

Better Start Now

An early start and a definite plan goes far toward assuring success to the young man or woman starting out in life. No need of being "stingy" neither should you be a "spender." The sensible and easy method of creating a fund for your future needs, is to open an account with this bank; deposit whatever you can each week or month. Stick to it, and in time your success will be assured. Better start now; you will never regret it.

The Tribune has no official knowledge upon which to base its belief, but we will wager a last year's bird's nest that Grant and Pontius have not kissed and made up—yet.

The farmers of America are the largest beneficiaries in the increase of living during the past year. The average increase in farm products, the government report shows, is 15%.

The state convention of the People's Independent party of Nebraska will be held in Grand Island, Tuesday, July 26, at 2:30. Red Willow county is entitled to four delegates.

The glamour of success—though that success be tainted—sings many a promising wing. Apparently, few have the 4 o'clock in the morning courage to espouse the unpopular cause, the righteous cause which offers at least temporary failure.

If W. E. Andrews wants to be governor of the state of Nebraska here is one Barkis who is willing. He is one of the clean, able and honest men in Nebraska politics, with a record fair and honorable. Brainy, experienced, progressive, safe, he would give the state an economic, careful and upright administration. He has made good in every situation.

There is a growing impression and conviction among many thoughtful men in this country, that we Americans are too extravagant in our spending of money and in assuming debts. This conviction includes the government federal and down to the individual citizens. Extravagance and wastefulness, when they have done their perfect work, will bring us direful and disastrous results. With conservation, America needs a campaign in the interest of economy from the ground up, that is from the individual citizen to the federal government.

Norris' Little Sermon.
Insurgency is a disorder of the blood, and when it gets into the system it is apt to break out at the most unexpected times. Last Sunday it broke out on a street car on the fashionable Connecticut avenue line, and nearly ruined the day's devotion of a whole car load of people.

Representative Norris of Nebraska, leader of the House insurgents, was on a car, when there entered a white-haired woman, a stalwart young farmer of thirty, and a stylish and young woman about the same age. The conversation soon made it apparent that the young man and his mother were from the farm, visiting Washington for the first time. The young woman was a sister of the young man. The man was starting for home, leaving his mother to visit longer.

The car was crowded when it came to a transfer point, where the young man was to leave his mother and sister. He rose, gathered up his bag and turned to kiss his mother. The old lady stood up and threw her arms around her son's neck and for two minutes delivered some last messages.

"All out for Union Station," shouted the conductor, standing with his hand on the bell cord, watching the group. The young man stood very much embarrassed, but with his arm around his mother's waist.

"Break away; start the car, conductor," grumbled a silk-hatted man in morning suit who was accompanied by two fashionable women. "It's church time now."

The whole car was amused by this time, but the old lady still poured out parting admonitions. "All out," repeated the conductor, and the man in the hat grumbled again.

"Why can't people do this sort of thing before they start to church?" he demanded, whereat Representative Norris bridled up.

"Young man," he said, addressing the farmer, "you just take all the time you want saying good-by to your mother. You don't know when you will say it for the last time."

The young man's embarrassment was visibly increased.

"And if any of these people are so worried about their sins," went on Mr. Norris, "that they must hurry to church, why, they might get down on their knees right here and pray."

After this little sermon, there was no further exhibition of amusement over the little domestic incident. The young man took his time, too.

The Cambridge Clarion is authority for the statement that State Senator J. C. Gammill will be a candidate at the primary in August for re-election, and that C. A. Ready will try conclusions with Comrade Gammill for the place on the Republican ticket. That W. H. Faling is also a possibility. And, my brother, Red Willow county is still unheard-from.

At the Court House.
It seems that our dear little county clerk is at variance with the editor of the Indianola Reporter, and when Charley gets into trouble he always tries to divide laurels with the county attorney. This time he divides it up in this manner:

Sidney Dodge filed a complaint against a farmer's wife of Driftwood precinct with the clerk of the district court charging her with insanity. The insanity board could not find a trace of insanity in the woman and discharged her. The costs in the case is $33.50, and the tax payers of this county will have it to pay.

