ing up for but a single week the showing was as good as could be expected when one considers the strength of the opposing eleven. The Osteopaths have a hard plunging backfield which tore our miniature defense to pieces and while our offense, though brilliant at times, was not good for steady and consistent gains. There was too much wrangling and the megaphone robbers made it impossible to play the fast ball that the team has been showing up in practice. One thing I can say with a good deal of satisfaction and one that will be the best means for our friends to get a line on the team, and that is, that it is better in every way than that of last season and with hard practice to be given during the next two weeks I feel confident that we will be able to make a most gratifying showing against Minnesota.
We are somewhat handicapped this year by the lack of substitutes. Our line-up here today includes practically the entire personnel of the team.
Whether any desirable ones will be made out of the material now being worked into shape at the University is hard to tell, but the outlook is not promising."

THE USE OF THE LIBRARY.

Carl Frolick sang a bass solo Friday morning at the University convocation.

Mr. Wyer, librarian, spoke to the students on the subject of the library, and its uses. He first impressed the students with the value of learning the use of the libraries. Books are numbered, but that does not indicate the position of the book. They are placed in their own subjective sections.
Libraries are not conducted as formerly and books are not placed in a fixed location, but in regard to the subjects. One should soon learn to use the catalogue files. There are two cases, one for authors, the other for subjects. To find a book one can look up the author or title, he should look for reference on location chart and then find the proper shelf and book.

Chancellor Andrews announced his intention of addressing the students soon on the subjects of "Use of the Students' Half Hour" and "Success and Happiness in the University."

DEBATING CLUBS MEET.

The Union Boys' Debating club met in Union hall Saturday evening and discussed the question:

Resolved, That government by injunction is contrary to the end of justice.

After the regular debate the question was thrown open for discussion by those present.

The Palladians met, and in addition to debating the question, Resolved, That the suppression of anarchism would be contrary to the spirit of free government, they filled several vacancies in their roster of officers. George A. Lee was chosen president to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of Louis Lightner to return to school, and G.
M. Hamilton and Mr. Clark were inaugurated as secretary and vice president, respectively. After business was transacted, the club indulged in an informal feed.

The Dellians met in the old chapel and discussed the question, Resolved, That the present industrial system makes labor organization necessary.

SOCIETY RECEPTIONS.

The reception of the three literary societies last Friday evening were the most successful in many ways of any that have ever been held in the University. In point of attendance and of general good fellowship they stand at the head of the list. The Unions were able to use their newly decorated hall. It has been repapered and painted, giving it an exceedingly inviting appearance. Palms were used very effectively by way of breaking up the room. The Palladians held forth as usual in their pleasant quarters. They have cause for self congratulation, because of the way in which they handled their guests. The Dellians used a room in the lower part of the Soldiers' Memorial hall. It was nicely decorated with the University and Dellian colors and with palms.

The only thing to mar their pleasure was the turning out of the lights which necessitated a move to the old chapel for the last part of the evening.
At the Union reception Miss Meisster rendered a very pretty vocal selection, responding to an encore. At all three receptions ices and wafers were served.

SIGMA ALPHA DANCE.

The young men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained Friday at a dancing party at the home of Fritz Funke. The young ladies of the party were collected by a carry-all and driven to the house where the young men had previously assembled. The house was attractively decorated with golden rods and Japanese lanterns. Those present were: Misses Griggs, Hammond, Jenkins, Whiting, Funke, Bennett, Mabel Bennett, Thorp, Locke, Allen, Burrus, Marshall, Marsland, Wisner, Burnham and Fawell; Messrs. Bartlett, N. Davidson, R. Davidson, Dales-Dernier, Peters, Hood, F. Funke, E. Funke, Crooks, Clapp, De Putron, Applegate, Jouvenat, Shock, Greenwald, Beckman, Elliott and Fawell.
