From the ragged football Wisconsin put up Saturday it would seem that the Thanksgiving game with Northwestern is still in the realms of possibility.

The following editorial is clipped from the Minnesota Daily:

The game Saturday, while not a championship contest, was one of the hardest fought and most important battles which Minnesota will be called upon to wage this season. Coming as it did, thus early in the season the outcome meant a great deal to Minnesota in her race for the championship. Owing to the fact that the team had not as yet been rounded into the form in which they should be for a championship game the result was looked forward to with considerable doubt and dread.

Had Nebraska scored or even succeeded in holding us down to one or even two touchdowns our prospects for the pennant would have experienced a decided slump. But had the Cornhuskers won, as they claimed to be confident of doing, Minnesota would have been practically out of the race, and in about the same position in western athletic affairs as she was before last year's successes.

The game was, in short, looked upon as the critical point of the season. The Gophers must not only win, but must also keep their opponents from scoring and must show their superiority in all points of the game. All this they did and more, scoring three touchdowns and a safety with ease and keeping their own goal line out of danger at all times. Minnesota played fast, fine football from start to finish, and won the game on its merits. Sue has proven to the football world that her rise last fall was not merely meteoric, but that she has come to stay in the front rank in western athletics, and that whoever wins the championship over her will have to work night and day to do it.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The regular freshman class of Harvard numbers 553.

A faculty club is being considered at the University of California.

President Angell of the University of Michigan has recommended that a new dental college be added to that institution.

The University of California is planning for a new library building which will contain 1,000,000 volumes and will accommodate 600 students in its reading rooms.

At a meeting of the undergraduate students of Cornell university the other day it was unanimously decided to do away with the annual rush between the freshman and sophomore classes. This action also included all forms of hazing.

The young ladies of the University of California are considering the feasibility of publishing a woman's annual. If published it will be on a less pretentious scale than the regular college annual and will be devoted entirely to women students.

George W. Graesar, left tackle on the Drake team, is liable to be called into court to answer for an assault said to have been committed on Referee Lane immediately after the Drake-Grinnell game two weeks ago. Lane penalized the Drake team repeatedly for off side plays and after the game he was struck from behind and rendered unconscious. The prosecution claim to have a number of witnesses who saw Graesar strike the blow.

Miss Elizabeth R. Wing and Dr. De Witt N. Brace were married at the home of the bride's parents at West Newton, Mass., last Wednesday. They are expected in Lincoln within a short time and will make their home at 16th and B sts. Miss Wing was a member of Delta Gamma sorority and also assistant in the library for some time.

Professor Bessey has just completed a paper on the "Old World Contributions to the Orchards of the Central Plains." The report is written for the proceedings of the society for the promotion of agricultural science. It is now on the press and will appear soon.

Walter Hunting, '01, was in Lincoln Saturday for the superintendents' meeting. He incidentally visited with his Palladian friends. He is principal of the Ohio schools this year.

Inspector Crabtree has just returned from a two weeks' tour through the southern and western part of the state. He was inspecting high schools of that section of the state.

Miss Madge Wiggins, '00, has been visiting University friends the past week. She was here temporarily in charge of the Smith-Premier Typewriter company's office during the absence of the resident manager, R. D. Anderson, '00. She leaves for Omaha today.

R. W. McCracken, law '01, was at the University a few days last week while on his way to Guernsey, Wyo. He is looking up a location and expects to settle at Guernsey if the town suits him.

Miss Sue Pillsbury, '97, who is teaching in the Wahoo schools, visited with her parents over Sunday.
