KIRKSVILLE TOMORROW.

Football Team Leaves for Missouri this Morning—A Hard Game Looked for—What Other Teams are Doing.

The 'Varsity football team left this morning at 5:45 for Kirksville, Mo. The osteopaths will entertain them Saturday for a couple of thirty-minute halves. Before Sol had poked his nose over the eastern sky-line this morning messenger boys scurried through the shadowy streets of Lincoln and awakened the football men. The team left over the Burlington. They will breakfast at Council Bluffs, dine at Kansas City and arrive in Kirksville about 4 o'clock. The boys retire early and rest until Saturday afternoon. Kirksville osteopaths are playing good football. This is known, although nothing definite as to kind or quality has been ascertained. They have beaten Upper Iowa College and St. Joe Medics by big scores this season. However, it is hardly to be expected that the Nebraskans will go down before the rushes of the bone-rubbers. Yesterday's practice on Nebraska field was not what it should have been. It was a disappointment to everybody and a slur on the good work thus far accomplished. There seemed to be no life or interest in the play. Signals were forgotten and several mix-ups resulted. Cortelyou was hurt quite badly by a piece of interference on a balled-up signal. Kingsbury was injured and retired. Eager was put in at full. Today's exhibition may be an off-day. One thing is certain, Nebraska will put up a good article Saturday. The men are enthusiastic for their initial game. The men chosen for the trip are: Crandall, Kingsbury, Bender, Cortelyou, Shedd, Stringer, Captain Westover, Ringer, Brew, Ryan, Maloney, Koehler, Drain and Eager. Ryan will not play unless Drain be badly hurt, for his shoulder is still on the sick list. Maloney will sub the line; Eager, all back of the line. Coach Booth and Cowgill will steer the expedition. Dr. Everett, jr., will act as first mate and tend to all physical ailments. The University owes the doctor a great deal of thanks for the interest he has taken in football this fall and the help he has given. Students should watch for the red lantern on University Hall Saturday night. When they see it, they will know it to be a signal to come out on Nebraska field and celebrate. There'll be a camp-fire and speeches.

Here is where Nebraska starts a rooters' club.

Football games tomorrow:
Chicago-Monmouth at Chicago.
Northwestern-Lombard University at Evanston.
Illinois-Wesleyan, Urbana.
Kansas-Ottawa University, Lawrence.

MINNEOSTA.

The following extracts from the Minnesota Daily show up the work of that team:

"In Saturday's game the 'Varsity team showed poor team work. Especially in the first half the play was ragged and open. It was an easy matter for the high school boys to get at the runner and even succeeded in breaking up the play before it was fairly started. Then when a few sure ground-gaining plays would have scored a touch-down the 'Varsity was sure to fumble and lose the ball. It was rather discouraging to the rooters to see the 'Varsity team held down to an even score by a team of high school boys. It augurs poorly for this year's team. But, on the other hand, last year's team was held to a standstill by the Minneapolis high school team and narrowly escaped being scored on. This year all play was on Central's territory and with but one exception central never got the ball except on a fumble, kick or penalty. If the '01 team develops as fast as last year's team there is no cause for great alarm.

"One thing is certain, we won't have to meet Pillsbury. We are glad of it. To oppose a man who bears the same name as the father of the U. of M. fills us with a certain amount of shame. To think that a man bearing that name would bend every effort to defeat us fills us with awe and dismay. Never mind, Mr. Pillsbury, of Nebraska, what's in a name anyway."

WISCONSIN.

Wisconsin is late in starting practice owing to the lateness of the date of opening of school. A special from the Chicago Tribune tells of the first line-up:

"This afternoon, for probably the first time in the football history of the university, candidates for the team were lined up for scrimmage practice before the beginning of the regular university work.

"The previous policy has been to put off this department of training until at least a week later and some speculation has been caused by its early beginning. The most probable explanation seems to be in the large number of new men trying for the team. Without getting them into some hard scrimmage work it would be practically impossible to sift them out.

"The regulars lined up in the same order as last night, with the exception of Lerum at right guard, Daum at right end, and Liljequist at quarter. The feature of the scrimmage was the fine work of Fogg, the most likely candidate for 'varsity quarter. Playing in that position on the scrubs, he took advantage of a fumble to run twenty yards through the 'varsity field before being downed. Further than this, his work was characterized by hard, aggressive play. Scheiber reported for practice, but did not get into any hard work. Marshall, substitute last year, was also out and tried his hand at quarter.

