PLEASING MUSICALS.
 Large Audience Attended the Koeningstein Class Recital.

From Wednesday's Daily.
 The Koeningstein recital, given at the Congregational church last evening, drew forth a large, appreciative and enthusiastic audience, it being necessary to provide more than one hundred chairs in addition to the regular seating capacity.

The rendition of the children's solos was most remarkable, particularly when it is considered that many of them have been under instruction but one term, whereas the advanced pupils awoke to heights of passionate intensity, giving interpretations based upon their individual originality, and disclosing a most wonderful conception of the works of the great masters they were following.

The final number on the program was played in such a manner as to appeal to all present. Let mankind search the wide field of musical literature and nothing can be found grander than the Beethoven's slow movement. One cannot soar beyond it. Here we have a work of art: was there not something deep and good in that melody?
 It is very plainly seen that these recitals are purely educational, and musicians are fully convinced that many who think they have no taste for music would learn to appreciate it, and partake of its blessings if they could more often listen to such a feast as was given last evening.

There was none of the usual "piano pounding" in the entire program, each pupil seemingly imbued with the faculty of bringing forth rich and soul stirring melody, rather than noise, this feature being most surprisingly demonstrated.

Considerable favorable comment has been heard today regarding the two superb Chickering pianos used at the recital last evening. Both instruments possess most charming tonal qualities, sonorous, clear, velvety and even; never harsh, but always melodious in quality; even, in fortissimo passages, and bewitching in effect in pianissimo passages; the upper notes limpid and of pearly brilliancy, the middle register characterized by richness and grandeur, while the bass has a depth and grandeur all their own; and peculiar to no other make. They are much superior to any instruments ever placed before a Norfolk audience, the larger one is known as their style N. and is the finest upright piano that money will buy, in any land or clime. Both instruments have been sold and were delivered to the happy purchasers this afternoon.

Church of the Sacred Heart Duly Dedicated Yesterday.

GOOD SPEECHES AND FINE MUSIC.

Bishop Scannell was Present at the Evening Exercises and Was Ably Assisted by Noted Churchmen From Near and Far. Church Was Beautifully Decorated.

From Monday's Daily
 Yesterday was a day long to be remembered by the parishioners of the Catholic church and the many friends of that church organization in the city and surrounding country, for it was the occasion of the dedication of the splendid new edifice recently erected at the corner of Fifth street and Madison avenue for church purposes.

The day was replete with imposing and impressive ceremonials, magnificent addresses, entrancing music and the attendance of large and intelligent audiences.

It was the crowning day of months of work by the esteemed pastor, Father Walsh, his assistants and the congregation, whose efforts to erect a suitable edifice and one in which the citizens at large may take pride, has been attentively noted and warmly commended by all.

The attendance of many priests from surrounding parishes and the presence of a number of church dignitaries, as well as the music furnished by local people and a number from other towns lent an interest to the exercises seldom if ever equalled on a similar occasion in Norfolk church circles, and the success of every endeavor is cause for warm congratulation, the occasion being remarkably free of anything unpleasant.

The exercises proper began at 10:30 when Rev. Wm. Choka, V. G., of Monterey, conducted the ritualistic dedicatory services.

Following this was solemn high mass by Father S. Carroll, celebrant, of Omaha, assisted by Fathers John McNamara, deacon, of Jackson; Rev. Jas. A. Keating, sub-deacon, of Casper, Wyo., Rev. Jas. W. Stetson, master of ceremonies, of St. Philomena's cathedral, Omaha.

The morning music by the choir was "St. Theresa Mass" composed by Theodore De Lu Hachee.

The sermon by Rev. C. Henry, C. S. S. R. of Kansas City, Mo., was a strong feature of the morning exercises. Father Henry is a very pleasing and able speaker and held the close attention of the large audience in attendance from start to finish of his address. His remarks were warmly commended by all who had the pleasure of hearing him.

The church was well filled and a deep interest was taken in the exercises by all in attendance.

The evening services commenced at 7:30 with solemn vespers sung by Rev. J. B. Fitzgerald, celebrant, of Wayne, assisted by Rev. J. A. Keating, deacon, of Casper, Wyo., and Rev. Father Bartholomew, O. S. F., sub-deacon.

The lecture by Rev. M. F. Dowling, S. J., rector of Creighton university of Omaha, was one of the finest addresses ever delivered in the city. The reverend gentleman took as his subject, "The Catholic Laymen in the American Republic" and spoke for something more than an hour, defining the position of the Catholic laymen regarding the church and the country. His words were of an ennobling character and all who heard him should have and undoubtedly did derive great benefit from it in mode of life and feelings one toward the other.

