Next Month

You will want to clean house and perhaps do some papering. We want you to come in and look at our selection of Wall Paper. Our stock is all new. The Wall Paper Trust has gone to pieces and prices have dropped so we are able to show better goods for less money than we have been able to show for several years.

QUIGLEY & CHAPMAN DRUGGISTS VALENTINE, NEBR.

Roan Bros. were up from Woodlake yesterday.

We hear that there will be another wedding soon of a Valentine belle to a raholman.

Ben Pays of Woodlake was up last Thursday and handed us a dollar on subscription.

C. L. Latta was in town yesterday and day before on business and took out some building material to his ranch near Oasis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thackey celebrated their 6th wedding anniversary yesterday. A few invited friends and Mrs. Thackey's mother, Mrs. S. A. Rice and her grandson Lawrence Rice were present.

We heard about somebody getting lost on the prairie and getting home too late to sleep but we promised not to say anything about it so we wont tell but you ask little Wallace; he didn't promise not to tell.

L. W. Handy to Miss Jessie Anderson by Judge Towne, April 1 1901.

J. W. Waddill of Irwin to Miss Cora Townsend by Rev. Sloan at the Donoher Hotel April, 3, 1901.

L. P. Klopping of Woodlake to Miss Lizzie Stageman of Conndil Bluffs, Ia. by Rev. Sloan at the Donoher Hotel, April, 3, 1901.

Our esteemed friend Peter Baggard of Rosebud came down Tuesday and took the train Wednesday morning for the east where he will be gone several days on business. Mr. Baggard is the same jolly good hearted fellow as he used to be and his friends always cheer up when he comes around. Laugh and the world laughs with you. Weep and you weep alone.

Work has begun excavating the basement for the court house and stone is being hauled for the walls. The work is being pushed right along. Already several loads of stone are on the ground and Matt House and Louis Smith are hauling dirt out with 4 horse teams and then take off the lead teams and haul the surplus dirt down to the mill where it is used to bank up around the mill. Some good building sand is found in the excavation down about 4 feet.

COMMUNICATIONS

Down the River.

Did you get April fooled? Well! we have been lost a week or two. That blizzard was pretty rocky and the snow was pretty deep where it drifted. Stock was not damaged to speak of in these parts.

The circuit parties, in the Berry Bridge neighborhood have closed until further orders. The last one at J. Bristol's was all right especially in the peanut game, and that ice cream, Oh my, it would just melt in one's mouth.

Frank Ashburn has returned from his claim near Simeon. Frank has been adding some improvements to his homestead.

The Berry Bros. are starting a new cow ranch at the Damascus store near the Berry bridge.

Harvy Johnson was sick Friday night at the party but next day he was able to run a coyote about 15 or 20 miles and shoot a jack rabbit on the fly.

Mr. T. J. Ashburn has a new cowboy these days.

Grandpa Grooms spent a few days with his relatives around Sparks the front end of the week.

Who said that Anderson & Rounds was going to move their fence back along the south side of the Niobrara?

We expect to know soon if we will have a skimming station at Sparks.

The editor and his wife very often disagree with each other. She sets things to right and he writes things to set. She reads what others write and he writes what others read. She keeps the devil out of the house as much as she can and he retains him and could hardly go to press without him. She knows more than she writes and he writes more than he knows.

Limberger cheese laid away in cupboards and refrigerators will drive away ants, says in exchange. Yes, it will drive away ants: it will do more; it will drive a spike through a brick, it will drive a hog out of a tan yard, it will drive a tramp from a meal of victuals, it will drive a herd of cattle over a precipice, it will drive a mule through a barbed wire fence, it will drive a negro from a chicken roost, or a man into insanity who stays within fifty feet of its obnoxious presence and yet some people will eat it.—Ex.

Cashier Chas. Sparks, of the Cherry County Bank, of Valentine, was in the city on business the first of the week.

Cody Cow Boy.

Robt. McGeer left for Valentine, this morning, to make our metropolis his home in the future, having bought Frank Fisher's saloon.

J. H. Quigley came up from Valentine, Friday noon, and drove out to the ranch. Returning to Cody in the evening. He went home Saturday morning.

Dawson & Ball's carload of Hereford bulls arrived in Cody, last Thursday afternoon, and Pell Annis, who was here to receive them, left for the ranch, Friday morning, with as fine a bunch of bulls as was ever shipped here.

Judge Wolcott of Valentine, being attorney for plaintiff, in the law suit last Thursday, gave this office an agreeable call. The judge is one of those spirited fellows who always looks on the bright side of everything and puts such cheerfulness in his conversation as to make those about him feel that there is more sunshine than shadow in this world and that this life is worth living.

Ainsworth Herald.

Mrs. Minnie Brayton came down from Valentine, Wednesday morning, to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John DeWoody.

Bob Good went down to Bassett, Tuesday on business.

Ed Blake came down from Valentine Saturday morning.

Miss Hobson was absent all of last week but resumed her school duties Monday.

Miss Clara Ayres is again with us in school, having contradicted the report that she is about to leave us.

For information on money coming call on Clyde Davenport—Philomathian, 11th grader and Republican reporter.

