

CALUMET Baking Powder

Received Highest Award
World's Pure Food Exposition
Chicago, November, 1907

What does this mean?

It means that Calumet has set a new Standard in Baking Powder—the standard of the World. Because this award was given to Calumet after thorough tests and experiments, over all other baking powders.

It means that Calumet is the best baking powder in every particular in the world.

And this means that Calumet produces the best, most delicious, lightest, and purest baking of all baking powders.

Doesn't that mean everything to you?

BARTLEY.

Emma Reiner and Shirley Durbin did not attend school at Cambridge, last week, on account of vacation allowing the teachers to attend the teachers' convention at Lincoln.

W. B. Downs went to Yuma, Colorado, Friday, to make arrangements to move onto the homestead he recently filed on near that town.

The Misses Dyer from Cambridge are now located here in the jewelry and dressmaking business and are well pleased with the patronage they have so far received.

The "Prince of Sweden" at the opera house, last week, is pronounced the best we ever had. It certainly was fine.

The marriage of Miss Martha Bolls to Mr. Jacob Leibbroadt, last week, is a pleasure to her friends.

Jones & Crawmer, general merchants, are now having a clearance sale and will about the 25th of this month invoice the goods left and dissolve partnership. Mr. Jones remaining at the old place of business; Mr. Crawmer will occupy the two Webber buildings north of the post office.

Mrs. Roy Hindman was over from the Beaver last week visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Axtell.

Mrs. Nellie Burton returned to her home at Klatonia, this week.

There was a house-warming at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Mechem, one mile north of town, this week Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Cowles of Plattsmouth, Nebr., came up Sunday evening to visit with their daughter Mrs. F. A. Hodgkins and other relatives.

Dr. Arbogast and wife visited in Cambridge Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Babbitt visited Mr. Babbitt's relatives in Cambridge Sunday.

It is reported that E. E. Smith has bought the Farmers elevator. If this is the fact we are glad to say the farmers will suffer no loss, for Mr. Smith will always give them a fair deal.

Several boys rode down from Indianola Sunday on burros and created quite a deal of fun for the Bartley boys.

BOX ELDER.

M. Brannan returned Saturday from his western trip.

Mrs. J. S. Modrell and daughter Mrs. Stella Satchell visited Mrs. G. A. Shields and mother Friday.

A. W. Campbell visited his son S. L. Campbell of Osborn, going up Friday and returning Monday.

T. S. Draper and family visited at G. A. Shields Sunday.

A. T. Wilson has a sale on Wednesday the 17th.

Mrs. Stella Satchell returned to her home at Imperial Monday.

The fine weather still continues, but those having in small grain would like to see some moisture.

Taking Care of Yourself.

There never was a time when people paid as much attention to their health and strength as they do now. Time was when fine stock and fine horses were fed more carefully than human beings.

The result of properly balanced rations has worked wonders with stock and recent experiments are proving that the same thing is true of mankind.

It has been found that Quaker Oats eaten often and regularly taking the place of heavy, greasy foods will work wonders in the health and strength of a family.

School children fed frequently on Quaker Oats thrive physically and are always capable of the best work at school. For athletes, laborers, it is the best food. One of the attractive features of Quaker Oats is the perfect way it is packed. Besides the regular size package there is the large size family package.

Safe Remedies in Illness, as Opposed to the Use of Alcoholics

(Compiled by Mrs. Martha M. Allen.)

The question, "What shall I take in place of alcohol?" is frequently asked by those who think some form of alcohol really necessary to the cure of disease, but who from principle, would prefer other agents if they knew of them. The question shows lack of knowledge of the teachings of non-alcoholic physicians who have repeatedly stated that in most ailments alcohol is not only useless, but positively harmful, its reputation as a curative agency resting solely upon its power to deaden sensation. The patient does not feel the same uneasy sensations after taking it as before, hence thinks he is better. He does not know that the cessation of uneasiness results from the numbing of his capacity for feeling. This numbing of the nerves is really the beginning of the effect which, with continued doses, becomes complete intoxication. Those asking for "Substitutes for Alcohol" are referred to the following expressions of non-alcoholic physicians:—

"In abandoning the use of alcohol it should be clearly understood that we abandon an injurious influence, and escape from a source of disease, as we do when we get into a pur-r atmosphere. There is not the slightest occasion to do anything, or to take anything to make up for the loss of a strengthening or supporting agent. No loss has been incurred save the loss of a cause of disease and death."—Dr. J. J. Ridge of London Temperance Hospital.

Sir B. W. Richardson, M. D., said of the London Temperance Hospital: "No alcohol is administered, and no substitute for it. Any drug with similar action would be bad; warmth and suitable nourishment are relied on to keep up the system. We know that people who take alcohol often feel better; this is from the narcotic action. The pain may be stilled, and the disease forgotten, but it has not been removed—its symptom has been narcotised."

Dr. Nathan S. Davis, Sr., of Chicago, said to the writer: "Tell the women to ask for Safe Remedies, not for substitutes for what is injurious."

"In the whole history of its unholy alliance with medicine, alcohol has not cured a single disease per se; it is an antidote for nothing, a specific for nothing, a cure for nothing, a preventive of nothing."—Medical Temperance Journal, England.

SAFE REMEDIES IN ILLNESS.

"To dull the sense of pain with spirituous liquors without taking any further trouble about the mischief which it indicates is foolish."—Danish Physiology.

The following remedies and opinions are culled from the writings of physicians:

Alcoholic Craving—Free use of ripe fruit. Hot water when the craving comes on. Abstinence from meats and highly seasoned foods. "A dose of one-half drachm of ipecacuanna to produce full vomiting will by the removal of the morbid secretions from the stomach cause the desire for alcohol to immediately subside."—Dr. Higginbotham in British Medical Journal.

Anaemia—"In the treatment of anaemia port wine and other alcoholics are worse than useless."—Dr. J. J. Ridge, London.

"Deficiency of nutrition, of light and pure air are common causes. Remove the cause. Use simple and easily digested foods as eggs, milk, good butter-milk, pure of peas, beans or lentils, rice, well-cooked gruels, and other preparations of grains. A careful course of physical training is essential in some cases."—Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Battle Creek, Mich.

More Accurate.

The pastor and his wife had called upon a member of the congregation, a widow with a small but exceedingly lively boy, and were on their way home. "Well," said the preacher, "she seems to be a very intelligent woman anyhow."

"Yes."

"And very positive in expressing her opinions."

"On the contrary," said his wife, "she struck me as being strongly negative."

"Negative? How?"

"Everything she said to her little boy began with a 'Don't, Johnny!'"—Exchange.

Sympathy of the Flowers.

More or less credence is still given in England to the old belief in the sympathy of the vegetable kingdom for human suffering. "I prayed all night," writes a gardener whose employer was very sick, "and the flowers on my window sill drooped, and I said to myself they were dead. But toward morning they picked up, and I was sure enough the master was better. And the same thing had happened to the flowers I had sent to his bedroom. They were dying, and they came to life again. And I knew when those flowers picked up that the master was better."

The Pins.

"Oh, dear," sighed her husband's wife, "I can't find a pin anywhere. I wonder where all the pins go to anyway?"

"That's a difficult question to answer," replied his wife's husband, "because they are always pointed in one direction and headed in another."—Chicago News.

Painter's Colic.

Mamma—What's the matter with Fido? Tommie—Oh, I was playing with my soldiers, and he came in and insisted upon licking the whole army.—Yonkers Statesman.
