
 —Oliver Wendell Holmes.
