Nervousness—headaches—sleeplessness and dizziness, often puzzle the best physicians. Nine times in ten eyestrain is the direct cause. Nothing can effect a permanent cure that does not remove the cause. That is what our scientifically fitted glasses do.

EGGERT, Wyo., Feby. 10, 1901.—Mr. C. H. Johnson, Norfolk, Neb.—Dear Sir: Please allow me to thank you for the manner in which you packed the goods purchased from you. They all came in in good shape and well wrapped, and we are well pleased with all bought of you.
We have a nice and comfortable little home here, and if you should ever be fortunate enough to be in this locality, you have a warm invitation from both myself and wife to call upon us.
Yours truly,

The east bound Union Pacific freight met with an accident yesterday between Hoskins and Winside that delayed traffic for several hours. A census of the town is being taken under the auspices of members of the First Baptist church. The object of the census is to ascertain how many citizens are members of the churches, how many children each family has and what Sunday school they attend. The city is being thoroughly canvassed and it is expected that some interesting statistics will be compiled. Citizens can materially aid in the work by giving prompt and intelligent attention to the canvassers.

The team of H. A. Pasewalk, which was attached to a new lumber wagon, ran away yesterday. The wagon was occupied by Herman Nenow and Chas. Brubaker, who were returning from Mr. Pasewalk's place south of the city. The tongue of the wagon was broken in some manner when the horses had attained a good speed and the end attached to the wagon ran into the ground, raising it up and tipping it over. The men were thrown out and, while Brubaker escaped without serious injury, Nenow suffered a broken leg.

Henney Leroy and his company gave a highly creditable performance last night at the Auditorium when "Other People's Money," E. O. Towne's comedy success was presented. The production is full of genuine wit, minus the smut and insinuations which characterize many so-called modern comedies, and the parts were well handled. The play was along the same lines as some of the old time comedies, which many people are old fashioned enough to believe are superior in every sense to the modern productions. Mr. Leroy, as "Hutchinson Hopper" of the Chicago Board of Trade was most clever in acting his part and J. Charles Haydon as "Oliver Starbird," Hopper's clerk, was deserving of especial mention, although every member of the cast performed artistically. The stage settings were excellent. The attendance was fairly good and audience appreciative.