An easy proposition:—Given the smiling faces of the 11th grade and the cheerful mein of the professor equal to prove that those "dreadful poems" are finished.

Several members of the 9th grade Physical geography class were running about Friday vainly endeavoring to magnify a snow flake before it disappeared. Poor things, pity melted even the icy hearts of the snow flakes. Moral: sympathy always comes when least wanted.

Did Miss Starr and Miss Sherman tell you that they didn't get fooled on the first of April? If they did; well there are times when "yes" means "no" and "no" means "yes."

A slight accident occurred during a physics experiment week before last consisting of the blowing up of a glass tube. We believe that no one was seriously injured tho' Mr. Sawyer reports himself to have been so badly jarred mentally that he was unable to get his Caesar in the afternoon.

A sound of solemn sighing in the air

And groans and lamentations;

The 11th grade must soon start to prepare,

Those horrid, old orations.

Miss Eason's room is preparing a program which we hear will be very entertaining.

The Chadronian has gathered its dying forces, rallied its waning courage and this week hurled down upon us an H. 5. column measuring 7 1/2 inches in length and 2 1/2 inches in width.

Having weighed our "pro's" and "con's" thought on "this" and "that" and minded our "p's" and "q's" as well as we could, most of us have decided that April fool's day is of heathen origin and ought to have been abolished in the generation preceeding us.

It is always well to hear both sides of a question, therefore anyone wishing to know anything about class colors should interview both Mr. Sawyer and Miss Carlson on the subject.

The "Quiet Family" will appear in the hall Friday evening, April 12.

We would take this opportunity to thank the editor of the VALENTINE DEMOCRAT for his kindness in placing our name on the roll of complimentary subscribers.

Prof. Watson read us a poem one morning last week composed by a member of the 11th grade, but the professor failed to read the signature at the end of it. Therefore every 11th grader has been hoping that everybody would think it was his or hers. But it has since developed a signature and here it is:—

LIGHT AFTER DARKNESS.

The sun had sank o'er the western hills The birds had sought their nest, And the drooping leaves of the daffodils, Were lowly bent in rest, The azure blue of the cloudless sky, Was fading far from sight, She distant light of the twinkling stars, Shone far into the night, The dismal hoot of the distant owl, Borne by the winds on high, Would pierce the depths of one's inmost soul Who chanced to hear her cry, And so to each such a night is born, At sometime in his life, But every night is replaced by morn, To vanish all its strife.

The snow has gone off quite fast during the warm days that followed the storm and although two other light snows fell last week and covered the ground about 4 to 5 inches it has now melted and leaves the ground in fine condition. Only the large drifts are left now and they have gone down until you could scarcely believe that only last week they were mountains of snow. The loss of stock was as we reported last week comparatively light, a large number of stockmen losing none though stock that were poorly kept during the winter and those unfortunate enough to get themselves just where the snow was going to drift fared worse and several report losses of from 1 to 15 per cent.

Mrs. M. A. Jackson of London England, mother of John Jackson up on the table, who has been here visiting her son since last September, is visiting Mrs. P. C. Lawson this week. Mrs. Jackson will return to London next Tuesday week via New York where will she visit relatives and friends a while before returning to her native land.

It seems to be the general opinion in Washington that the failure of the republican legislature of Delaware to elect two senators will result in restoring that state to the democratic column. Speaking of the failure a well known business man of Wilmington who was in Washington this week said: "The people of Delaware have become resigned. They have been for a considerable period of time with only one senator in congress and I suppose they can get along for a while without any. I think that Delaware has learned what it has to expect from the republicans and will be found in the democratic column the next time it has an opportunity."

Last week the editor of the DEMOCRAT called upon County Clerk Daniels with a request for the copy for the bar docket for the April term of the district court and was informed by him that he had ordered the printing done and that it was already done. This is in defiance of the order of the county commissioners awarding this printing to I. M. Rice of the VALENTINE DEMOCRAT. It is our understanding that the county commissioners have charge of the county printing and if their orders are not superior to that of the county clerk, or clerk of the district court, then we are at fault. Mr. Daniels has no excuse whatever for refusing to comply with the county commissioners award, except as a matter of political assistance of his party organ. In letting a contract for the printing the commissioners required a bond for the faithful performance of duty and this bond is supposed to be of sufficient importance to guarantee correct and prompt work and which would relieve the county clerk of all responsibility should we fail in the performance of our duty. But Mr. Daniels is extremely partisan and has a desire to run things to suit himself and makes the bluff to people he d d f r with political y by saying, "You're not running things here." and continues the running of his office to meanful says to order or to contract for county supplies establishing himself as county purchasing agent requiring the other county officers to procure an order from him for supplies they may need. We want to know if County Clerk Daniels has this power delegated to him and where did he get his authority for "running things." We question it, and we would like to know.

A young man in a neighboring county by the name of Miss Helen Hunt, found a purse in church one Sunday, and reported the find to the pastor, with the request that he report the finding of the purse and contents, and that it would be returned to its owner by applying to her. So, the following Sunday the pastor made this announcement from the pulpit; "Somelody lost a purse here last Sunday evening, and if the owner wants the property he can go to Helen Hunt for it.
