FRIDAY FACTS.

- Mr. and Mrs. Coryell went to Sioux City today. Ray Hall of Plainview visited in Norfolk yesterday. C. E. Burnham, banker of Tilden, was a city visitor yesterday. Dr. J. J. Williams of Wayne attended the Roosevelt demonstration yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gietzen of Humphrey are visiting friends in the city. Mike Andrus is building a five-room brick house on The Heights, near Dan Murphey's place. Geo. D. Butterfield of Creighton was in the city over night, leaving this morning for Davenport, Iowa. J. B. Henderson of Wakefield was in the city yesterday. His son Louis was also here as a member of the Wakefield band. The Christian Endeavor state convention is in session at Lincoln, the meetings continuing from October 4 to 7. Norfolk is not represented. Mrs. Will Higenbotham of Emerson, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. D. Perry at South Norfolk, gave birth to a handsome son on Wednesday. P. R. Walsh, the new roadmaster of the M. & O., was inspecting the yards in Norfolk this morning. Mr. Walsh was formerly roadmaster on the Union Pacific at Kansas City. E. A. Cram of Creighton, populist candidate for congressman, came in from Omaha yesterday and remained over to see Roosevelt. He went home today. W. B. Christie, who has been visiting the Gow brothers, left today for his home in Argyle, New York. He was much pleased with Norfolk and the surrounding country while here.

A. F. Maltby, who recently removed here from Denver, is getting his family settled in the house recently vacated by Robert Utter, which is owned by him.

A. J. Durland is home from his trip to Knox county, where he has been superintending the cutting of his big fields of flax. He will return week after next and look after the threshing.

The funeral of George Griffith, the young man who died in this city on Wednesday, was held from Trinity Episcopal church at 10 o'clock this morning. Rev. J. C. S. Wells officiating.

Harry Hull ran a splinter into a finger of the right hand yesterday, and today his arm is swollen to the shoulder. It is believed to be a case of blood poisoning, but is not likely to prove serious.

F. L. Culver has purchased the Blake-man property on Madison avenue that was occupied by W. H. Hall at the time the house was practically destroyed by fire. Mr. Culver will rebuild the house, using as much of the old material as is available, with the idea of making that his home in future.

Col. D. B. Henderson of Iowa, speaker of the house of representatives, is billed for an address at Wayne on next Tuesday evening, October 9. Here is an opportunity for Norfolk republicans to reciprocate with Wayne for the fine delegation sent here yesterday. Let's charter a train, go to Wayne and hear Henderson.

G. E. Moore, who has been in the banking business at Narka, Kan., was here earlier in the week arranging to remove to this place with his family. He has rented the Box property on north Tenth street, lately occupied by B. W. Fisher, and has now returned to Kansas for his family, who will be here in a few days.

In the delegation from Wakefield yesterday was a quartette of campaign singers, who were scheduled to sing after the address of Mr. Fitch, but before that time came the special train whistled and they were obliged to leave. This was a matter for regret, particularly on the part of the Norfolk committee.

The C. St. P., M. & O. has arranged to run a special train from Sioux City tomorrow evening to all points on the New Castle, Hartington, Bloomfield and Norfolk lines, leaving Sioux City at 11:45 p. m., to accommodate those who desire to return home from the carnival. The one fare rate that has been in effect during the carnival will remain good tomorrow.

Desirable houses to rent are scarce in this city. One real estate agent states that every time he has a good place to rent he receives from six to eight applications for it. In fact whenever a comfortable house is offered there is a general scramble for it. Some of the idle money in the community might be well invested in more tenement houses of a good character.

At a meeting of the republican central committee held in this city yesterday afternoon, James Nichols tendered his resignation as secretary of the committee, and J. F. Knesel of Battle Creek was elected in his place. Mr. Nichols resigned because he has so many dates to make speeches before election that he could not give the committee work the attention that it deserves.

Geo. Bishop of New Haven, Conn., is expected in Norfolk tomorrow, to arrange for beginning work on his new brick block at the corner of Main and Fourth streets. It is stated by those who are in position to know Mr. Bishop's plans, that the foundation for the building will be laid this fall, and if the weather will permit it is likely that work will be continued through the winter.