"Graduate Manager C. H. Kilpatrick left for Chicago tonight, and as a result there are more rumors of a Wisconsin-Michigan game. Kilpatrick, however, took occasion to deny before leaving that there would be a meeting between the rival universities, saying the schedule was full and could not possibly be rearranged. The conservative opinion here seems to be that although a Michigan-Wisconsin game would be desirable, yet under the conditions this year it is out of the question."

SOCIETY RECEPTIONS.

Literary Organizations to Receive New Students Tonight—Law School Opens Today—Other University News.

Tonight the three literary societies of the University will entertain for new students at their respective halls. Each society has made elaborate arrangements for entertaining its guests.

For the information of new students it may be said that there are three connected with the University, the Union, Palladian and Delian. The first two have halls on the third floor of University hall. The Delians have no hall at present, but meet in the old chapel. The reception tonight is for the purpose of introducing new students to the three societies.

The programs followed at the receptions tonight will be much the same for the three societies. Refreshments will be served and a social good time has been provided for.

LAW COLLEGE OPENS TODAY.

Registration and examinations for entrance to the college of law will begin today and continue until tomorrow night. Owing to the illness of his wife, Dean Reese will not be able to take charge of things for a few days. Professor Robbins will direct operations today. A large attendance this year is looked for by the University authorities.

REGISTRATION.

Despite the extra fee of three dollars from ten to fifteen students have been registering each day since regular time for that work closed. The number now enrolled is a little above 1,350. The number indicates that the attendance will be about the same as last year.

Most of those who registered late could present ample excuses and were permitted to enroll without paying the stipulated fee. In cases where no good excuse could be offered, however, the rule is rigidly applied.

The opening of the law school today will cause another rush at the steward's office and will swell the total enrollment two or three hundred.

ADDITIONS TO THE STATE HISTORICAL LIBRARY.

During the summer the State Historical society has been busy adding to its list of periodicals and books. A complete set of thirty-nine volumes of H. H. Bancroft's History has been added. This work contains all that is known about western American history. A number of volumes on Western Archaeology have also been added. Twenty new Nebraska papers have been placed on the list, also several large dailies, such as the St. Louis Globe Democrat, the New Orleans Picayune, and the St. Paul Pioneer-Press. These have been placed in the library to be used, and students are always welcome to them.

Mr. Persinger, of the History Department, has been taken sick and was unable to meet his classes on Wednesday and Thursday. He is improving and will be out by Friday.

MANDOLIN CLUB.

A number of students interested in the formation of a Mandolin club met last night at the School of Music and talked matters over. No organization was effected, but the matter was left open until a future date. All those interested are requested to leave their names at the School of Music.

Students who find it necessary to alter their schedule on account of changes in the schedule, conflicts which could not have been foreseen or other valid reason may procure permits to do so without the payment of the special fee of three dollars. Applications should be made at the Chancellor's office.

A great many have wondered what the pile of stones just north of the library building means. Some have conjectured that the class of 1902 are going to erect a memorial arch over the entrance to the athletic field. That is not the case, however. Their presence is the result of a visit of A. E. Sheldon, of the State Historical society, to Governor Savage. These stones formerly formed the archway of the penitentiary, which was erected in 1874. On them is cut a large ball and chain, while the keystone has on it the date of erection. This arch was presented to the Historical society and will be erected in its library.

Miss Fern Abbott has returned to Leland-Stanford, where she will finish her college work.

Union hall is undergoing repairs at present. The room is being repapered and the woodwork painted.

Harry Tukey, '01, former captain of company A, is in the insurance business with his father at Omaha.

Mr. Piper has the largest class on record in English 1. Over 100 students are registered for this course.

James Campbell, Phi Psi, will not be in school this year, but will remain on his father's ranch near Colbran, Colo.

Owing to the large number of students taking geology I, Professor Barbour is endeavoring to make arrangements to use the old chapel.

Manager Morrell of the basket ball team is putting forth considerable effort to get the men into practice. Good material in abundance is at hand and the University may expect a good team.

The Cadet band will be led this year by Professor Wilson of Chicago. Mr. Wilson comes with considerable experience and will no doubt have a successful organization. Promise is now for about twenty-five pieces.

J. S. Ellis, '02, is slowly recovering from typhoid fever. He has been unable to register. He contracted the fever in Wyoming in a grading camp. Mr. Updike contracted the disease in the same camp. He has not yet returned to the University.

M. J. Cronin, '01, junior law, has created quite a sensation among his acquaintances by walking from Lincoln to Buffalo, a distance of 1,200 miles, in sixty days. His diet during the trip consisted of shredded wheat biscuit, eggs and milk.
