A fortified town calls itself a Gibraltar with as little excuse as some women call themselves Madonnas.

Under the caption, "The Union Pacific Railroad and Louisiana Territory," the new World's Fair folder issued by the advertising department of the Union Pacific, which has attracted such general attention, recites these interesting facts:

"While the construction of the Union Pacific Railroad, its trials and triumphs, are a part of the history of the United States, the important part played by this railroad in the development of the Louisiana Purchase can hardly be estimated. In the building up of this vast domain it has been one of the chief factors.

One hundred years ago the population of the region was estimated at 20,000. Up to the inception of the Union Pacific (in 1860) it had increased to 3,233,529. In 1900 it numbered over 13,000,000 of inhabitants. In this wonderful growth, with its stupendous increase in all the many-sided phases of commercial, material and intellectual prosperity, the Union Pacific—as a glance at the map will show—has had a conspicuous share. It has opened vast regions of fertile country to settlers, and brought great areas of an unknown and unproductive wilderness into close communion with metropolitan centers and markets. Thriving cities, towns and hamlets, through its efforts, have sprung up in every direction.

It may be of interest to know that the total number of manufacturing plants, and the value of their outputs, combined with that of the national products as reported in the census of 1900, give an aggregate production for the Louisiana region of $3,500,000,000 annually, or 223 times the original purchase price. The same census reports (1900) also show the total population to be 13,343,255, of which 8,303,096 inhabitants are living in the states and territories reached by the Union Pacific. On the 1900 census figures, it is estimated that the true wealth of the Louisiana purchase can be stated at about $13,051,868,359, of which $9,360,621,387 is represented in the states reached by this great railroad."

Demand for Sweet Cream Butter.

Sweet cream butter is butter that has not been salted and not butter made from unripened cream. That the demand for this kind of butter is increasing is a remarkable fact. The creamery at Ringwood, Illinois, is making about 30,000 pounds of butter a month and all, except that used by the patrons, is being taken by a large dairy company of Chicago. Gradually there has been an increase in the demand for unsalted butter, till now two-thirds of all the butter supplied by that creamery is of this kind. That is, about 20,000 pounds of unsalted butter is being supplied by this one creamery every month and there are numerous other creameries making some sweet cream butter. At first the demand was from the foreigners almost wholly, and especially from the Jews. Indeed, the Jews were such great users of this unsalted butter that the factory men dubbed it "Jew butter." But it is now losing that characterization, for the reason that many native Americans are using it instead of the salted article. We have supposed that the demand for the fresh article was to be confined to European countries like France, but we are evidently mistaken. The butter is making great headway in England, where the demand has always previously been for salted butter. This in our country at least marks a new phase of creamery development.

The Dairies and the Doctors.

One man that has the handling of a good deal of milk for Chicago tells the writer that he has an arrangement with the doctors in several towns from which he buys milk, by which the doctors report to him the presence of any contagious disease on any farm in the locality, whether that farm is producing milk or not. In this way it is possible for him to know about the conditions under which milk is being made for his trade. This he finds to be a very good plan. In the case of the contagious disease being on the farm of a man that is selling him milk, he can take measures to prevent the sending out of that milk. On the other hand, if the disease is on the farm of a man that is not selling him milk, he can serve a notice on the men that are selling him milk that they are not to receive the milk from such a farm. If this practice were made general it would greatly improve the situation as to the spread of contagious diseases by means of milk. Cases are constantly coming to the attention of the public where some man that is supplying perhaps only a very small amount of milk to the trade is the means of scattering disease; that ravage communities using the milk. Every man should have too much conscience to sell milk when he has a deadly disease in his family, but actual experience demonstrates that that is just the time he will sell his product, as a general thing, for the reason that his needs are greatest at that time. This phase of human nature must be taken into consideration.

"Scalding with Cold Water."

In a visit to a creamery recently the writer noted that the combined churns and butter workers were in perfect condition and that no smell could be detected. These churns had been in use for a year. The buttermaker laughed when the condition of the churns were mentioned to him and said that he never had trouble in keeping his churns perfectly sweet and clean, though he knew of factories where the combined utensils were always in a condition that was not satisfactory. Some of them wouldn't bear looking into, unless the nose were kept out. He declared the trouble to be that too many buttermakers "scald out their churns with cold water."

U. S. SENATOR FROM SOUTH CAROLINA
Recommends Pe-ru-na
For Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble.

Ex-Senator M. C. Butler.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Catarrh of the Stomach is Generally Called Dyspepsia—Something to Produce Artificial Digestion is Generally Taken.

Hence, Pepsin, Pancreatin and a Host of Other Digestive Remedies Has Been Invented.

These Remedies Do Not Reach the Seat of the Difficulty, Which is Really Catarrh.

EX. U. S. Senator M. C. Butler from South Carolina, was Senator from that State for two terms. In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., from Washington, D. C., says:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine besides a good tonic."—M. C. Butler.

The only rational way to cure dyspepsia is to remove the catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh. Peruna does not produce artificial digestion. It cures catarrh and leaves the stomach to perform digestion in a natural way. This is vastly better and safer than resorting to artificial methods or narcotics.

Peruna has cured more cases of dyspepsia than all other remedies combined, simply because it cures catarrh wherever located. If catarrh is located in the head, Peruna cures it. If catarrh has fastened itself in the throat or bronchial tubes, Peruna cures it. When catarrh becomes settled in the stomach, Peruna cures it, as well in this location as in any other.

Peruna is not simply a remedy for dyspepsia. Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Peruna cures dyspepsia because it is generally dependent upon catarrh.
