AT KANSAS UNIVERSITY.

Kansas is hopeful as the following from the Kansas City Star will show:

At least thirty men were out on McCook field at Kansas university last night and the practice was the best of the year. Clyde Alphin, last year's Kansas guard, had a suit on for the first time and played on the 'varsity. He handled his lighter adversary in the scrub line with perfect ease. Whenever a hole was wanted for a gain the play was sent through Alphin's position. Hess, center on the '99 team, was also out for the first time and was tried at right tackle by Coach Outland. He seemed to fit the position perfectly. He is rather light, weighing only 160 pounds, but is quick as a flash and very strong. In '99 he was the weight man on the track team and as soon as he becomes accustomed to his new position should be a tower of strength on the team.

But it was Davidson, the Glasgow half back, who made the sensational showing of the afternoon. He weighs fully 170 pounds and can run 100 yards in less than 11 seconds. Not only is he strong on the offensive, but his tackling and breaking up of interference is splendid. His playing reminds one of Algie, Kansas' star end last year, as he is wriggling through little holes, slipping by interference and making long diving tackles continually. Beeman shows up better every night. He is as stable as a rock in the line and as soon as he becomes more active should use his great strength in breaking through as well.

Quigley, the hero of the '00 Thanksgiving game, who was recently disqualified on account of study conditions, has decided not to stay at the university. Instead, he has accepted an offer to help coach the Warrensburg Normal school team.

The Kansas State Normal authorities of Emporia today notified Manager Foster that an excursion will be run from Emporia to Lawrence for next Saturday's game between Kansas and the State Normals. Almost the entire student body will accompany the husky football lads of the State Normal to Lawrence to the game, which promises to be a very close and exciting contest.

POLITICAL SCIENCE NOTES.

The scope of the department of political economy has been considerably enlarged since the addition of Professors Ross and Prevey. Courses have been rearranged considerably. Professor Ross has charge of work in sociology and economics. Mr. Prevey offers work which is much needed to complete the efficiency of the department, in statistics and criminology. Miss Herron will revise the courses in tariff history and also devote a portion of her time to the department of domestic science.

Professor Taylor offers a course to advanced students in the study of the crisis of 1893, which is intensely interesting. The course consists of a series of lectures upon the theory of the crisis and its influences.

Pretty complete lists of advanced courses enables the department to divide classes so that the sections are small and the students receive the personal attention of the instructors.

Students will be enabled to pursue extended courses in economics and sociology after taking their first degree.

In order to allow this extended specialization where it seems advisable, it has been concluded to encourage sophomores to enter course I.

Y. M. C. A. RALLY.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold a rally Sunday afternoon in the old chapel to which all men students are invited. The meeting will be a special one and will be of unusual interest to every one. J. P. Bailey, state secretary of the association, will address the meeting.