Now, Charley, you poor little innocent and ignorant creature, I feel sorry for you. Did you not know that the truth half told was oftentimes the worst kind of a lie? Now the facts are this: The farmer's wife you allude to came to my office one evening and wanted to prosecute her husband for cruelty. Upon inquiry she said she had been in the insane hospital about a year and nine months and was then out on parole. I asked her if she had any place to stay that night and she said she could stay with one of her old neighbors who lived here in town. She came back in the morning and still wanted to prosecute her husband. I left her in the office and went and interviewed the lady where she stayed all night. The lady corroborated her statement as to insanity, and thought she was not altogether right yet, and not safe. I thought the best way out of the matter was to file a complaint of insanity, bring in the witnesses and try both cases at once, and find out if she was insane and subject to be sent back to the hospital, or if she had been ill treated as she alleged (which I did). The board found she was not a fit subject for the insane hospital and I could not find any evidence that would convict her husband of cruelty or assault and battery. The cost in the case was $33.50, which was less than half it would cost to try the case she wanted to file a complaint in.

Now, Charley, you poor little much abused creature, if you will try and learn to attend to your own business you may possibly come out yet, and grow to be quite a man. I think there is lots of room. I have seen young fellows who did not appear to know much more than you do, who, with quite an effort on their part, grew up and made quite men of themselves.

With respect, your friend,
SIDNEY DODGE.

TALENTED MISS HARRIMAN.
Executive Ability of Financier's Daughter, Who Will Wed C. C. Rumsey.
Miss Mary Harriman, who is to marry Charles Cary Rumsey of Buffalo and New York on Thursday, May 26, is the second daughter of the late Edward H. Harriman, the railway magnate, who died on Sept. 9, 1909, and is one of six children who will fall heir to one of the largest fortunes of the world.

Miss Mary Harriman, who was made an executor of the immense estate left by her father, showed that she had inherited a good deal of his business capability when in the month following his death she and her mother decided that the girl herself had better take personal charge of the operation of the vast estate at Arden, N. Y. She had always been interested in sports and in the natural life of outdoor excitement and pleasure which the American girl, when she has opportunity to do so, usually leads. But now she showed that she possessed a talent of no mean order for executive work on a large scale. On Oct. 28, 1909, she formally took charge of the Arden farms dairy and assumed the management of the 45,000 acres of the Harriman Orange county farms, and since that time she has actually been running them herself.

Outdoor sports, such as tennis, horseback riding and automobilism, have always been of the keenest interest to Miss Harriman. Since she has been old enough to go around without a nurse she has spent days on the roads and hillsides and in the great forests of the vast Arden estate.

Charles Cary Rumsey is a son of Laurence D. Rumsey of Buffalo. The family is wealthy and socially prominent and has lived in Buffalo for a long time. Young Mr. Rumsey is a little less than thirty years old and has shown much promise in modeling and sculpture work. He studied for a time at Harvard and later spent several years in Paris at the Beaux Arts. Following his return to the United States he has continued his work and has had a number of groups in exhibitions which have won praise from critics. He is a splendid horseman, an expert polo player and has won many prizes and trophies of his skill at horse shows.

Relic of the Past.
The modern housewife if she now sees an old clothes powder in this collection is apt to "what is that for?" It was used for pounding clothes in a barrel on washing day in the everlasting fight with dirt. It is far removed from the modern laundry or the washing machine of the present day.

Ohio Senator Puts Himself Out of Marrying Class.
Strictly speaking, Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio may not be a woman hater, but—
Preceding a recent function in Washington the society editor of a Washington paper determined to describe the gowns of all the senators' wives present.

"Mr. Senator," she said as she accosted the Ohio statesman, "will you be kind enough to tell me what sort of gown Mrs. Burton will wear?"
Taking his eyeglasses from his pocket and putting them carefully upon his nose, the senator fixed the girl with a glance that nailed her to the mast and frigidly replied:
"Madam, there is no Mrs. Burton, and if I have anything to say about it there never will be."

J. W. Folk Boom For Presidency.
At a dinner to be given in St. Louis on June 2 the friends of Joseph W. Folk will launch his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1912. The former governor of Missouri will not ask the Democracy of the country to place him at the head of the party in the national campaign, but his friends in St. Louis and throughout the state will carry on a fight to that end with his consent. This campaign will be carried on irrespective of all efforts that may be made to get Folk into the race for the senatorship.

NEW WAYS OF DOING THE SAME OLD WORK.
Are you using up your strength needlessly and taking more time than necessary for the cleaning, scrubbing, scouring and polishing about the house? There is a new and better way of doing it. Save your time, your strength and do your work in almost half the time. How? Simply use Old Dutch Cleanser, the modern cleanser that makes your work easy instead of a burden. It may be used for some cleanly purpose in every room in the house from kitchen to bathroom; on the floors, woodwork and painted walls; on cutlery, pots, pans and kettles, glassware, enameled ware, metal surfaces, windows, etc., and new uses will suggest themselves every day. Stop the old way and try the new. It's by far the best.