The rector is a fine pulpit orator. His words and sentences were clear cut and decisive and his ideas original and vigorous. He held the closest attention of his auditors and many were sorry that the address was not longer and that they have not the privilege of hearing Father Dowling oftener. His address received most flattering criticism from all who heard it.

Following this was the solemn benediction and sacrament by the Right Rev. Bishop Scannell of Omaha, assisted by Rev. S. F. Carroll and Rev. J. W. Stetson, master of ceremonies.

Before pronouncing the benediction the bishop gave a short address to the congregation and expressed his regret at not being able to be present at the morning exercises. He paid a high tribute to the pastor, Father Walsh, and to the generosity of Norfolk people, Catholic and others, who had contributed to the erection and furnishing of the new building which will be known as the church of the Sacred Heart.

This completed the services of the day and the audience was dismissed.
 A write-up of the exercises would be indeed incomplete without special attention to the musical program which was under the able direction of F. A. Fisse. The musical program in the evening was as follows:

"Vespers" composed by J. Wiegand.
 "O Salutaris," by Winters.
 "Tantum Ergo," by Goebb.
 March, orchestra.

The choir was composed as follows: Misses Kate Eckols of Humphrey, Edith Batchelor, Lucy Bruner, Margaret Horiskey, Lilly Chesnutwood and Mrs. F. Ueckermann of Norfolk, sopranos.
 Mrs. E. Tanner of Battle Creek, Misses Stewart and Kingsbury of Wayne, Josephine Conley and Mary Horiskey of Norfolk.

Mr. H. Fisse of Norfolk and Frank Heider of Humphrey, tenors.
 Wm. Eimers of Humphrey, Frank Ueckermann and J. H. Conley of Norfolk, tenors.

The music was furnished by T. Slattery, violin; J. O'Donnell, cornet; F. Glanders, clarinet and J. Grisdahl of the Hospital orchestra, and Messrs. Bohner, Marquardt, Ahlmann and Heller of Bohner's orchestra, assisted by Miss Anna Walsh, violin, from Moberly, Mo., with Miss Lucy Shafer presiding at the organ.

The church was decorated very beautifully for both services.
 The altars were decorated with cut flowers, consisting of La France and Marchant roses and smilax and made a very handsome appearance, especially during the benediction by the bishop, when they were illuminated by the lights produced by myriads of candles.

During the recessional march of the right reverend bishop he appeared wearing his mitre and carrying his crozier. He was accompanied by the clergy and the acolytes bearing lighted torches.

The following clergy in addition to those mentioned as taking part were present: Rev. E. S. Munich of Atkinson, Rev. Gentil Vermulden, Rev. Ladislao Czech, O. S. F., and Rev. J. M. Delbove of Humphrey.

Bishop Scannell, accompanied by Father Choka, V. G., went to Verdigré today to administer the rites of confirmation to a class and will visit Creighton tomorrow for the same purpose.

The church dedicated is a building of brick with a beautiful architectural effect, with stone trimmings. The interior is handsomely finished and furnished and will supply the needs of the congregation for many years. It is so arranged that at some future date it can be readily added to at the rear and makes a splendid monument to the enterprise of Father Walsh and his co-workers. A more extended write-up of the edifice has hitherto been given.

The following from the Rushville Standard concerns the former principal of the Norfolk High school: The board of education of the Rushville schools, held a meeting on Monday evening, and by a unanimous vote they decided to tender the principalship to Prof. Sarah L. Garrett for another year. This is something that has never occurred in Rushville before, though we have had some good educators at the head of the school, but Miss Garrett is one in a thousand. Her whole energy seems to have been turned over to the advancement of not only the schools, but to each individual pupil. At the close of the meeting the board adjourned until next Monday evening, at which time the assistant teachers will be elected.

Oakdale Sentinel: The Great Syndicate show was here Tuesday. There was a good sized crowd out to see it, and nearly all were pleased with the performance in the circus tent, which was about the only feature of the show that amounted to anything. Although the crowd did not reach very great proportions, there seemed to be plenty of suckers on hand ready to be taken in by the gambling devices and shell games, which were put in operation as soon as the show was ready for business. In a short time the operators of these games gathered in a lot of sporty suckers, in sums ranging from a few dollars to $50. One man, who lost $30, secured the services of an attorney to recover his money and the attorney was successful in making the show people restore it.
