the money you "blow in" foolishly, if invested in a bank account would soon put you on "easy street."

You owe yourself the protection a Savings Account will afford you.

If you are spending all you earn it is unfair to yourself and those who may be dependent on you.

You have noticed the manner in which small amounts expended count up in a month—a part of such expenditures saved will allow you to have an account at this bank.

Start with a dollar—have money in the bank.

IT PROBABLY was never intended that some editors should go to heaven "on flowery beds of ease." And sure "If I must fight to win the prize," here goes. When a fellow's hand has been on the plow for nearly a third of a century, it is no time for him to look back now.

GAMBLING and immorality are said to have increased in Cuba since the Americans surrendered control and the country's finances are also in poor condition. The Cuban republic appears to have a serious time of it, learning to walk, every time Uncle Sam resigns his job at the leading strings.—Omaha Bee.

It is easy to see that Mr. Dolliver is not going to be popular with Aldrich, Cannon & Co. What right has he to tell tales out of school, or in school either? Does not he know that the duty of every member of the group is to obey orders of the master of the group? What right has he to think or to learn the facts or to tell the truth? The first duty of a Republican Senator is to know that when Mr. Aldrich says a thing is so, it is so, whether it is or not. What are we coming to, we should like to know, when Republican Senators have the audacity to question the propriety of any schedules made by the interests that bear the seal and superscription of His Serene Superiority, Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island.—Indianapolis News.

A Betrayed Party.

The democratic national platform last year contained these sentences:

"We welcome the belated promise of tariff reform now affected by the republican party, . . . but the people cannot safely trust the execution of this important work to a party which is so deeply obligated to the highly protected interests. . . . We favor immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products should be placed upon the free list. . . . We demand the immediate repeal of the tariff on pulp print paper, lumber, timber and logs."

In the house of representatives a month ago forty democrats voted against free lumber. In the senate this week seventeen democrats did the same. Thus a specific demand of the democratic platform was defeated by democratic votes. Democratic votes also defeated free hides and free iron. For the first time in fifty years democrats this spring have had an opportunity, with the aid of progressive republicans, to give effect to their pretense of principle. This shameful record shows how basely they have acquitted themselves.

Should Have Called Him.

Senator Gallinger a day or so ago rose in the senate and stated that somebody had told him the country was losing 10 millions a day from delay in revising the tariff. Why somebody didn't say 11 million or 9 million or 100 million, he might have been asked, but wasn't. Business, according to the stock market and the trade reviews and bank clearings, has been gaining right along, as a matter of fact. The other day independent steel mills at Pittsburgh increased wages. But if somebody should tell Senator Gallinger that delay in passing the bill was holding the growth of crops back on the farms, he would believe it.—Topeka Capitalist.

Another Memorial Day.

Another Memorial Day has passed into history. The graves of the departed soldiers have been garlanded with flowers and the patriotism of the living has been renewed.

According to general orders, Monday was observed in this city, as the day. In the morning, committees from J. K. Barnes post, the W. R. C., and the Ladies of the G. A. R. repaired to the several cemeteries of the city and decorated them with flowers. The procession was headed by a drum corps and the uniformed members of the First Separate company of the N. N. G., under command of Captain A. R. Scott.

The names of the graves of those decorated are as follows:

David Keithley	Smith Gordon
Marion B. Brown	Charles Turner

In the afternoon in the Baptist church were held the formal exercises of the day, the old soldiers and the ladies of the auxiliaries marching from their hall to the church in organizations.

The exercises opened with the singing of "America" by the audience. Rev. Burton pronounced the invocation prayer. Adjutant Steinmetz read the orders of the day. Comrade Dillon made the report of the decorating committees, announcing the decorating of thirty-five graves, as above indicated. Mrs. Mattie Welles read the famous Gettysburg address of the martyred Lincoln.

The address of the day was delivered by Comrade Rev. E. R. Earle. It was full of the fire of patriotism and an inspiration for the living as well as a glowing tribute to the dead.

