FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1914.

The heights by great men reached and kept

Were not attained by sudden flight, But they, while their companions slept,

Were toiling upward in the night.
—Longfellow.

Men are not good or bad. They are good and bad.

Some people's lives are so uneventful that arising fifteen minutes earlier is talked about.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Dear Freshmen:

You are ambitious to succeed in a social way, in scholarship, and in college activities. May I in a kindly spirit and as a fellow-student who has passed through it all, give you a few words of friendly counsel.

Your greatest asset is time. You have decided to invest four years of this great but limited asset in securing an education. A question of profound significance stares you in the face. Are you going to fritter away your time, or are you going to come out of the University fitted to solve efficiently the problems of your future?

"He registered, he wasted most of his time, he graduated," is too common an epitaph. I have friends in the University whose curriculum is about this. How to Keep a Dance Program Straight; Dress in All Its Branches; How to Get Credit; and the Science of Combing the Hair.

They are nice fellows and one likes to be with them. But the sad part is that, although they may come out of college kid-finished society leaders, they will be mediocre men who in the big affairs of life will play the role of funkties to their superiors.

I submit that the primary and big reason why you should be here is to develop your thinking machine. Whether or not you succeed in life will depend (provided you have no rich aunt) on how able you are to think accurately, investigate thoroughly, and decide impartially. The greatest glory of a University man is a vigorous intellect that can digest anything from sirlain law to sour-apple philosophy.

And, by the way, get iron into your will. Forget the meaning of failure.

Quit your trembling. Override all opposition. And, if necessary, be egotistical. But get there.
Very truly yours,

Miss Gouldene Frost, who attended the University for two years, is teaching in the public schools of Rising City.

Marjory Graham of Lincoln, who spent last winter in California, has entered the University again this semester.

Miss Elizabeth Gordon, who graduated in 1914 with Phi Beta Kappa honors, is getting her Master's degree this year.

Dwight Griswold, 1914, visited at the Alpha Tau Omega house this week.
He is cashier of the First National Bank at Gordon.

Miss Margaret Wooster, 1913, received a fellowship in psychology last June, and is now assistant in the psychology laboratory.

Mr. George, who received his Master's degree here last June, has gone to Cornell University to work for his Doctor's degree. Mr. George was a Servian.

Maude Galley, Delta Gamma, who has been a student here for two years, is now teaching the third and fourth grades of the city schools at her home in Columbus.

Katherine Meliza, an alumnae of the Delta Zeta sorority, has returned to her home in Falls City after a week's visit here. She was the guest of Miss Dorothy Morehead.

According to word received by Lincoln friends, Frederick McConnell, '13, of Omaha, has entered the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh, where he will study dramatics and criticism.

Miss Ruth Greivish, Alpha Phi, is taking some work in the University this year. For the past two years she has been taking the kindergarten course at the Wesleyan University, where she is a member of the Willard Society.

Anne Paton, '14, Gamma Phi Beta, was in Lincoln for the sorority rushing season. Miss Paton had expected to spend this year in Scotland with her father's relatives, but on account of the war her visit has been indefinitely postponed. She will leave soon for California, where she will remain for the winter.

University students are rejoicing because Lincoln has another fine dancing hall, thus supplying a long felt need. In the past, the different organizations wishing to secure a hall for a certain date have found that all halls in the city had been previously engaged. This led to the use of Art Hall in the Library for University parties. The new hall has just been completed and has been named "The Party House." The Phi Gamma Deltas will hold the first party in it tonight.
