Manager Sprecher announces that the Madison telephone exchange is now in working order. There are 22 instruments in use and more are to follow. He has been superintending the work for several days past.

Miss Stella Luikart entertained the members of the High school Junior class at her home last night. The party was given as a farewell to Miss Julia Requa who is soon to remove to California. The occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance. Dainty refreshments were served during the

The seat sale for the amateur production, "Saratoga," is now on. At a rehearsal meeting held last night several acts were read. Those having part will meet again tonight for rehearsal and meetings will be held nearly every night from now until the time of the who have reviewed it to be very "catchy," and those who are engaged to NOTATION AND TERMINOLOGYtake part are very enthusiastic.

S. H. McClary returned home last night from Rome, N. Y., where he has been employed in the sugar factory for the past seven months. He enjoyed his stay in the Empire state very much and saw many places of interest, but he is more than pleased to again behold the cornfields and prairies of his boyhood home. He returned by way of Niagara Falls and viewed its granduer. He will be home until the middle of Junction, Col., where he has a position as superintendent of the sugar factory at that place. Mr. McClary is rapidly working to the front in the new industry and his Norfolk friends are confident that he can qualify in the best position obtainable. He has been a close student of the industry, giving careful attention to details, and is now reaping his reward by rapid and deserved advancement. Beautifully decorated show windows appropriate to Easter are displayed by many of the business houses, and some of them are deserving of especial mention. Marquardt's jewelry store contains an Easter nest which it would delight most any one to find and know it was theirs. The nest contains watches and other jewelry. Venus Nenow of Davenport Bros.' shoe store has made a little extra effort and produced a beautifully arranged display. The Trocadero has a colored hen and a flock of little vari-colored chickens in one window and in the other is a colored rabbit and nests of colored eggs. In the candy store and Utter's book store are displays of goods that would tempt the heart of any child. The window of the Johnson Dry Goods company is by far the handsomest in town, however, and would ornament the window of any city firm. The life like lady forms are used to display fashinable goods while the background of the center window especially is of harmonious colors and very beautiful. In the east window is displayed a spider web with a gigantic spider clinging thereto and behind it is a lady form dressed in the height of spring fashion. The work was done by Misses Chesnutwood and Sidler and Mr. Lewis Johnson, who prove themselves to be artists in that line. It, as well as other windows, attract much attention.

Mrs. Ralph H. Day announces that after June 1 she will conduct classes in the following branches of music. FUNDAMENTAL TRAINING-

Including the first musical rudiments performance. The play is said by those sight reading, time, study of scales and hand culture.

> Including the use of all signs and terms found in ordinary music, writing of major and minor scales-a thorough study of the embellishments, together with the study of intervals and chords. This work is a foundation for the study of harmony and analysis.

HARMONY-Including a thorough study of the intervals—the treatment of triads and inversion, dominant seventh and inversions, harmonizing of melodies, passing June when he will leave for Grand notes, progression, sequences, modulation, altered chords, etc. This work is a foundation for the study of advanced harmony-composition and counterpoint.

> NALYSIS-1-Section, phrase, period.

2-Two and three part primary form.

3-Cadenzas.

4-Rondo form

5-Sonata form, etc.

The lessons in analysis are especially devoted to compositions which the students have immediatly in hand, and include not only the analysis of their form, but of their harmonic contents. PIANOFORTE-

The special pianoforte course including the developement of technique and the acquisition of repertoire is taught in classes of three or four or privately, while the general course is devoted to theory, harmony, sight reading and analysis and is taught in classes only. REED ORGAN-

According to the Landon method of organ technique. The distinctive reed organ touch is explained, an effective use of the stops is shown. Selections taught are not arranged for the pipe organ nor piano, but for the reed organ only. This course is arranged to give instruction not only in a line of solo playing, but also with a view of fitting the pupil for practical church work, and to this end those taking the organ as a special study are advised to study theory, harmony and solfeggio. The special organ course is taught in classes of three or four, or privately.

SIGHT SINGING-According to the Tonic sol fa method including principals of breathing as applied to tone production, elementary vocalization, voice placing, enunciation, and general sight reading. Pupils entering the singing classes are advised to study theory and harmony. CHILDREN'S GENERAL CLASS-

Twenty lessons in sight reading, ear training, time keeping, training of the fingers, hands and arms and dancing "Adams" bicycle. Red enameled, up. and artistic posing in time to music, also turned wood bars. Finder please notify stories on musical subjects. Papils entering this class are not required to practice at home. The practice in dancing steps and gestures are given for the purpose of making children realize the motion, accent and swing of music. Children are taught to sing Tickets for the Dixie Jubilee concert simple melodies at sight.
