Picnic For Fremont Orphans'

GROSS RECEIPTS ABOUT $2,600.

Yesterday Was Truly German Lutheran Day in Norfolk—Every Department of the Picnic Was on a Magnificent Scale.
Interesting Program of Exercises.

From Monday's Daily

Yesterday came up to all expectations as German Lutheran day in Norfolk.
The gloomy and threatening aspect of the weather in the morning no doubt served to keep many of those who would have attended at home, but those who braved the elements—and there were thousands—were rewarded for their pluck with a good day and a delightful time. The clouds cleared away toward noon and, with the exception of a considerable breeze from the south, which however did not prove disagreeable to the people in the grove, the weather was all that could have been asked for.

The people began to assemble at the grove early and there was a hustle to complete the final arrangements.
Those who came by team were the first to arrive and long before noon almost every available hitching place for horses was occupied, while many teams were unhitched and tied to the wagons which were scattered over the prairie adjacent to the grove.

The first excursion train, from Omaha, arrived about 11 o'clock. It consisted of 11 coaches, which were packed to their utmost capacity with people, the platforms being also filled. This train carried 1,015 people, not including children, of which there were many.

It also brought the Arlington band and the orphans, of whom there was quite a company and included 14 small boys. The fare for the round trip from Omaha was $2. At Stanton there were 50 people who could not get on the train and it is understood that an engine and several coaches returned and brought them up. On the arrival of the train the crowd proceeded to the grove, the greater number having to walk, owing to limited passenger carrying facilities, although there were many hacks and carryalls constantly running between the city and the grove.

At the grove arrangements had been made for handling a vast concourse of people, but they were none too extensive as was soon disclosed.

Several acres of space had been covered with plank seats where the exercises were to be held and at the north end was placed an extensive platform from which the speaking was given and the vocal and instrumental music rendered. The platform had seats arranged for many persons and was fully occupied during the day.
An arch of green over the front of the platform and other decorations were used to give it a nice appearance.

For feeding the multitude ample and perfect arrangements were made. The tables were arranged in the form of a hollow square, inside of which were several tents containing the provisions, and of which there proved to be an abundance. The tables were piled full of bread, biscuits, cake and other eat-ables while a steam cooker was employed to prepare the coffee. The tables were enclosed with a woven steel fence, to prevent a crush and those who wished to eat were admitted through a gate and the pay collected. They were then given the freedom of the tables to eat to their satisfaction. A corps of waiters in the center saw that the hungry were supplied with coffee and prevented the stacks of eatables from becoming exhausted by replenishing them at intervals.

In the way of lighter refreshments there was a stand which handled ice cream exclusively and two others, at which were sold lemonade, pop, fruits, peanuts, cigars, etc. These stands were exhausted, in some particulars early in the afternoon, the ice cream arrangements being especially inadequate. Money was spent and given liberally, it being said that one stand alone took in the magnificent sum of $300.

The picnic was a grand success in almost every particular and it is said that the crowd in attendance and the receipts of the day were larger than at any picnic which has heretofore been held, which speaks well for the enterprise of the Norfolk people.

The provisions were contributed most generously by people of both the St.
Paul and Christ churches of this city and members of both congregations worked harmoniously together to make the affair a success.

Of the bread and cake contributed there was a large amount remaining.
That which had been cut up was distributed among the poor families of Norfolk and vicinity and the balance will be sent to the orphan's home at Fremont where good use will be made of it.

The receipts of the day exceeded all anticipations, a large share of them being received at the tables of which there was 400 feet.

The gross receipts were somewhere between $2,500 and $3,000. After the expenses are paid it is believed there will be left in the neighborhood of $2,000 for the home.

From the excursion train there was a gross income of $1,177. Of this amount the company will receive $400 and the balance, $777, will go to the home.

Other receipts were from collections, which were liberally contributed to hack fare, etc. The gain to the home will be known later when the expense accounts are settled.

The affair was managed by a board of directors and a committee to whom, to a great extent, the success of the picnic is due. They were composed as follows: Directors—M. B. Singer, Ed Braasch, Philip Fuesler and Obed Raasch.

Committee—Fred Grimm and Anton Bucholz.

Those in attendance were generally orderly and well behaved, most of the trouble being occasioned by disinterested parties who persisted in usurping rights which the management of picnic believed to be in their hands. An instance might be cited in the actions of a hackman, who, without a license from the management proceeded to run his hack to the grounds. It is said of him that he told strangers at the depot that it was four miles to the ground and after filling his vehicle with passengers proceeded to charge them 25 cents apiece.
A number of the orphans got in his rig and were fleeced by him.

The program was most interesting and occupied the greater part of the day.

Instrumental music was furnished by two bands, one from Arlington and the other from Battle Creek.

The vocal music was rendered by five choirs of trained voices.

The orphans, of whom there were 52 present, took part in the program by singing and their childish voices joined in hymns of praise were very affecting.
Among them were several of the Grimm children from this place and others, whose parents were well known to the people of Norfolk.

Many sympathetic tears were shed for the children without homes of their own but from all appearances they seem to be well provided for and appear to be well pleased with the treatment they are receiving.

Three speakers addressed the assembled audience during the day. Rev.
Oelschlaeger of West Point and Rev.
Lange of Fontanelle addressed the people in German, while Rev. Meyers of Schuyler spoke in English during the afternoon.

Where the next picnic will be held is not yet known but it is hoped by many that the success which attended it here will be an inducement for it to be held here again sometime in the future.
