

Cash for Cream

WE have appointed Mr. D. B. Doyle, of the Bee Hive Store, McCook, as our agent at that place. He will receive, weigh, sample, test and issue checks in payment for the cream right in McCook, so that you can deliver your cream to him at the Bee Hive Store, Main avenue, and get your check right in hand the same day you deliver your cream.

We guarantee honest weights and correct tests, and you know you will always receive courteous treatment. If you are not already selling us your cream, we solicit your cream deliveries through Mr. Doyle.

AND WE PAY THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE, TOO.

COLONIAL VIRGINIA.

The Haughty Planters Were Fierce Foes of Royal Tyranny.

In no part of the world were social distinctions more rigidly defined than in colonial Virginia. The founders of that colony stepped from the brilliant court of Elizabeth into the forests of Virginia. The lord proprietor transported to his estate a little army of gentlemen and indentured servants, and afterward came the negro slave. Each formed a class apart from the others, and almost at once there was created a quasi system of aristocracy. The proprietor obligated himself to protect his tenants from the Indians. They in turn agreed to follow him to battle, precisely the system inaugurated by William the Conqueror for the military defense of his realm. His environment naturally bred certain habits of command, fostered a capacity for directing the efforts of others and imposed a sense of responsibility upon the planter for the lives that were in his keeping.

Above all else the planter jealously guarded his rights as an English freeman. When liberty languished in England the Virginian sturdily resisted every aggression of royal tyrants. One husband, one wife, one home, one king—God—this was the planter's creed. But he reserved the right to renounce a monarch who violated the ancient compact between king and people. No other people numerically as unimportant as that group of Virginia settlers has given to humanity so many statesmen, soldiers, orators, patriots and philosophers.—Everybody's Magazine.

Baring the Feet at Worship.

In India Hindus and Mussulmans alike wear both sandals and shoes (slippers) and the latter boots also, but the invariable rule is to remove them after entering a private house just when stepping on to the mat or carpet on which the visitor takes his seat. They must be cast off, the right boot or shoe first, before the worshiper enters a temple or mosque, and it is still regarded as an absolute profanation to attempt to enter either fully shod. But the domestic habit arose out of its obvious propriety, and the religious ritual of "the shoes of the faithful," now and for centuries past observed throughout Islam, can be demonstrated to have been dictated by, if indeed it be not derived directly from, the universal social etiquette of the east.

Facetious Nomenclature.

"The people of Wales escaped much when it was decided to call them Welshmen instead of Whalers." "Yes, but it would have been still worse if they had called them Welshers."—Baltimore American.

He who brings ridicule to bear against truth finds in his hands a blade without a hilt.—Landon.

WIGS AND BEARDS.

Bordered on the Grotesque In England in Queen Anne's Time.

At the restoration wigs began to be more generally worn, and in Queen Anne's reign they became the most costly item of gentlemen's wardrobes. Sir Richard Steele's "full buttoned black wig" cost 50 guineas (now, $250), and the fashion became so cumbersome that Colley Cibber when playing "The Fool of Fashion" to satirize the styles introduced a wig of flax so large that it was brought on the stage in a sedan chair. As a matter of fact the stagecoach lines were compelled to restrict the length of wig boxes to three feet.

John Taylor, one of the English minor poets, thus depicts the beards of his day: Some seem as they were starched and fine, Like to the bristles of an angry swine. And some, to set their love's desire on edge, Are cut and pruned like a quick 'set hedge: Some like a spade, some like a fork, some square, Some round, some mowed like stubble, some quite bare, Some sharp stiletto fashioned, dagger-like, That may in whispering a man's eye out-pyke; Some like a hammer cut or Roman T; These beards extravagant reformed must be; Some with the quadrate, some triangle fashion, Some circular, some oval in translation; Some perpendicular in longitude, Some like a thicket for their crassitude; Thus height, depth, breadth, trifurc, square, oval, round, And rules geometrical in beards abound.—National Magazine.

Did His Best.

The young politician was as obliging as possible, but there was a limit to his possibilities. When the reporter asked him what his wife would wear at the mayor's reception he assumed a confidential air.

"I'll tell you just as much as I know myself," he said. "Last night she told me she should wear white. This morning at breakfast she said she'd decided on her rose colored gown, and when I said goodby to her she had spread a gray one beside the rose colored on one chair and her black face beside the white on another and was taking something else out of the closet. If her hair hadn't caught on a hook as she turned round I might have been able to tell you more."—Youth's Companion.

The Perfect Figure.

"John, dear," queried the young wife, glancing up from the physical culture magazine she was perusing, "what is your idea of a perfect figure?" "Well," replied her husband, "$100,000 may not be perfection, but it's near enough to satisfy a man of my simple tastes."—Chicago News.

Swastikas Shower.

Last Saturday evening, at the home of Miss Alice McKenna, a miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Maude L. McBrayer; and on Tuesday evening of this week, a tin shower was given in Miss Maude's honor at the home of Miss Agnes Elbert. On both occasions the social features and gifts were up to highest traditions of the tribe.
