

The department of Animal Husbandry has just added to its herd three pure bred Shorthorns, purchased at the B.O. Cowan sale in Kansas City, and one Herford cow, a winner in the recent American Royal Cattle Show. The department is building up an unusually good herd of pure bred animals of the best breeds.

These are to be used for illustrative purposes in the students' judging pavilion.

Any surplus of animals bred on the University Farm finds a ready market at good prices. One individual of the Herford breed was sold a few days ago for $350.

Are not the stockmen of Nebraska sufficiently interested to send their sons to the only school in the state where animal husbandry is taught thoroughly? The School opened on November 11th, and students are still being received.

CHLOROFORMING INCURABLES.

"The civilization of today has not been ground to that razor-edged keenness when the painless putting to their final sleep of incurables would be justified," said a well-known Washington alienist. "The progeny of a single couple of degenerates and paupers have been traced to their various ramifications through several generations, and out of over 1,000 descendants 95 per cent have become paupers, thieves, convicts, murderers, persons of ill repute and charges upon the public in one form or another, male and female alike. Students of this interesting social question have made other compilations of degenerate families with equally authentic and startling results. The power of the state to legislate for the protection of the majority against the acts of the minority is undisputed, and is exemplified in many ways, notably in arresting lawbreakers and confining them in prisons, the control and restraint of lunatics, and the seizing and isolation of smallpox patients. In the advanced civilization of future centuries this power will have been greatly extended, and will, no doubt, place an iron-bound restriction upon the marriage of persons in undesirable mental and physical condition, with the object of the benefit of man-kind in general."—Washington Star.