The address of Hon. Edward E. Fitch of Chicago, which followed the Roosevelt meeting yesterday, was a strong, pungent statement of the political situation, delivered in an eloquent, convincing manner. Mr. Fitch held his audience for an hour and a quarter, and could easily have held them longer. It was one of the best political speeches that has been made here for years, and the story he told was given in an interesting, attractive style.

As Governor Roosevelt mounted the platform yesterday, he was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses with the compliments of Mrs. J. E. Simpson, on account of the close friendship between the governor and H. K. Love, now lieutenant of the Thirty-second U. S. volunteers, in the Philippines. The governor seemed very much pleased that the name of a favorite soldier, who was with him at Santiago, should be recalled in this happy manner.

Wayne Republican: Last Thursday evening W. J. Bryan spoke at Dakota City. The time was when Bryan could have summoned a crowd of from 150 to 250 from this place to any point as near as Dakota City to see him and hear him speak. It is different now. The railroad company anticipated a crowd from here and brought up two coaches from Emerson on the morning train going west and left them here. These coaches were taken out of here at 2 p. m. and contained just one passenger for Dakota City—how is that for a frost.

A reception was tendered to Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Main in the parlors of the M.

E. church last evening, and while the members of the church congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Main upon the fact that they are to remain here another year, they also congratulated themselves that no change had been made in their pastor. During the evening a fine Turkish lounge was presented as the gift of the congregation, the presentation being made in a happy vein by Dr. Sisson, to which Mr. Main feelingly responded. In addition, Rev. W. G. Beels presented Mrs. Main with a $5.00 gold piece, as the gift of himself and family. An enjoyable evening was well rounded out when refreshments were served in the church basement by the ladies.

Manager Spear is to be commended for the class of entertainments that he has thus far given to theatre goers. Last night the Auditorium contained one of the largest audiences that has ever been within its walls to witness the presentation of Wood & Ward's "Two Merry Tramps," which in point of actual merit far exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine. The presentation was more a farce comedy than a play, but the specialties were all bright, clean and wholesome. The Elmoro sisters are especially meritorious in everything they do, while the two tramps are a whole host within themselves. If the other attractions booked by Manager Spear contain anywhere near the merit of that given last night, or those presented before this fall, he may confidently look for a profitable business season.

I will pay $10 reward for the arrest and conviction of the parties who drove through and damaged my garden on the night of October 4. O. B. HAZEN.

AN ODD CHARACTER.

Former Inmate of Hospital Makes More Trouble.

Mrs. Estella Wurtzberger, who was confined in the Norfolk hospital for the insane for about a year some years ago, has again shown symptoms of insanity by shooting at a neighbor who quarreled with her about a fence and she is now confined in one of the cells of the Dakota City jail. The Sioux City Journal gives this brief sketch of her:

"Mrs. Wurtzberger came to Dakota City about six years ago, an entire stranger, but in a little time the whole countryside knew about her. She was pretty, not more than 24 or 25 years of age, and better still, very mysterious. She bought a home in a secluded spot on Walker's island and built herself a little cottage there. Then her possessions came—trunk upon trunk and box after box, until the eyes of the curious began to bulge out in amazement. And it is said that in each of these trunks and boxes there was a wealth of fine dresses and apparel, magnificent silver, costly jewelry and expensive house furnishings—all indicating that Mrs. Wurtzberger had at some place and at some time been somebody with plenty of money at her command.

"The community might have forgotten all this but the woman's conduct would not allow it. She would take night rides through the country, mounted on horseback and attired in men's clothes—mad rides that set everybody talking. Now and then she became bloodthirsty about some real or fancied grievance against some man, and then a fusillade of bullets would surprise him and the community. She lived alone, except for a hired man who looked after her property, and in every dealing with the outside world she was strange and unusual.

