

What Others Say.

Alone.

There should be two words, dearest, one made up
Of all glad sounds that ever breathed on earth;
Of all the ecstasies that fill joy's cup,
Of love, and peace, and happiness and mirth
The other like a weary, wailing sigh,
Full of sad tones in longing, hungry strain,
Hopeless, despairing, just a baffled cry
Of love and loneliness and blank, numb pain.
One I would love—the other I would fear,
These two words, chosen with consummate art;
One meaning we're alone together, dear,
The other meaning, we're alone,—apart.
—Carolyn Wells.

Misses Helen Resterer and Marie McCarthy, of Falls City, visited Sunday with Miss Mena Gampper.—Hiawatha World.

Supervisor Hutchings and John Gilligan of Falls City were in town the last of the week inspecting the new bridge that is being put in north of town.—Humboldt Enterprise.

Miss May Mattox of Falls City was a guest of Mrs. E. Dorland several days recently, and a small company of friends were entertained in her honor Saturday evening.—Humboldt Leader.

J. Rock Williamson was in town Friday for the first time in a week. His enforced stay at home was due to the fact that while cutting hedge he accidentally struck his foot with the sharp knife, inflicting a deep and painful wound.—Humboldt Enterprise.

With its last issue the Falls City Tribune was one year old, and in spite of all predictions to the contrary, it maintains a place in the front rank of the weeklies in southeast Nebraska. Here's wishing The Tribune a continuance of success.—Dawson News Boy.

The Falls City Tribune completed the first year of its existence with the last issue. From a very humble beginning, The Tribune has reached the point where it is generally regarded as the foremost news paper published at the county seat.—Humboldt Enterprise.

J. J. Turner visited relatives at Falls City on Sunday last, and was present at the marriage of his grand-daughter, Miss Claude Albright, well known to most of our people, who was married to Mr. Hayden Prater of Falls City, where the couple will make their home. The Humboldt friends of the bride extend best wishes to the newly wedded pair.—Humboldt Leader.

For some unexplained reason the sheep business does not seem to follow the rule that other products. When the cotton was high everybody in the south went to growing cotton. The same thing holds good in the north with cattle, hogs, corn, and wheat. There does not seem to be enough wool in the world to meet the demand, yet nobody appears to be getting excited over the sheep business.—Humboldt Standard.

Guy Hutchins attended a Watch Party, at Verdon Saturday evening and saw the event of the New Year. Then he went to Falls City, and visited his parents over Sunday, returning home Monday.—Shubert Citizen.

C. A. Lord, wife and daughter spent Sunday with his brother, J. S. Lord in Salem, who went to Lincoln Monday to deliberate with the lower house of the state legislature, where he will sit as a member from the county. As the winter has been extremely mild the eight lonesome democrats in the legislature will not cut much ice this season.—Shubert Citizen.

Considerable excitement was created in town one day during the week when it became known that Amos Capps, the late smallpox victim of Falls City was in town. Constable Page telephoned to Dr. Kerr of Falls City who attended the patient, and he reported that the body and underclothing of Capps had been thoroughly disinfected but could not vouch for the suit of cloths he wore. What ever steps the town board may take will be what they think is best for the health and safety of the community.—Dawson Newsboy.

Farmers Institute at Humboldt.

The Friday morning session was devoted largely to a discussion of the problem of good roads, and this topic proved the most interesting of any proposed, the discussions being very animated at times. The institute took a decided stand against the plans proposed at the recent mass meeting held at Falls City to discuss and devise some method to improve the roads and plan for needed legislation along this line.

The following resolution was proposed and adopted without any opposition: It is the sense of the farmers' institute of Humboldt that no change be made in the laws of the state necessitating the appointment of a county road engineer." The committee which was appointed to draft this resolution was also instructed to have the same forwarded to members of the legislature and senator from this district. It was also decided that a protest would be sent against the reduction of the number of supervisors from four to two. In the discussion of methods of caring for the roads the discussion brought out the fact that all who had tried the dragging project proposed last year by D. Ward King of Maitland, Mo., were more than ever satisfied with the plan. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Guy Hummel, president; Bernard Sterns, vice president; Don Gridley, secretary; James Holman, treasurer; Miss Clara Sterns, lady president; Grace Jones, lady vice president. The session is being held at the opera house and the speakers from abroad sent here by the state society announces that the attendance and interest displayed at Humboldt is the greatest of any point on the route. The hall was well filled with displays of home cooking, dairying, fruits and cereals, upon which premiums were offered but which have not yet been passed upon. The session will close with moving pictures display.—Lincoln News.

Farmers Understand Advertising.

There is no doubt about the fact that the farmers as a class have come to understand the principles of advertising almost as well as the town business men. Nearly every farmer who has had a successful public sale in this county this fall or winter has had his sale bill printed entire in The World. It pays. Every farmer who has done so will tell you that he has had a big sale. The World goes into many homes where it would be impossible to send bills. Three sale bills are printed in this issue of the paper alone.—Hiawatha World.

Big Cattle Feeder.

Jacob Lichty, of Morrill, is one of the best known cattle feeders in Northern Kansas. He purchased this fall over 500 head of stockers and feeders to put out on his big farm to feed up. This winter he is going to postpone his feeding and begin later in the spring. Last year he began to market his fat steers right after the holidays, but at the present time he has no cattle in his feedlots.—Hiawatha World.

He's All for Your Money.

Beware of the kindly stranger who writes that you have been "fortunate enough" to win a valuable free prize or present in some past guessing or counting contest, and that "the present will be promptly forwarded upon receipt of ninety-five cents," or thereabouts, "to cover packing charges."—X.

How About Auburn?

Rulo has come to the front again with another shooting scrape. Were it not for the frequent gun-plays that are made in that town, the rest of the state would forget it was on the map.—Auburn Herald.

Rev. Hawley Narrowly Averted a Cold Plunge.

Rev. G. W. Hawley had a thrilling experience last Friday and narrowly averted a cold plunge into a cistern. He had opened the trap door and had extended a ladder through the opening intending to go down and examine the pumping apparatus. He supposed there was only a couple feet of water in the cistern and set the ladder accordingly. Rev.

Hawley got on the ladder and started down, The ladder also began to go down and went about eight feet leaving the Reverend clinging to the boards above. By squirming about and feeling with his feet he finally succeeded in reaching a support from which he managed to climb out.—Auburn Republican.
