ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mr. Ludwig Koenigstein wishes to announce that his fall term opens now. His system of teaching is based upon the laws of relaxation. The object which has always been kept in view is how to enable the pupil to grasp in the easiest, comprehensible way the mass of facts, rules, etc., which make up the modern art of piano playing.
For particulars apply at his studio in the Koenigstein block.

THURSDAY TIDINGS.

Mrs. Chester A. Fuller yesterday received the sad intelligence that her brother, Louis Andreas, had died suddenly. For several years past Mr. Andreas had made his home at Redfield, S. D.

Miss Ida Tucker celebrated her 12th birthday last evening at her home on South Sixteenth street. Quite a number of youthful ladies and gentlemen assisted her and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

The power press of the Norfolk Times-Tribune was sold at 2 o'clock this afternoon under writ of execution by Constable H. L. Spaulding at the office of the paper, the sale having been adjourned from Davenport's livery barn. D. J.

Koenigstein bid it in for $200. What disposition he expects to make of the property was not learned. It is probable, however, that the Times-Tribune will continue to use it in the business.

Wm. Shimmelfennig and Miss Annie Manske were united in marriage this morning at 10:30 o'clock at Christ Lutheran church by Rev. J. P. Mueller. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's parents in Edgewater park, where the event is being properly celebrated.

"Bill" Lowe congratulates himself as the recipient of a nice juicy beef steak for dinner (an unusual delicacy for him) heartily relished and highly appreciated, as coming from an open-hearted old friend, "Bill" Law. He extends heartfelt thanks. Such courtesies serve to promote a closer, warmer friendship and Lowe's capacity for eating is equal to the occasion of allowing any such mistake on the part of the butcher's delivery wagon. No objections to similar deliveries.

The news comes from Omaha that Rome Miller, formerly of this city, has purchased the Her Grand hotel, one of the leading hotels of that metropolis. Mr. Miller is a first-class hotel man in every respect and the patrons of the Her Grand need not be surprised if the accommodations of that hotel prove better under his management than ever before in its history. Mr. Miller can safely count on a liberal patronage from the people of Norfolk, and other towns along the Elkhorn, who realize his ability to provide superior entertainment.

Miss Laura A. Gregg, representing the National Woman Suffrage association, is in the city arranging to hold a county woman suffrage convention in Norfolk. It will continue two days, November 14 and 15, under the auspices of the National Woman Suffrage association and the Nebraska Woman suffrage, co-operating with a local committee. A number of prominent speakers will be present, among whom are Mrs. F. A. Belden, president of the Iowa suffrage association; Rev. Ida Hultin of Illinois; Miss Laura A. Gregg, organizer. Efforts will be made to have a large attendance at the convention.

The Laurel Advocate has this to say concerning Wm. Zachert who died on the 2nd at the home of his brother-in-law, L. C. Mittelstadt of this city: "Some weeks ago Mr. Zachert was attacked by a serious bowel complication, of which he grew better, and then grew worse. He was taken to Norfolk for treatment, but the superior medical skill was of no avail. The deceased was a steady, hardworking man, who was well thought of by his neighbors. He leaves a wife (sister of the Mittelstadt brothers of this place) and five children, two boys and three girls, and many other relatives and friends to mourn his loss. The eldest child, a boy, is seventeen. With his family, Mr. Zachert came to Norfolk, Neb., from Russia, seven years ago. The past year and a half they have lived on a farm near Laurel. The widow and children will remove back to Norfolk this fall. They and the other relatives at this place have the sympathy of the entire community."

The Ladies of the Maccabees of Norfolk is a growing organization and has a membership of energetic ladies who are using their best endeavors to advance the interests of the order. Mrs. Louie M. Bouk, state commander, of Omaha, has been here several days assisting the lodge and five new members have been acquired, the lodge membership now numbering nearly 50. On Tuesday night after some degree work the ladies invited the Sir Knights in and served an excellent repast of good things. Yesterday other meetings were held and Mrs. Bouk instructed the staff in the grand march. The lodge has recently received new costumes and other paraphernalia and is now well equipped for their work. At the meeting last night Miss Pickrell of Emerson college of Oratory, Boston, who is forming classes in physical culture in Norfolk, favored the lodge with some of the exercises, which were very beautiful and highly appreciated by those present. Miss Pickrell, who is a member of the order, is certainly an artist in this most important branch of education. Lunch was served again last night.