"This made the community wonder, and wonder became curiosity, and then came the investigation of her past. Little by little it leaked out. Mrs. Wurtzberger was left an orphan in the east when a little girl. She was adopted by a wealthy New England banker, who educated her finely and spent money freely upon her. When she became a miss of 17 or 18 he placed every confidence in her and made her cashier of the little country bank that he owned. Suddenly he died, and then came the girl's first manifestation of her unusual strain. On the day of his death she disappeared, and with her went all the available cash of the bank and its books and papers.

"Where she had gone was for a long time a mystery, but she was heard of at Denver, Col., three or four years later, where she was married to a man of considerable means. She soon got tired of him, and after a year or so of married life came to Dakota City with her money and her possessions. Two or three years ago she employed a man named Ferdinand Moon to work for her. He lived with her until trouble came between them, and she drove him away with pistol shots. Several times since then she has made him the target for her weapon."

As Governor Roosevelt was leaving Norfolk Thursday he was presented with a basket of magnificent brook trout caught by Geo. A. Brooks of Bazile Mills and presented by that gentleman. The gift was undoubtedly appreciated and probably constituted one of the delicacies of the governor's table at a subsequent meal.

The 14-months-old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Adams, living at South Norfolk, accidentally got hold of some concentrated lye this morning, with which his lips and tongue were badly burned. The child did not swallow any of the stuff, however, by which it escaped a serious condition. Doctor Frank Salter was called and made the baby as comfortable as possible.

The wind this morning veered to the northwest and cooler weather is expected. The temperature during the past week or more has been very high for this season, almost equaling the hot days of summer and a change is not undesirable to the mass of people. One light frost that scarcely hurt a vine is all that has been experienced thus far in this vicinity, being an unusual season.

Store rent seems to be a serious proposition in Madison. There is such a demand for buildings that owners of such property are getting quite aristocratically independent. The Chronicle states that Postmaster Arneit was served with a notice of a $100 per annum raise on the building occupied by Uncle Sam. As this was more than the amount allowed for rent he looked for another location. The owners finally reduced their demand $60 and a petition is now being circulated to have the rent allowance raised to the required amount. Jake Wahl, the harness man has been twice forced to move during the summer and was compelled to store his goods for a month because no building was obtainable.

A big black horse belonging to a peddler created considerable excitement about 1 o'clock this afternoon by running away. The horse, which was attached to a light buggy, started near the Catholic church and after taking a short spin around, dashed furiously down Branch avenue, up Third street to the railroad, and then made a bee line toward the river, with the apparent intention of taking a swim. It changed its mind, however, about that, and came back to Third street and was stopped at Branson's barn, arriving there with the buggy wrong side up and its contents strowed along the street for several blocks. The horse was uninjured, but the harness and buggy did not fare so well. The animal demonstrated that it should be given a place on the race track.

His mother, Mrs. Maria McDonald of this city, departed yesterday morning to attend the funeral. The remains will be taken to Ponca for interment. The deceased has been married about a year. Mr. McDonald was well known on the Milwaukee road and was a favorite among his companions.

Battle Creek Enterprise: While Mr. and Mrs. Malon Anderson's infant son was playing on the floor Sunday afternoon he began choking and all efforts to relieve him proved unavailing. A physician was called, who decided that the child had tried to swallow something which had lodged in its throat and the customary methods to remove it met with failure. Its condition Monday morning was pitiable. It could not take nourishment and its breathing was labored. Nothing less than a delicate operation could save its life, and the child, accompanied by its mother and Dr. I. J. Daniel, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital at Omaha Monday. At 7:30 o'clock in the evening Dr. Lord was found, who, assisted by Dr. Daniel, made an incision in the wind pipe, removing, after considerable difficulty, a large sandbar from the baby's throat. Inflammation had been induced, necessitating the insertion of a tube in the throat, but at last accounts the little one was improving rapidly, and unless some unforeseen complication arises its ultimate recovery is assured.

DAVID CITY, Neb., April 1, 1900. Genesee Pure Food Co., LeRoy, N. Y.: Gentlemen—I must say in regard to Grain-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use Grain-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Yours truly, LILLIE SOCHOR.