The address to the unknown dead was the eloquent delivery of Mrs. Mattie Welles.

This concluded the exercises, which were of a touching and impressive nature.

Women In Austria.

The Austrian law puts little trust in women, as they are not even eligible as witnesses to a will, being excluded in company with imbeciles, the blind, deaf and dumb and criminals.

Spanish Peppers.

It is a good plan to have a can of Spanish peppers always in the house. They can be easily and attractively used in an emergency. Sandwiches may be made of them, or they may be used to garnish leftover meats, etc. Cut the meat into cubes, cover with bits of pepper and breadcrumbs and brown.

Anti-dueling Sermon.

At a church near Leebury, England, an annual sermon is still preached against the vice of dueling. This is done in accordance with the will and testament of a damsel whose rival lovers died fighting for her hand.

Home Lovers First Choice.

Swiss maidens have wide and deep courtship license, but in many of the cantons they are allowed but a narrow choice of bridegrooms, it being a rigorously enforced if unwritten law that they must marry a youth of their own neighborhood. In many villages every marriageable youth belongs to a society whose sole object is to prevent any and every youth from outside from coming a-courtting the maidens of the society's village.

Strong Tea.

The Abyssinians make a tea from the leaves of a certain plant which has such stimulating qualities that to chew a single leaf will produce all the effects of a strong cup of tea.

The Butterfly.

The butterfly, like the bat, invariably goes to sleep head downward, its eyes looking straight down the stem of the grass on which it rests. It folds its wings to the utmost and thus wraps its body from the cold.

Too High to Run.

It is impossible to run at an altitude of 17,000 feet above the sea.

Lambeth Palace.

Lambeth palace, London, has been the home of the primates of Canterbury for over seven centuries. This palace can show specimens of almost every style of architecture which has prevailed since 1190.

The Mustache In Servia.

To Servians the greatest form of indignity is to have the mustache shaved off.

Mexican Funerals.

The Mexicans have a queer way of burying the dead. The corpse is tightly wrapped in century plant matting and placed in a coffin hired for about a shilling. One or two natives, as the case may be, place the coffin on their heads and go at a trot to the grave, where the body is interred, and the coffin is then returned.

Living In Tombs.

Thousands of Egyptians live in old tombs, eating, sleeping, wooing, loving, laughing, dancing, singing, doing all their deeds of daily life and household work among the mummies and sarcophagi.

Man's Byproducts.

There is enough hydrogen gas in a man, says the Medical Index Lancet, to carry him up to the clouds. He contains enough fat to make seventy-five candles and a large cake of soap and enough phosphorus to make 8,064 boxes of matches. His remaining constituents will yield, if utilized, six cruets of salt, a bowl of sugar and ten gallons of water.

A Curious Fish.

A curious fish found off the Mauritius and Japan is the mailed fish, about six inches in length, which jures its prey within reach of its jaws by means of a luminous disk on each side of the lower jaw.

Tortoise Shell.

What is called tortoise shell is not the bony covering or shield of the turtle, but only the scales which cover it. These are thirteen in number, eight of them flat and five a little curved. A large turtle affords about eight pounds of them, the plates varying from a quarter of an inch to an inch in thickness.

Air In Caves.

Certain caves have been reported as maintaining a uniform temperature, summer and winter, of 54 degrees F. They may be said to breathe twice a year—inhaling during the winter and exhaling during the summer.

District of Columbia.

The District of Columbia comprises an area of 69,245 square miles. The government consists of two civilian commissioners appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate and one army engineer officer, detailed by the secretary of war, the three constituting the board of commissioners for three years.

In Place of Flowers.

Flowers are never used for decorating in Tuscany, but at Christmas and Easter all the walls of the cathedrals are decked with wonderful damask of almost priceless value.

The Word "Kid"

"Kid" is merely a jocular substitution for "lamb," used for a young child, and is very old. Charles Reade and Dickens used "kid" in this sense, and Virgil's phrase "Ite capellae" has been freely translated "Go it, my kiddies."
