 There were more advertisements in one Hiawatha paper last week than appeared in all three of the local organs.
 We heard two little boys debating the proposition as to which had the best papa. The first boy said "Well my papa is the best 'cause he gives me all the nickles I want for gum and candy and ice cream sodas." The other retorted, "Well my papa he helps me make boats and swings and goes swimming with me and we just have the most fun." What do you think about it? Which boy won the debate?
 A Falls City young man on the World's fair ground with a party of young people, among whom was his best girl. Some one suggested that they take dinner at the Cascade restaurant. Everybody agreed save the lad from this town. He called the girl away from the others and said "Grace, I can't afford to take dinner with you there. I haven't much money. I am not earning large wages. If we dine there it will cost me several dollars and that means one day less with you. The girl turned to her friends and excused herself saying that she and C—— wanted to look at something in one of the buildings. The next day Grace brought her lunch basket filled for two and together they carried it all over the blooming fair grounds. Now we think C—— is a courageous and sensible boy and that Grace is a mighty nice girl. What do you think about it?

 M. Taylor postmaster of Shubert and George Lewis of the same place were in town Monday in attendance at the saloon hearing from their village.
 Judge W. H. Kelligar held an adjourned term of court in the district clerk's office Monday. He confirmed the sales in the Dorland case, as he did also in the Firebaugh and Rieger land sales. The Shubert liquor case came up for hearing and the court granted the appeal and declared the license void. Shubert will therefore be dry this year. The Judge returned Wednesday and disposed of several motions and some unfinished business.
 Rev. Pugeon addressed a very large audience at the Christian church last Sunday morning, using for his subject—"Not Ashamed." He presented to his hearers the attitude assumed by the apostle Paul in the presentation of the gospel, his boldness, fearlessness and sincerity and then advised that all Christian men do likewise. There will be no preaching services at the Christian church until after the Salem chautauqua. In the evening the first Sunday in August Rev. Pugeon will deliver an illustrated sermon on—"The Ladders." All are invited.
 United States Senator Clark of Montana has been educating "his ward" for several years. It now appears that they have a child two years old. Senator Clark claims they have been married three years but kept it a secret because Mrs. Clark did not want to go in society, which she would have been compelled to do had it been known that she was the wife of the senator. She has become reconciled however, and is now trying to break into the upper crust. If we had as much money as Clark we would hire some man to invent a better excuse than that.

 J. B. VARNER, Agent.

The man or woman who takes a vacation during the heated period is the one who lives the longest, enjoys life the most and does the best work.

St. Louis and return, all kinds of reduced rates daily.

Chicago and return either direct or via Sr. Louis, daily low rates.

Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs, Utah, the Black Hills of South Dakota, the Yellowstone National park of Wyoming—practically half rates all summer. Ask the agent for particulars or write L. W. Wakeley, general passenger agent at Omaha.

A perusal of the Hiawatha World ought to inspire every country editor. Of course all men in this business have neither the literary nor the executive ability of Ewing Herbert who edits this paper, and very few editors receive the encouragement from local advertisers that is given to him. But grit and courage are a formidable combination, and combined with the other essentials so largely possessed by Mr. Herbert will accomplish great results as is evidenced by the World.

Nearly every newspaper man says that his paper is the best. This is the easiest thing in the newspaper business—to say. We are trying to make the Tribune the best in this locality, and think that in a measure we are succeeding. What you think about it however, is of greater interest to us. If you think enough of us to become a subscriber, we will welcome you very gladly. We think we can be of mutual advantage to each other; we would like to do our part. Will you give us the chance?