ALLEN RENOMINATED.

Choice of Two Conventions to Succeed Himself.

POPULISTS AND DEMOCRATS FUSE.

Ex-Senator W. V. Allen has an easy time securing the nomination to the judgeship of the Ninth District, which position he is now filling by appointment.

Ex-Senator William V. Allen was renominated as judge of the ninth judicial district this afternoon by the democrats and populists, who met in separate conventions, the former at the Pacific hotel and the latter at Marquardt hall. The nomination from both parties came by acclamation. This position Judge Allen has been holding by appointment from Governor Poynter since last spring.

The populist convention was called to order shortly after 2 o'clock and organized by the election of J. H. Berryman of Creighton as chairman and W. Chappell of Osmond as secretary.

After the list of delegates present had been read, the temporary organization was made permanent.

Without wasting any unnecessary time the convention then proceeded to nominate Judge Allen to succeed himself by acclamation, which was done by the unanimous vote of those present.

Judge Allen was called for and made a speech, thanking the convention for the hearty manner in which the nomination had been presented to him.

Then the members of the district central committee were named and a committee was also named to notify the democratic convention of the action taken.

The convention then adjourned.

Democratic Convention.

The democratic convention was called to order by E. P. Weatherby, chairman of the central committee. W. H. McDonald of Pierce was made temporary chairman and Geo. G. Bayha of Niobrara was elected temporary secretary.

The list of delegates was read, showing every county represented. Then the temporary organization was made permanent.

A committee of three was appointed to confer with the populist convention and notify them that this convention is ready to make a nomination.

While the committee was absent members of the central committee were selected.

The conference committee returned and reported that the populist convention had already nominated Judge Allen to succeed himself.

A motion was then made that the democratic convention nominate Judge Allen by acclamation, which was carried unanimously.

A committee was selected to notify the judge that he had been nominated, and he was escorted to the room. Being called upon for a speech, he thanked the convention in a few well chosen words, and then branched out into a short discussion of the political issues of the day.

The Proposed Opera House.

Orders were given to Architect Stitt this morning to prepare preliminary plans for the opera house which the Royal Mutual life insurance company hopes to be able to put up, and it is announced that an elevation will be ready for inspection within the next few days. The general agent of the company states that not enough business is yet in sight to warrant going ahead with the building, but many policies are being written. Most of them are for small amounts, however, and it will require quite a number of that character yet before he is willing to state that the building will be constructed. The reliability of the company having been accepted at the meeting of the citizens Monday evening, those who need protection of the kind being written should not hesitate to patronize a company which will invest all the money and more in that most desired of public institutions in the city—an opera house. The need of such a building is more and more felt every day, and when it is remembered that for years the citizens of Norfolk have been trying to get a proposition which would even require a greater cash outlay on the part of the citizens than this, it would seem that there ought to be no difficulty in securing enough business to accept the one now offered the city.

Dr. Frank Salter—Diseases of children.

Rev. W. P. Lasswell, residing eight miles west of Pierce, offers to sell out at public auction on his premises Wednesday, September 27, all his stock, consisting of hogs, horses and cattle, household goods, farming implements, and last, but not least, his beautiful farm on the Willow creek. Everybody invited to examine property.

Perhaps one of the best displays of the strength of a minstrel show is its street parade, and yet the big street parade given by Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels, fails to give even an adequate idea of this company's numerical strength, nor the magnitude of its stage performance, which in point of excellence and genuine merit remains unrivalled. Every detail has been looked after: an orchestra of thirty pieces furnishes the best of music for the stage performance; rich and gorgeous wardrobe is used with attractive advantage; calcium effects and stage properties and one solid carload of special scenery, representing three tons, is carried for the stage presentation. Fifty people are included in its roster, a score of big specialty acts, the famous troupe of tumbling and acrobatic Arabs, a host of comedians, singers, dancers, trick bicyclists, wire walkers, and a spectacular finale, brimming with good wholesome fun. This big attraction will appear at Marquardt's hall Thursday, October 14th.
