Captain Ernie Frank was without his rapidly empurpling orb of vision. doubt the star performer of the afternoon. His great work in lugging the ball together with his fierce work on the defense placed him at the head of the list. Harmon and Swanson at tackles played a great game, making many yards to Nebraska's credit. Howard, although his punting was not up to standard, more than made up for it by his classy work on the offense in carrying the ball. Mastin, on the other end of the line, broke up several plays before they were fairly started His work in forming interference in the runs by Frank and Howard was another example of his great work Purdy, although slightly crippled. lugged the ball for good gains when ever called upon. His tackling on the defense was a nifty bit of work which is not seen every day. Potter started the game at quarter and played a good conservative game. His generalship was good, but a couple of bad wrists hindered him considerably. He made several good gains around the ends and also through the line. This made but little difference, though, for the Kansas ends had little difficulty in running down any of their punts. Towle, who replaced Potter in the fourth quarter, seemed to put life into the Cornhuskers, and they took a brace after a fresh leader had been placed in the lineup. The two touchdowns resulted and Towle kicked both goals.

A few statistics of the game show that Nebraska made 158 yards on 32 downs, while the Jayhawkers made only 74 yards on 52 downs. Howard punted 14 times for a distance of 446 yards, while Kansas made 336 yards on 10 punts. The Jayhawkers were penalized four times for 50 yards, and the Cornhuskers lost 80 yards in six Saturday accomplished another more penalties. knowing their own exact resources. Their fighting spirit and "stick-to itiveness" in the fact of defeat showed them to be ever potent factors in the struggle for the mastery.

The football game was first in the order of the events. Amid the yells of their supporters of both sexes in the grandstand both sides started play. The two teams were quite well matched and the scrimmage was fast and furious. The only score was made by the sophs in the second quarter. Israel, left half for the sophs, made a touchdown on a cross-buck. McGirk's at-
